

TWO BROTHERS SLAIN AT THE POOL TABLE

Were Shot Down by Three Men Who Burst Into a Saloon in New York.

New York, Aug. 24.—Shot by three men who burst into the room where they were playing pool, two brothers, Antonio Di Leo, 19 years old, East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, were slain in the cafe of Raphael Caraffe, at No. 335 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, between 9 and 10 o'clock at night. Antonio was killed outright, but his brother John died an hour later in Harlem Hospital.

In the fusillade two brothers of the dead men, Alexander and Joseph Di Leo, narrowly escaped death. One bullet passed through the coat and arm of Alexander, just grazing the skin, while a bullet perforated the hat and another the coat of Joseph. A few minutes after the shooting Michael Chiarleho was arrested, and was identified as one of the men who fired the shots.

The sound of the shots attracted a large crowd, and when it was known that two men had been slain Chiarleho was attacked by a mob and narrowly escaped a beating. Supported by Acting Captain Hammond and Police Sergeant O'Connor, Policeman Leroccker held the crowd at bay until the arrival of the reserve of twenty policemen, but they were unable to prevent the infuriated friends of the Di Leos from almost tearing the clothes from Chiarleho's body.

The murders had been planned carefully and the aim of the assassins was deadly. The Di Leo brothers were for years prominent members of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. The police presume that this aroused the jealousy of certain persons, and this seems to be the only motive for the attack upon the four brothers.

Antonio and John Di Leo were playing pool with two cousins in Caraffe's saloon, while the other brothers were keeping score. A dozen men were watching the game, when someone knocked at the door leading to a narrow passageway. This door had been fastened with a chain and when Caraffe removed this guard, three men, each brandishing a revolver, sprang into the room. They at once opened fire upon the four Di Leo brothers. Antonio fell dead upon the pool table at the first shot with a bullet in his brain, and in the next instant, John Di Leo, fell to the floor with a bullet wound in the temple.

The assassins then opened fire upon Alexander and Joseph, both of whom hid themselves behind the pool table. Apparently satisfied with their work, the three men ran into the hallway, the lights in which they had previously extinguished, and still flourishing their weapons, darted into the street. The witnesses to the shooting followed and stumbled over two chairs in the passageway. This gave the murderers a good lead and when the pursuers reached the street the men were nearing First avenue.

A crowd instantly gave chase. Chiarleho's two companions dashed into the door of a tenement near the corner and making their way to the roof, succeeded in eluding the police. The crowd chased Chiarleho to First avenue and as he ran toward One Hundred and Thirtieth street, he encountered Policeman Leroccker, who drew his revolver and placed him under arrest. Chiarleho offered no resistance.

Acting Captain Hammond and Sergeant O'Connor, who heard the firing, went to Leroccker's rescue, and after the arrival of the reserves took Chiarleho to the station, where he was identified by the Di Leos as one of the men who shot their brothers. He was locked up on a charge of homicide, and nine witnesses to the shooting were placed under arrest as material witnesses.

REWARD FOR CHAUFFEUR.
New York, Aug. 23.—John Deane, the chauffeur who speeded in pursuit of Edward T. Rosenheimer's automobile after it had killed Miss Grace Hough, will receive a reward of $1,000 from Walter B. Hough, the father of the girl. Mr. Hough declared that it was but just that Deane should be rewarded for bringing Rosenheimer to justice.

TWO MEN HELD FAST TO A RABID DOG

The Animal Had Bitten Three Children—Angry Bulldog Bites Ten.

New York, Aug. 23.—With naked hands Rev. Dr. Edward M. McGuffey, rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, and John E. Meyers, of 87 Broadway, caught and overpowered a rabid dog after it had bitten three children and a score or more of other dogs in the streets of Elmhurst, L. I. The animal was an unusually large fox-terrier.

The struggle took place in Broadway, Elmhurst, opposite the rectory of St. James' Church, and was witnessed by a screaming throng of women and children, among them the three children who had been bitten.

