Rink Management Take Notice!

Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir—Hockey was very popular this year. I understand about twenty thousand people watched the matches. Some of these paid fifty cents for their seats, the rest twenty cents. If we average these at thirty cents it means that six thousand dollars was paid to see the games. The Hockey League has been in existence for about seventeen or eighteen years. Say sixteen. If the games were equally as popular as this year, a would mean ninety six thousand dollars had been paid by the spectators. Taking the bad seasons with the good and halving the above amount it would mean about fifty thousand dollars. That is what the Hockey League should be worth to-day less the expenses for cups, medals, dinners, etc. At the very least it ought to be worth thirty or forty thousand dollars. I understand it is worth nothing. The rink proprietors this year gave each of the four teams fifty dollars, two hundred dollars in all. They also this year put up for competition a Cup, which has to be won three times before it is owned outright. That may take many years. I think the Directors ought to present the winning teams with medals as a souvenir, in years to come, of the prowess of their youth. Considering the hockey boys have helped so largely to swell the receipts of the rink, it would be very grateful on the part of the proprietors if they entertained the players by giving them a dinner which would bring all the teams together, and help them to pass a pleasant evening, playing over again their matches and showing each other how they had done differently, the results would have been entirely different. If the Directors act on this suggestion I hope they will ask me. It is true I did not play but I attended several of the matches and shouted for the Terra Nova team. I was hoarse for a week after. While shouting I had many nasty things said to me, especially by those in my immediate vicinity. I did not mind. I sacrificed myself for the good of the cause. I am happy to say that the team I supported won. Having done so well this year through the exertion of the hockey players I feel sure that the hint has only to be given the Directors and they will certainly act upon it.

Yours sincerely,
 GEO. W. B. AYRE.

Hearty Tribute to Alfred Coyle.

Presentation to Retiring President of Masonic Relief Board.
 City Relief Officer Alfred Coyle, who has just relinquished position of President of the Toronto Masonic Relief Board, after twelve years' occupancy of that office, was honored by the members of St. Andrew's Lodge, A.F. and A.M., and presented with a handsome smoking set in recognition of the valuable services which he had given in connection with the administration of Masonic relief. The presentation was made by Z. W. Bro. A. E. Hagerman, who paid a warm tribute to Mr. Coyle, referring to the splendid assistance given by him during his over forty years' membership in the lodge. Mr. Coyle, he said, was a real authority on relief administration. His handling of relief matters had always been marked by the giving of justice where justice was due, and he had always been ready to extend a helping hand to those in need.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Ivy for Cleaning Clothes.
 One of the most satisfactory mediums for removing stains from clothes is petrol, but many people are afraid of it because of its inflammability. A good substitute can be made from ivy leaves. Take a large handful of the leaves, put them in a basin, and pour a quart of boiling water over. Leave until cold, then take out the leaves and use the liquid in the same way as you would petrol. Small and lightly-seated stains can be removed by dabbing them with a cloth dipped in the liquid, and more stubborn marks will disappear as if by magic with the help of a nail-brush.

KEEP GOING.
 When things go wrong, as they sometimes will, And the road you're trudging seems all up hill, When the funds are low and the debts are high, And you want to smile, but you have to sigh, When care is pressing you down a bit, Rest if you must—but don't you quit. Life is queer with its twists and turns, As every one of us sometimes learns, And many a failure turns about, When he might have won had he stuck it out; Don't give up, though the pace seems slow— You may succeed with another blow. Often the goal is nearer than it seems; It seems a faint and faltering man, Often the struggler has given up; When he might have captured the victor's cup, And he leaned too late, when the night slipped down, How close he was to the golden crown; Success is failure turned inside out— The silver tint of the clouds of doubt, And you never can tell how close you are; It may be near when it seems afar; So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit— It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

Dressed in a Few Beads.
 At the first Opera ball which has been held in Paris since 1914, very daring dresses were worn. So daring were some of them that their wearers wore capes until the President, Ministers, and Marshals of France had left the hall. Then when the wraps were taken off it was discovered that several women had reduced the upper part of their dress to the simple dimensions of a few strings of beads. One woman wore a costume which consisted of a short skirt only, with no corset.

Bathing in Liquor.
 The police at Greenville, South Carolina, discovered a 75 gallon capacity whisky distillery in full operation at a house in a fashionable residential quarter. They found that the liquor was emptied through faucets into a bath-tub. When officers arrived a woman hopped into the tub and splashed around in an effort to throw off suspicion, but the odour of the liquor was too strong.

Fashions and Fads.
 A pretty dance frock has a skirt of alternate rows of ribbon and lace insertion. The deep cape collar and surplice waist are featured by gowns for afternoon. Drawnwork, developed with colored thread, is a favorite decoration for dresses. "Coin" eyelets outlined with narrow soutache braid decorate the hem of the tunic. Cream chiffon and black square-meshed lace combine to make a charming blouse. A challis frock has a large bib of stitched organdie and a narrow belt of grosgrain ribbon.
