

Go forth then in your work and labour of love, sow the good seed of the word of truth broadcast, and cry mightily to God, that it may spring up and produce fruit unto everlasting life. Lift up your voice on Zion's walls, blow the trumpet, and be a faithful watchman to warn the people. When you leave us on your journey, you may expect to be tossed on the billows of the rolling ocean; but fear not, he will be with you. He has said, and he can still say, 'Peace be still. Be persuaded that while at a throne of grace, the people of God here, will not forget you; and we trust you will soon return in safety to this land, and mingle your prayers with ours, and again proclaim to us the Gospel of Christ, and when your work is done, may you be able to say: I have fought a good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown that cannot fade, and may you hear the joyful salutation, Well done good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord. And now before we bid you farewell, accept this small present from the friends of a free Gospel. It is like the Widow's mite, may it like hers be acceptable to you. In conclusion we will say with 'Wesley'

"Blest be the dear uniting love,
That will not let us part;
Our bodies may, far off remove,
We still are one in heart.

Joined in one spirit to our head,
Where he appoints, we go;
In Jesus' footsteps still we'll tread,
And show his praise below."

After the foregoing was presented, Mr. Gray gave a brief, but feeling reply to the Church, which will be long remembered by his friends in the Gospel.

A tea meeting was also held in Zion Chapel, Guelph, on the following evening, being the night before Mr. Gray's departure. Mr. Dowrie occupied the chair, and Mr. Orme read an address similar to the above, to which Mr. Gray made a suitable and feeling reply. The meeting was a happy one. Both the churches presented Mr. Gray with a purse and money, as a mark of the high esteem in which they hold him as a Christian man, and a preacher of the glorious Gospel. Mr. Gray pur-
