

SPECIAL NOTICE.

THROUGH the advice of very many friends we have changed our office from Bridgewater, N. S., to St. John, N. B., and we hereby request all our correspondents for the future to address us in St. John, N. B. We feel very grateful to the public generally for the magnificent patronage they have given us in the publication of the Rose. We have already obtained a large circulation for our monthly in New Brunswick and the other Provinces; and the City of St. John being a central place we have selected it as our head quarters, feeling that this arrangement would be satisfactory to a large majority of our subscribers. We hope our Monthly will be a welcome visitor to the families of the thousands among whom it circulates, and we promise to spare no pains to render its columns useful and profitable to our readers. We do feel that there never was a period when such publications were more necessary than at present, and we are confident that our fellow-subjects in New Brunswick will never have cause to regret that our Magazine is published in their midst. So far our labors in endeavoring to enlighten the public on the subject of our mission have not been in vain; thousands who were formerly asleep are now alive and awake to the importance of our work, while through our feeble instrumentality many Romanists are diligently searching after truth, and a few have found it as it is in Jesus, who are now lovers of their bible and attend the regular services of God's house for worship and religious instruction. We need not ask it, for we know the Protestants of every branch of our great family will give us their most hearty support in prosecuting our work and labor of love among the people. All communications for the Rose must hereafter be addressed to the Editor at St. John, New Brunswick.

NOTICES.

WE have just received a copy of the Pancuremata, published by W. W. Price, Esq., at Petitcodiac, monthly, only 25 cents a year. It contains some very interesting reading articles, but it appears to be chiefly designed as an advertising medium for a valuable medicine called Pancuremata or Pain Killer. We have seen the qualities of this medicine tested and heartily commend it to the public.

Mr. Price is a New Brunswicker, a high-toned gentleman of undoubted respectability, is largely responsible, and through his monthly offers to refund the money paid for his medicine to any one who, after using it, is not satisfied with its efficacy. Price 25 cents a bottle. It cures headache, toothache, neuralgia, &c., &c. Full directions given with every bottle. This is no Yankee quackery or humbug,
