Ireland.

Parnell announced his intention of moving an amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech in reference to the recent conduct of the Government's policy in Ireland. The tendency, he says, has not been to tranquilize the people. He especially deplores the wanton pro-hibition of legal and constitutional meetings, whereby free speech has been practically quenched in Ireland.

Mr. John Ferguson, M. P., proposes that Michael Davitt, T. M. Healy and

Thomas Sexton be pitted against an equal number of Orange landlords in a joint discussion in Belfast on the merits of Nationalism and Orangeism, the proceeds to be given to the General Hospital. Mr.

Ferguson says that such a discussion would dissipate many an Ulster projudice. After consultation with counsel it has been determined on behalf of the Catholics and Nationalists of the north of Ire-land to ask an official inquiry into the legality of the Orange society, and to make its members amenable for recent events.

Mr. James O'Kelly, member of Parliament for Rozcommon. has gone to the Soudan as a correspondent of the London Daily News, to take the place of Edmund O'Donovan, who perished with the ill-fated expedition of Hicks Pacha.

BRANTFORD LETTER.

On Tuesday afternoon of last week Father Lennon gave the members of the choir a sleigh ride to Paris which was enjoyed very much. It took a pretty large sleigh to hold about twenty, and they were an exceedingly merry party; the sleighing was good and the weather fine. A little over an hour took them to their destination, and Mr. Ealand had been warned of their coming and made every-thing ready to receive them. Between supper and songs and choruses and quiet amusements of various kinds a couple of very pleasant hours were spent. Father Dowling joined the party, and by his kindly and genial manner did much to make all present feel happy. He invited them down to see his church, and those them down to see his church, and those who had not previously seen it were surprised and delighted with its beautiful appearance. Before leaving they sang Mozart's Magnificat, which sounded grand in the empty edifice that had been lighted up for the visitors. The Brantford people appreclated Father Dowling's kindness very highly. In the evening the return trip was pleasant. The members of the choir feel grateful to Father Lennon for their very enjoyable afternoon's out-

Montrealers soon expect to get rid of the unsightly telegraph poles and wires which obstruct our streets. Experiments have been made which prove that underground cables can be worked even in this cold climate, and a company has been formed to work the patent.—JER. C.

THE BOTHWELL BAZAAR.

The parish of Bothwell comprises four missions. A few years ago a large brick church was erected in Wardsville for the benefit of Catholic worshippers there, a similar one was erected in Alvinston soon afterwards. These churches are beautiful edifices, but they are still heavily involved in debt. All the revenue of the parish would not pay the current expenses of our four missions, and yet nearly $500 are required to pay the yearly interest on our bonded debt. Such is the state of affairs in Bothwell, and unless the Catholic people' of Ontario come to our rescue two of our churches will probably be sold. This would be a lasting disgrace and one too, that every Catholic should try to avert. In order then to save our parish from financial ruin, the poor but generous people of this vicinity have organized a grand union Bazar to be held in Bothwell during the 2nd week of May. The tickets for this bazaar are already issued, there are four in every book at 25 cents each. Forty-two valuable prizes will be distributed by lot and any one of these may be drawn for 25 cents. Besides all this, the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered up one hundred times for the pious intentions of all those who buy or dispose of one book of tickets. Full justice will be done to all, absent as well as present. Our bazaar tickets are being daily sent to readers of the CATHO-LIC RECORD. Have you, dear friend, received our tickets yet? If so, be kind enough not to throw them aside. Reflect on what you do! If you buy these tickets you can save two Catholic Churches from being sold. You can prepare the way for the salvation of your own soul, "Alms deliver from all sin" (Tobias IV). Northgraves, on "Reason and Revelation." The chair was occupied by Mayor Horton, who duly introduced the rev. lecturer in fitting terms. The lecture consisted of an able defence of othodox religion from the assaults of such writers and thinkers. the assaults of such writers and thinkers as Paine, Voltaire, Huxley, Tindall, Dar-win, Bennet and others who have striven to sustain Reason alone, and discard Revelation. The lecture gave evidence of great research, and an earnest sifting of the arguments for and against the subject taken up for discussion. It lasted nearly two hours and a half, but during that time the rev. lecturer did not fail to keep the attention of the audience well in hand. At the conclusion of the lecture a vote of thanks was moved to the rev. speaker by Mr. D. McGillicuddy, seconded by Mr. P. O'Dea, and carried unanimously. After a vote of thanks to the chairman, the meeting was brought to a close. Should Rev. Fr. Northgraves see fit at some future time to deliver a lecture in our town we have every reason to believe a hearty wel come will be tendered him by the people of Goderich of all creeds.—Haron Signal, Feb 1st.

