LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me. I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

BREAKFAST — Peaches and cream. Crisp bacon and sweet potatoes. Southern corn pone. Coffee.

LUNCHEON—Marooned rarebit. Tomato salad. Banana short-cake. Tea.

DINNER—Corn and tomato soup. Rolled flank steaks, brown gravy. Mashed potatoes. Squash. Grape ice. Tea.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Crisped Bacon and Sweet Potatoes—Take cold steamed sweet potatoes, cut in halves; wrap each half with a thin slice of bacon and fasten with a wood toothpick. Place in a pan and in a hot oven until potatoes are a nice brown and the bacon crisp.

Southern Corn Pone—Mix with cold water into a soft dough one quart of yellow cornmeal, sifted, a teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of butter, melted. Mold into oval cakes with the hands and bake in a very hot oven, in well-grassed pans. To be eaten hot. The crust should be brown.

Banana Shortcake—Into three cupsful of sifted flour rub two tablespoonfuls of butter; add one-half of a tablespoonful of sugar and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Mix to a soft dough with cold milk and bake in one hour; then cut it in half crosswise, and scoop out the pulp; rub four bananas through a colander, add the orange rind and pulp and one cupful of sugar; then stir in one-half of a cupful of thick cream, beaten stiff, and spread between and over the cakes. Serve with sweet cream.

Macaroni Rarebit—Into a frying-pan put one teaspoonful of butter; when hot, add one cupful of cold boiled macaroni, cut fine; add one small cupful of grated cheese and two well-beaten eggs. Dust with pepper, cook until set, and serve on toast. If cheese is fresh, add a saltspoonful of salt.

Corn and Tomato Soup—Scald and skin one quart of tomatoes, add one quart of any good stock, one-quarter of a small onion, one small onion, one bay leaf, one clove, six peppercorns, and, if possible, one tablespoonful of chopped ham. Cook all together very slowly for half an hour, then take from the fire and rub through a fine sieve. Return to the fire and add one tablespoonful of butter rubbed to a paste with two tablespoonfuls of flour; stir until the soup is smooth and slightly thickened, add a large teaspoonful of salt and a cupful of scraped corn; cook ten minutes longer and serve.

Flank Steaks—Purchase two flank steaks and have the butcher score them. Lay on each steak a dressing made of one cupful of bread crumbs, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of pepper, a tablespoonful of chopped onion, browned, and a tablespoonful of butter; fasten with strings; when nicely rolled sprinkle with one-half cupful of salt, a dash of pepper, and bake in a hot oven, basting often, for 35 minutes. Place on a hot platter, make a rich brown gravy and pour over them.

Grape Ice—Make a syrup with one and one-half pounds of sugar and one pint of water; bring it to the boiling point and pour it while hot over four pounds of ripe grapes, which have been mashed to a pulp. Let stand over for one hour, then rub through a sieve, add the juice of one lemon and

A DISTINGUISHED CITIZEN.

Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, of this city, has returned from attending the annual meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Oddfellows, at Springfield, Ill.

The Illinois State registers contain the following among its personal references to distinguished representatives, which will be of interest to the brethren here and elsewhere: "Past Grand Sire Campbell, of London, again honors the session with his presence. He is one of the ablest and most successful of our Sovereign Grand Lodge, having entered the body as a representative in 1879, was continuous member till 1890, when he was honored by the Sovereign Grand Lodge electing him to the office of department grand sire, and in 1892 raising him to the highest position in our order by electing him grand sire. He is one of the brightest minds in the Grand Lodge of a quiet manner, possessing a mind that can retain the law of the order, a keen debater, a ready speaker, and one whose words carry as much weight as any member of that body, and no member of the order is respected and honored by the brethren all over the jurisdiction more than Past Grand Sire Campbell. May he long be spared to adorn the sessions of the grand body he is the wish of every Oddfellow."

PRAISE FOR LONDON.

