

World Music

Jubilant the music through the fields aringing, Carol, warble, whistle, pipe—endless ways of singing, Oriols, bobolink, melody of thrushes, Rustling trees, hum of bees sudden little hushes, Broken suddenly again— Carol whistle, rattle humming, In reiterate refrain, Thither, hither, going, coming, While the streamlet's softer voices mingle murmuringly together, Gurgle, whisper, lapses, plashes—praise of love and summer weather.

A Dangerous Gift

(Concluded) The sooner girls come to this conclusion the better. Any kind of cleverness that offends or hurts others is to be given expression with care. It will be sure to hurt someone if it is given free rein. The other day I heard a very clever young woman 'taking off' a saintly old minister who has a certain peculiarity of speech and an odd way of holding his head on one side. He is one of the finest old gentlemen in the world, and his age and position should compel a degree of respect that would make it impossible for any kind of considerate person to mimic him. He has hundreds of friends who would resent sharply what they would feel to be an insult to him. And the very clever person who is always 'taking off' people is rather shallow and always thoughtless. A very successful public reader who was extraordinarily clever in presenting the characters she found in books or in pieces written expressly for recitation, was one year spending the summer in the country and was told of an old woman in the neighborhood who was a 'real character'. One day a neighbor of this eccentric old woman said to the gifted reader: 'You ought to go and see old Susan Blank and make a kind of study of her. You could take her off to perfection.'

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat. No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite. To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic. "I was ill for four months with catarrh in the head and throat. Had a bad cough and relaxed blood. I had become discouraged when my husband bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and persuaded me to try it. I advise all to take it. It has cured and built me up." Mrs. E. W. S. Jones, West Lincoln, N. S.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—a scrofula and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

A Little Child Shall Lead Thee

Eileen sat by the window looking out at the glorious sunset, for it appeared to her that she had never gazed upon such a wonderful one before. 'What must heaven be,' she thought, 'if earth is so beautiful?' Far beyond the western horizon she was looking into the future wondering what it had in store for her. Tomorrow Eileen was to graduate from dear St. Joseph's the only home and school she had ever known. She had been brought to the Convent when but a poor little helpless babe, her parents having both died when Eileen was a wee little tot but a few weeks old. The good Sisters cared for the motherless child, nursed her and spared no strength in doing all in their power to bring her up in the love and fear of God. Eileen loved the dear Sisters, as much as it was possible for human being to love. When she was old enough to be a little help, she spared the Sisters many steps in doing errands and performed acts of charity in different ways. Was it any wonder then, that Eileen felt sad when she thought of parting with those whom she loved? She had now grown to beautiful womanhood, tall and well developed, not handsome as story books tell about, but such a lovely face that one never forgets. The eventful day arrived and Eileen graduated with the highest honors. How dainty she looked in her simple white frock of dotted muslin, made by the dear sisters and herself! Sister Catherine thought that Eileen might have a religious vocation but Eileen always felt that God wanted her in the world. She knew not why, yet when she prayed to God that He make known to her her vocation, she always felt urged to go out into the world, and she felt her mission was there. After graduation, she thought it her duty to speak to the Sister. She knelt by her side and after a few moments, Eileen addressed her in the following words: 'Sister Catherine before I leave my beloved home, I wish to thank you with all my heart for all you have done for me. How many times you have nursed me when lying on a bed of sickness! Many hours of needful rest you have sacrificed for your dear Convent child, as you used to call me! You taught me to love my good Jesus and warned me so many times against His enemies. How anxious you felt about my babyhood, my childhood, my girlhood and my womanhood! How you guarded the purity of my soul, lest any taint of sin would mar its beauty! So now Sister Catherine, I must put my arms around your neck and love you so much and ask your blessing and prayers. My poor heart thanks you more than my feeble words can tell. Sister Catherine, can you realize how much I owe you? How can I ever repay you? Both were now overcome, tears streamed down their cheeks. When Sister Catherine found words she consoled this grateful child the best she could as she had done so many times during her eighteen happy years in her Convent home.

January Carnival of Economy FOR OUR The old year took away, for ever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy. The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store. 2nd. We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least. We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things. Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES. We shall forgo a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark-downs to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and THE MOST STIRRING JANUARY PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN. No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.