THE CHURCH IN ENGLAND.

Of Catholic progress in England, Right Rev. Bishop Ullathorne says in a recent Pastoral: "In our own country the Church is making solid progress, although its advancement may not be visible to the eyes of all. When we look back to our own early days, now far distant, and compare the state of the Church then with what it is now, we can only exclaim: This is the work of God, and it is wonder-Apostolic the churches were few, small, and widely scattered, having the form of dissenters' chapels, and bearing the name of chapels. A low Mass and sermon in the morning, with prayers and catechism in the afternoon, made up the Sunday's service. Many populous places were only serve I occasionally, for the clergy were few, and the resources of the flocks limited. A Catholic school was to be found only in a few of the largest cities and towns. In Protestant schools as we well know, the few Catholic chil as we well know, the few Catholic chil-dren were looked upon as strange and mysterious beings, with something dark and wicked in their history. Those who have been born in later generations can have no idea of the wild and wonderful notions which our Protestant country-men entertained of us or of the walkers. men entertained of us, or of the veher men entertained of us, or of the venem-ence with which those notions were pur-posely propagated. We were looked upon as disloyal, traitors, and malignant idolaters, enemies of the Bible, and consequently enemies of Christianity. Cath-olics were secluded from all society but were secluded from all society but their own, and were often hooted at and insulted in the public streets. In those days it cost no little to human nature to be a Catholic, and hence those who had the priceless blessing of the Faith were, as a rule, earnest, devout, and courageous as a rule, earnest, devout, and courageous lovers of their religion. Now," he adds, "the Catholic religion is a great and prominent institution in this country. The Church has received its perfect organization. A hierarchy of fifteen Bishops, closely united in mind and heart, carry out the administration of the Church. The clercy are numerous and decrease. Church. The clergy are numerous and devoted. Wherever there is a considerable population, there is a Catholic church. The rites and services of the Church are carried out with becoming reverence and dignity. The religious bodies, those valuable helpers of the ordinary ministry, are multiplied, and have brought to us that rich variety of popular devotions which so much promote the devotion and consolation of the faithful. . . . In our early days the publication of a Catholic book was an event in our history;

now we have a good and an abundant Catholic literature, suited to every variety of mind and every class of society.

... We have also, by God's divine vocation, a large number of religious communities of women, devoted to prayer, to the education of youth, and to the works of mercy and charity, corporal and spiritual. Nor ought we to forget that large accession of learned and able men to the Church who have so largely contributed to her advancement every way." The venerable Prelate concludes his Pastoral with an eloquent appeal for Catholic schools and Catholic education.

"Why," he asks, "do we labor with so much toil and anxiety, and why do the faithful laity contribute so generously to provide good Catholic schools, if not because you cannot have a Catholic educa tion for your children in other schools At a time like this, too, when we are con tending for the preservation of religious education, it is disloyalty to the Church to send Catholic children to other than Catholic schools."

men' Company doing business in America, It has paid, for death and accident claims, More Money to the Families of its Members in Canadia and the United States than any two companies in the country. That the greatest care is exercised in the selection of members is proved by its low mortality during the year 1883, and the cost, per $1000, as compared with that of similar companies or associations.

The fact that no mutual company organized under the laws of the State of Connecticut, with headquarters at Hartford, has ever falled, is conclusive evidence of the care and watchfulness exercised over them by the Insurance Department.

The business of this Company is so scattered throughout the United States and Canada that it is sure of a fair average mortality, which cannot be affected by epidemics, while its Reserve Fund is a guarantee of its permanence.
