AND OUEEN AT WINDSOR GARDEN PARTY

The most interesting incident of the Windsor garden party was the meeting tween the King and Queen and Mark Twain. Mr. Clemens was presented to the Queen by the United States ambass ador. Her majesty and the American writer immediately became absorbed in convertation. Mark Twain made the Queen laugh heartily, and did not notice that the King had approached, but the Queen recalled his attention and presented him to his majesty. The humorist immediately held out his hand, which the King shook cordially. A long conversation ensued, during which Mark Twai n reminded the King of their former meeting at Homburg. The great American told the King that he would never allow that piece of history to deteriorate in his hands, and the King told Mark that if it needed embellishing he could trust him to say what was right.
