THE MAKING OF ALE.

OF WATER-

One of the most important re-quisites in the successful production of ale is good water. In localities where brewers are forced to use muddy, soft water their ales are dull in colour and almost opaque. The brilliancy which should characterize ale is absent.

The water from which Carling's Ale is brewed comes sparkling from a perennial spring on the brewery premises, and analysis has proven that it is chemically pure and especially adapted for

Myrtilla, armed with garden rake
Has pulverized each clod,
And rooty tendrils dared to break Within each matted sod; She's blistered both her pretty hands, And tanned her cheeks, you see, But as the situation stands, 'Tis quite a help to me.

HER FLOWER GARDEN.

Myrtilla's planted rows on rows Of asters, whites and reds, While saucy pansies, black as crows, She's tucked in foamy beds, Sweet-Williams, Pinks and Mignon-

MEDICINES BABY'S

He Got his Finger Rocked on and Cried.

Sue and Fan Tried to Cure it but Little Glasgow Cured Him.

Our baby got his finger rocked on one day. He was crawling about over the floor after his red-and-white ball, when Sue gave her rockingchair a sudden tilt, and then we heard from baby! He cried as loud as if the lingers had been cut off, and that provoked Sue.

"Now, Robert Welford King!" she said, in a pretty sharp voice, "what is the vec of makine all that noise? I don't seleve it nots half as much as you make believe. Do stop ereaming."

But the baby only cried louder than before. than before
"Never mind, Robby," said Fan;
"if you'll stop crying, I'll get you a sugar cake, a real big one."
The baby paused a minute and looked around out of the corners of his wet evelashes, but, as no cakes were in sight, he work on crying. Fan went off disgusted. "If h "If he'll not stop for a cake," she said, "he ll not stop for anything. I'm just going to let him cry till he gets tired. Then little Fred. Glasgow came Fred is our next-loor neighbor. Why, baby," he cried, "what's the matter?" "There!" exclaimed Sue; "you are rousing the neighborhood, Robby!"

And then baby took a fresh start. "Hold on, Bob," said the new-comer, "I've got something between my lips that will cure the worst hurt that ever was. Want to try Baby rubbed the tears away with his well hand and nodded.

"But you must shut your eyes, aid Fred; "if you see what it is, It'll not do you any good." Baby screwed up his eyes tight, and then felt something soft fall on his fingers, like a rose leaf, and heard a gentle sound like only one thing in the world.

'It's nuffin but a tiss," he cried, opening his eyes; but he was smiling all over his face, and the fingers

Winter and Spring Wheat Bran. The Pennsylvania Experiment Station has recently completed some interesting investigations into the relative value of winter wheat and spring wheat bran. The samples ex-red represented the various brands offered for sale in that locali-

Based on older analyses, the general opinion has been that there is no material difference in the composition of winter and spring wheat bran. The station's analyses, however, as well as later analyses in other States, show that, on the average, spring wheat bran is about one per cent. richer in protein than winter wheat bran, while experiments at the Massachusetts Station indicate that the protein of spring wheat bran is also more digestible than that of winter wheat bran. So far, then, as bran serves for the purpose of supplying protein to balance up a ration, the spring wheat bran appears to be preferable to the winter wheat bran, notwithstanding that the latter usually commands a price in the market.

The composition of the different samples of bran was found to vary considerably, and it was also found that in Maine and Massachusetts, where an official feeding stuffs con-trol is maintained, the variation was somewhat less and the average grade of the product somewhat higher than in Pennsylvania. The results of these investigations will shortly be published in bulletin

HOUSEKEEPING.

If a woman is in good health there is no more healthful employment than housework. Generally speaking, there is no happier woman in the world.
But how different when every breath is pain, every step torture! This state of health, in nine cases out of ten, comes from derangements of the delicate, feminine organs of generation. The family doctor inquires first concerning these. He most usually in-sists upon an "examination." From this the modest woman naturally shrinks. She is right. Except in very unusual cases of "female weakness" examinations are unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a simple, natural remedy for these ills.

Verdi's New Opera.

Verdi has now gone back to Milan. where he is keeping a paternal eye on the house of retreat for old musicians which he is founding there and which is now rapidly approaching completion. At the same time he is working, says "M. A. P.," on a new opera.

For several months past he has kept this a dead secret, and even his most intimate friends knew nothing whatever about his project. But eventually they began to make discreet inquiries as to the reason why the maestro shut himself up so many hours daily in his study, and it was thus that they learned at last that he was writing an opera.

But even now Verdi is very reserved upon this subject. All that is really definitely known is that the heroof the work is Nero and that a few of the passages, which have been played over to his intimate circle, are of exquisite beauty. Before giving the opera to the world Verdi will take the advice of his friends, for he is afraid that (to use his -own words) "this child of my old age may come into the world weak, sickly and ill formed."

CHINESE

Who can tell Anything one wants to Know Provided he's Paid.

His Name is Hi Gess and his Presence is Indicated by a White Flag Which Flutters From a Window.

There is a real, live Chinese seer in town, and a converted, Americansized celestial says that the man can see almost anything requested, arcording to the amount of his which ranges from 50 cents to $10. Hi Gess is the name of the astrolo ger from the oriental empire, and at present he holds forth at the home of Bow Sing, No. 304 Marion street, in the western district. His presence is indicated by a white flag, flutters from one of the windows of Bow Sing's house. The flag was plainly visible from Park avenue, but when the members of the Chinese colony were asked what it signified they shhook their heads and all pretended ignorance. They smiled their blandest smiles, but no information came from them, for when questions are asked they fear to be entrapped in some snare, so they close their lips so tight that the proverbial class appears like a phonograph in comparison. The converted Chinaman, however, after considerable questioning, said that Hi Gess is a famous astrologer. He is making a tour of the United States, having started from San Francisco some months ago. He is said to have carried away much coin of the realm from every city he vis-ited. A few days ago he arrived in Baltimore from Washington, where he is said to have done a most profitable business. He continues his jugglery to the members of his own race, and when anything like "tell-ing fortunes" is mentioned to them most astonished expression covers the set, bland expression of faces, and they say Hi Gess is merely traveling for pleasure. The converted celestial also said that Hi Gess can read the stars, and by burning powders and tossing about queer shaped blocks he can tell wonderful things about the past and the future.

When asked if he believed in the seer, the convert said the Chinamen They believe and are satisfied, and Hi Gess takes the money and is satisfied, so what does it matter? Hi Gess was not at home to any but members of his own race.-Baltimore Herald.
