

ACCUSED HAMILTON MAN
WHO ENDED HIS LIFE

JAMES N. GOW.

SUICIDE BRINGS TRAGIC
END TO HAMILTON CASE

James N. Gow, Bailed Out on Serious Charges, Cuts His Throat With Razor.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hamilton, March 20.—A tragic climax to the sensation which has stirred Hamilton since a week ago Saturday, when the police summoned A. B. McKay and James N. Gow, prominent businessmen, on charges of immorality, was the suicide this afternoon of Gow.

Gow, associated for years with the firm of McPherson & Glasgow, wholesale grocers, lost his position as a result of the charges. A few months ago his wife separated from him and sued for alimony, which was allowed. After the police exploded their bombshell the wife had bailiffs placed in charge of the house to make sure of the money she said was due her sixteen-year-old daughter.

Talked About His Girl.
Gow stayed there after he received his summons. To the officer in charge he talked constantly about his own little girl. After he left the cells, where he was held until bail was arranged, he shook like a leaf. He visited his former home and left letters with the officer there. It is understood one was for his wife and the other for his child. He returned to the Terminal Hotel.

All night he tossed in a restless sleep. This morning he paced the corridor. He ate sparingly at noon and walked up and down like a man with a tremendous load on his mind. Then he disappeared. Faint noises attracted a maid. The door was locked. It was forced open. Gow was found, his throat slit almost from ear to ear and two razors and a knife beside him.

MacKay Not Surprised.
MacKay, the man charged with him, one of the most prominent marine men in Canada, when informed of his comrade's suicide said he expected it. But he did not subscribe to the case in which they were both involved. He said that Gow had financial and family troubles about which the people knew nothing.

Gow once was worth a lot of money. After the police exposure, it is said, that friend after friend ignored him. MacKay is said to be worth about $300,000. He emphatically denies the sensational charges made against him. An inquest has been ordered.

Dancing Program—Many Gorgeous Gowns.

St. John's Lodge, No. 209, A. F. and A. M., held its annual "at home" in the Masonic Hall Friday evening. The event was one of the most brilliant in this city for some time, the officers of the lodge proving admirable hosts. About two hundred couples were present, and enjoyed the splendid program of dances, music being furnished by the Tony Cortese Orchestra.

The ballroom was tastefully decorated for the occasion, inverted hanging baskets of cut flowers being used to good effect. The costumes worn were of unusual richness and variety, and imparted to the scene in the ballroom a more than ordinary brilliancy.

Several vocal selections by the Manchester Male Quartet, comprising Messrs. MacIntosh, Henselwood, Hetherington and Codling were well received.

The guests sat down to a sumptuous supper at midnight, after which dancing was continued until an early hour.