Mr. R. Mathison, editor of the Chicago Canadian-American, has been on a tour through Ontario, and recently paid London a visit. Of the country through Windsor and London, Mr. Mathison writes: "The part of Ontario through which we have passed shows signs of wonderful progress and improvement since we passed over it before a space of nearly twenty years. The cereal crops are mainly gathered in, and the wheat everywhere evidences that the crops have been abundant. Fruit has been a fine yield, and an air of plenty and prosperity hovers over all. The same report of good harvests and returning prosperity is heard everywhere, and it is evident that there has been neither the exaltation of the boom times on the American side of the border, nor the consequent depression that has so long prevailed with us. The cities I have visited, so far confirm this impression of reviving prosperity. We stopped over at London about one day, and were deeply impressed with its loveliness. Its wide avenues—lined often with four to six rows of thrifty trees—its pleasant homes, with their ample and carefully kept grounds; its fine system of electric transit, and its general air of prosperity and quiet happiness, combined to make it, in our eyes, after a sojourn of nearly seven years in Chicago, a veritable metropolis of Arcadia. London was just in the throes of its Western Fair, which annually attracts the farmers of Western Ontario. The fair this year surpassed all former years in the excellence of the stock and abundance and quality of fruit exhibited."

Has Traveled Far.

Evangelist Yatman's Experience in Landed.

Work Among the Lepers at Hawaii and the Kaffirs of South Africa.

Rev. C. H. Yatman addressed an- other large gathering at the First Methodist Church, last evening, and in the afternoon gave an address at the Auditorium on "Christian experi- ences."

In the evening the evangelist spoke of his work among the lepers of Ha- waii and the Kaffirs of the South Af- rican diamond fields. The incidents re- ferred to by Mr. Yatman occurred dur- ing his tour around the world, which was begun shortly after his first visit to London. While he was in Honolulu several suspected cases of leprosy were examined. Thirty-one received sen- tences of banishment to Molokai. Mr. Yatman spoke to them through an in- terpreter. Banishment to Molokai meant waiting for death, and the agony of the poor victims, saying a last good-bye to their friends, was extreme.

Similar to Mr. Yatman was al- lowed into the diamond compounds where the Kaffirs are employed, and preached to them through two in- terpreters. A particularly pathetic in- cident referred to by the speaker oc- curred in the diamond fields. A num- ber of Kaffirs were blown to pieces by dynamite. The injured were taken to the hospital, where Mr. Yatman preached to them, and the power of the simple gospel was wonderfully shown.

Mr. Yatman left the city today for Jamaica, Long Island. It is his in- tention to spend the remainder of the year in the States, but in the spring he is under promise to go to Alaska.

Middlesex Fall Assizes.

Opened Before Chief Justice

Armour at the Court House.

Verdict for $400 for Plaintiff for Seduction. No True Bill for Murder Against Mary McGraw—Other Cases Postponed.

The Middlesex fall assizes were opened yesterday at 2 o'clock, Hon. Chief Justice Armour presiding. The scene at the court house presented no new features. The usual groups of men clustered round the main entrance, and ladies almost filled their waiting room. The grand jury arrived early, and awaited instructions at 1:30. The petit jurors, 48 in number, were all present before the opening of the court.

Judge Armour was a little late in arriving, and meanwhile the old court room filled rapidly with spectators. Among the legal luminaries in the court were: J. J. McLaren, Q. C., Toronto, who is conducting the cases for the crown; A. B. Aylesworth, Q. C., Toronto; J. J. McFarlane, Parkhill, A. B. Shaunessy, Petrolia; A. Ball, Woodstock; George C. Gibbons, Q. C., E. Meredith, Q. C., James Magee, Q. C., R. K. Cowan (local master in chancery), Talbot Macbeth, I. F. Hellmuth, H. C. Pope, T. H. Furford, F. Love, George C. Mann, H. Gault, J. Mulken, D. H. Tennent, T. G. Meredith, R. M. C. Tourche, C. H. Ivey, J. Macpherson and many others. Mr. J. Agnew is the court reporter.

The criminal cases are but three in number, but of interest to the residents of London and the surrounding country. They are: Queen vs. Mary McGraw, child-murder; Queen vs. Hodgins, criminal assault; and Queen vs. Francis H. Butler, charged with keeping a common gaming house.