Rev. Dr. McGuffey is a Scotchman, full of vim and courage. He has been rector of St. James' for about twenty years. The dog, according to the police, was owned by a plumber, who is away on a vacation. Early in the morning Mr. McGuffey saw the fox-terrier attacking every dog that passed. Shortly before noon it started off on a run down the street. As he was returning to the rectory from an errand, Mr. McGuffey heard screams, and he then learned that the dog was running wild through the village and that the three children had been bitten. He started on a run toward the place where the dog had been seen in the morning. He arrived in the nick of time.

Mr. Meyers, who is an optician with a place of business in the city and who has four small children, had caught the animal. Mr. McGuffey also grabbed the dog, which fought viciously for its freedom. The men succeeded in pinning the dog to the ground. Policeman Melvin Harvey, of the Newtown precinct, was among those drawn to the scene. Catching sight of his uniform the crowd shouted to the policeman to shoot the dog, but he was afraid to do this for fear of hitting the men. Mr. McGuffey told him to go ahead and shoot while they held the dog, but Policeman Harvey refused to take the risk. A rope was procured and a slip noose passed over the dog's head and then it was drawn taut against a lamppost and at the same instant both Mr. Meyers and Mr. McGuffey released their hold on the dog. Then the policeman used his weapon.

Mr. McGuffey then turned his attention to the three children who had been bitten and took them to the office of a doctor, where their wounds were cauterized.

Dog Bites Ten Persons.
A bulldog named Sport, owned by Harry Demore, a negro, living on Seventh avenue, got provoked when some boys began teasing him at Seventh avenue the other night, and bit ten persons, including two women. The dog had five shots fired at him and was wounded, but streaked off up Seventh avenue and got away.

The bulldog raced around the block at Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, and bit every one in his way. The cries of the few around when the dog first began to roam drew a crowd of nearly a thousand, and the reserves of two police stations could hardly handle.

Charles Bernhardt, who was bitten on the face, arms and legs, tried to stop the dog. He finally pulled a revolver out and fired five shots. One of the bullets hit the dog. Two surgeons from Harlem Hospital treated the folks who had been bitten and advised them to go to the Pasteur Institute at once without fail.

SPAIN'S ATTITUDE SURPRISES VATICAN

No Ground For Government's Protest—
Clergy Behaving Admirably.

Rome, Aug. 23.—Surprise is expressed at the Vatican at the protest of the Spanish Government against what the government calls violent sermons, delivered by Roman Catholic priests in Spain against the Government. The protest was delivered by Marquis de Gonzalez, secretary of the Spanish embassy to the Vatican, in charge of the embassy since the recall of the Spanish ambassador, and terms the sermons "insulting to the Spanish ministers and inflaming the passions of the people."

At the Vatican it is declared that the Spanish clergy is behaving admirably during the crisis, and is simply calling the attention of the faithful to the attempts by the Spanish Government against the rights and liberties of the church.

THE FRUIT CROP OF NIAGARA

Will Be Less Than Last Year—Grapes Fairly Abundant.

St. Catharines, Aug. 22.—The fruit crops this year will not be 50 per cent of what they were last year. The plum crop will not be 20 per cent of the crop of last year, grapes will be fairly abundant, the peach crop will be medium, and apples will be by no means plentiful. The result will be that fruit will be higher in price on the local and especially on the outside market. Such was the gist of the information given out by Mr. C. E. Fisher, county registrar, and secretary of the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association, who is one of the most successful fruit growers in the whole Niagara district, raising one of the largest peach orchards in this fruit region.

Mr. Fisher was able to give an estimate of the coming fruit crop from his own personal experience and from information he has received from the Government scale inspectors, who have made a tour of the orchards in Grimsby, Louth, Grantham and Niagara townships, where most of the fruit is raised.

