

A Thousand Leagues Away.

The wind is blowing fresh, Kate,
The boat rocks there for me;
One kiss and I'm away, Kate,
For two long years to sea.

Shells of Ocean.

One summer eve, with pensive thought, I wander'd on the sea-beat shore, Where oft, in heedless infant sport, I gather'd shells in days before.

Mr. Begg as a Deaf-Mute.

A writer in The Love Star Weekly relates in a recent issue, a somewhat amusing incident in which Mr. Begg, formerly of this Institution, figured prominently.

Mr. Harris, who was still expounding his theory of the education of the deaf to a silent if not attentive audience,

He had just sufficient time to disturb the stillness with "As I was saying," when the tablet was again thrust in his face, accompanied by a vigorous knuck stopped, and looking at Mr. Ross asked, nodding at Mr. Begg. "Is he vicious?"

"Ho is a man of delicate susceptibility of honor. Never intentionally insulting others, he expects like treatment from them.

While Mr. Harris was giving his hand a vigorous rubbing to remove the writer's cramp, he asked Mr. Ross if he didn't want to go to town.

He again took the tablet, wrote at length, then handed it back, remarking to us, while mopping his forehead with a handkerchief, that "that settles the subject. I must admit that I have found him a man of profound erudition,

Mr. Begg immediately followed the gentleman into the office, and when Mr.
Harris descried him, he appeared for a moment to hesitate between making a stand of it, or accomplishing an exit through the window.

"Didn't you forget to return my pencil, Mr. Harris?"
"Whal! Aint you a mute? Wher's Mr. Ross?"

A Boy Worth Having.

A few evenings since I heard a lady say to a gentleman caller, laying a hand caressingly upon the shoulder of a boy of ten years:

"This is my little man. He never uses slang, never swears, never said a saucy word to his parents in his life, does whatever he is told, and is a boy his mother can trust implicitly.

"Ah," said the visitor (who is a man of extensive business relations). "That is the kind of boys men are made of!"

And he immediately commenced casting about to see if he had not need of such a boy in his establishment. There were several situations he could offer, but the mother shook her head, smiling, and said:

"No, he is in school now, and I want him to fit himself for the highest position he can reach."

When the visitor was retiring he said to the happy parents:

"Such a boy is beyond price, and you are rich, indeed, in your possession."

Now, little boys, what do you think of such a boy? A boy who never swears, never uses slang phrases, nor is saucy, nor disobedient, and whom his mother can trust? Did you ever think how much that means?

"Whom his mother can trust?"

Do you know that is the highest recommendation a boy can carry into the world with him? It means so much, and only what is good and worthy of aspiring to.

And this little boy is not a pale, "goody-goody" boy, who exists only in stories. He is a bright, manly little fellow, loves his skates, his marbles, his ball, and, oh, dearly loves to play! And sometimes it is a great trial to leave his sport and run on errands that seem always to claim his time.—Exchange.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE, Belleville, May 16th, 1896.

The present term will close on Wednesday, June 17th, 1896, and our pupils go to their homes on that day. An officer of the Institution will accompany those who are to travel on the Main Lines of Railway, taking care of them and their baggage, to the points agreed upon.

At the close of this session a number of pupils will have completed their term, but those who can be benefited by one or two extra years will be allowed to come back. If you know of any deaf and dumb children of school age in your neighborhood, kindly send the names of the parents, with their post office addresses, to me.

The Grand Trunk, the Canadian Pacific and Central Ontario Railway Companies have liberally arranged to issue return tickets for one first-class fare, good until September 16th, 1896.

The pupils will leave Belleville for home, on Wednesday, June 17th, by early train, under the charge of Officers of the Institution, arriving at the various stations at the times specified in timo-tables by Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific and Central Ontario Railways and parents and friends must meet them, and be standing on the platform of the station when the train arrives. This is important.

The next term will commence on Wednesday, the 16th September, and I hope the pupils will be sent promptly.

With kind regards,
Yours faithfully,
R. MATHISON,
SUPERINTENDENT.

Admission of Children:—

When pupils are admitted and parents come

Visitation:—

It is not beneficial to the pupils for friends to sicians will be allowed to be taken by pupils

Physician of the Institution.

Parents and friends of Deaf children are warned against Quack Doctors who advertise their cures and appliances for the cure of deafness. In 999 cases out of 1000 they are swindlers and only want money for what they give no return. Consult well known medical practitioners in cases of deafness, and be guided by their sound and advice.

Superintendent.