It was 2 o'clock before the judge took his seat on the bench, and Deputy Sheriff Waterworth, the newly appointed collector, opened his first assize court. Col. John Macbeth, clerk of the crown, oc- cupied his accustomed place, and after the roll call the grand jury elected R. W. Jackson, foreman. The judge, in addressing them, outlined the duties devolving upon them. "The cases, enough say," he said, "are serious in their nature. The first was that of infanti- cide. If they could not conclude that the accused was guilty of this crime, they could, under the circumstances, warrant it, return a true bill against the accused for concealing the birth of the child, which was a very serious matter. The other case was that of a criminal assault. He dwelt upon the seriousness of the crime, and concluded by instructing them regarding their visits to civic and county institutions.

The Dominion Savings and Loan Company vs. Spruel was the first case called. This was an action for the specific performance and sale of a farm in Mono, Dufferin county. Only one witness, Thos. McKim, of Shelburne, was examined, whereupon the judge took the case from the jury and granted the decree, and ordered specific per- formance with full costs, no defense being entered. Furford, for plaintiff.

Aaron Bell vs. London Furniture Com- pany—This was an action for $1,500 damages for the loss of three fingers in a machine, under the workmen's com- pensation act. Mr. Bell was injured by a machine, and the local master forth- with moved for an order to have de- fendant's superintendent examined, and discovery before the local master forth- with, but the order was refused on ac- count of the evidence. A post- ponement was suggested, but a set- tlement was arrived at between the parties, and judgment entered for plaintiff for $10 and all costs. Hellmuth, for plaintiff; Aylesworth and T. G. Meredith, for defense.

Frederic O'Neill vs. Ellen McArthur, et al., of West Williams, occupied con- siderable time. It was an action to recover possession of certain lands and to have his rights therein declared and specifically enforced, and for damages for wrongful eviction from certain lands; in the alternative, to the recovery of the lands and the enforcement of the contract between the plaintiff and defendant in respect thereof. Plaintiff asked the court to order the defendant to recover damages therefor. Plaintiff had leased the lands in question from the defendant, who it is alleged failed to abide by the stipulations of the agreement, which resulted in an actual loss of $120 to the plaintiff. His lordship looked upon the case as one of trespass and gave judgment for plaintiff for $80, with costs. A. B. Shaunessy, Petrolia, and George C. Gibbons, Q. C., for plaintiff; A. Ball, Woodstock, and A. McFarlane, Parkhill, for defense. During the examination of Miss Ellen McArthur, one of the defendants, she was overtaken by a fainting spell, and carried unconscious from the witness box.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Currie, of Bel- mont, celebrated their silver wedding Monday night.

John N. Scattergood, formerly a resident of Middlesex county, now a prominent lumber dealer, ex-president of the Bank of Buffalo, former member of the Republican state committee, has been nominated for mayor of Buffalo by the Republican city convention. He defeated Mayor Edgar B. Jewett and Ald. Robert K. Smith, opposing candidates, for the nomination.

Mr. D. McFarlane, a well-to-do and highly respected young farmer, dropped dead at McFarlane's home in Elfrid township, near Glencoe, on Saturday, while hitching up his horse. The cause of death was heart failure. He had been ill for many weeks with cancer of the stomach. Deceased was one of Glencoe's best known and most highly respected citizens. The funeral took place on Monday from his late residence, service being conducted in St. John's Church by Rev. Mr. Elliott, and the remains were taken to Woodstock on the noon express.

The death took place on Sunday, at the residence of his brother, Mr. J. F. Davis, in Westminster, of Benjamin W. Davis, in the 44th year of his age. Deceased arrived at his brother's place on Saturday, ill with asthma, and died the following day. He was unmarried, and a son of the late Benjamin Davis, who died sixteen years ago. He leaves four brothers and six sisters, viz.: A. W. London; J. F. Westminster; Henry, St. Clair, Mich.; E. L. Westminster; Miss Eliza, at home; Mrs. D. Harris, Mrs. J. M. Kaiser and Mrs. H. Beach, Delaware; Mrs. S. Ramsay, Westminster, and Mrs. (Dr.) Ling, Wallace town.