The Government inspector attributed the smallness of the crop to the neglect of many farmers in spraying, to the continued cold rains about the time of blossoming, and to the curled leaf, a fungus disease which attacked the trees in the early part of the season. In some orchards, where the curled leaf was prevalent in the beginning of the year, there will be no peach crop at all. Mr. Fisher stated that his crop of yellow peaches, which has been marketed, was only two-thirds as heavy as last year, although his trees were thoroughly sprayed and tended. Elbertas and Crawford's, the principal varieties of fall peaches, will be much lighter than last year, when there was a full crop.

Plums in a great many orchards are reported as a total failure. The European and American varieties will yield about half a crop, and the Gneiss, the Quackenbush, the Lombards and the Niagaras, will be very light. There are prospects of a fair crop of apples, but, of course, the fruit growers of the district are not nearly so much interested in apple-raising as in peach and grape raising. Most of the varieties of grapes are showing up fairly well, and there are prospects for a fairly good-sized crop.

STREET PREACHER'S OBJECT LESSON

Emphasizes the Uncertainty of Life as
One of His Hearers Passes Away.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—"Ye know not the hour and ye know not the day that the end may come. Are ye prepared to meet your God?"

As a street preacher raised his voice to a scanty audience along the curb at West Madison and South Desplaines streets, yesterday, a man wearing the bronze button of the G. A. R. in the lapel of his coat, grasped at his throat and fell with a choking sound.

His sermon interrupted, the preacher leaned over the prostrate body, thinking it was merely the usual case of a man overcome by liquor. A glance, a hand placed over the heart that had stopped beating, and the preacher rose, his face sterner than ever.

"Send for the police," he said. "The man is dead."

And then, as the crowd started back, the preacher took advantage of the momentary hush and began his sermon again.

"Ye know not the hour ye know not the day," he shouted, so that his voice reached loungers farther away, who became immediately interested and hurried to the spot. Then, with the lifeless body at his feet, the preacher continued the interrupted sermon until the police arrived.

The man who had dropped dead at the preacher's warning reached his ears was Alfred Ahearn, a laborer.

A MOTO-DRIVEN BATTLESHIP

To Be Propelled by an Internal Combustion Gas Engine.

Portsmouth, Eng., Aug. 23.—A local newspaper asserts that it has excellent authority for the statement that the British admiralty has decided to build an experimental, motor-driven battleship, propelled by an internal combustion gas engine. Naval engineers have long had their eyes on this type of engine as the ultimate form of power for naval vessels and experiments have been carried on with the gunboat Rattler with satisfactory results. A battleship, equipped with such a motor, would have no boilers, stokers or smokestacks, except such vents as are necessary to carry off the products of combustion, and it is claimed that such a vessel if successful, would by the economies effected in weight, space and cost of working, and by the additional speed due to the absence of smokestacks, render all vessels of the present Dreadnought type obsolete.

AN ANIMATED HARDWARE STORE

Illinois Advertising Agent Had Stomach Full of Cutlery.

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 23.—Before Frank Wilson, an advertising solicitor of St. Louis, died here in a hospital he told the police he had swallowed several articles of a foreign nature, and that he had better put the X-ray at work. He was operated upon Sunday night on the theory that he was afflicted with appendicitis. Three incisions were made in the man's abdomen, and according to the physicians, the following articles were removed:

One shoe button hook, ladies' hat-pin, three keys, one lead pencil, one belt buckle, one tin toy pistol, three small nails, one needle, one thermometer.

Wilson according to his physicians, had been in a depressed mental state for some time, during which he swallowed anything that he could get down his throat.

GOOD FOR QUEENSTOWN

Cunarders Will Call at the Irish Port
After This Month.

London, Aug. 23.—Ireland has won the fight for Queenstown as a port of call.

Sydney Buxton, the postmaster-general, has written John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, according to announcement made today, that the Cunard Line ships, except the Mauretania and Lusitania, will call at Queenstown beginning with September, and the company will reconsider the arrangement for 1911.

A bitter fight has been waged by the Irish on the substitution of Fishguard, Wales, for Queenstown.
