HOW WHISKEY BILLS ARE PAID.

Some years ago there lived in a little whiskey town among the mountains of southern California a poor woman whose husband spent all his earnings in one of the many saloons of the town, and she was compelled to do washing to eke out a scanty living for herself and family of small children.

Among her patrons was the saloon keeper's wife. Times were hard, money scarce, and the winter came on. The drunkard's wife had a serious time to keep the wolf from the door. Among other pressing needs was a pair of shoes, her feet being almost on the ground.

The saloon keeper's wife had let her wash bills go unpaid for some time. Gaining courage from her needs, the poor wash-woman called upon her one day for some money. With a haughty look of well fed pride she answered, "Madam, when your husband pays his whiskey bills, I will pay my wash bills."

FIND TIME FOR IT.

You read your Bible every day? You have no time? Certainly that is a foolish excuse. How many things you do every day that are of trifling worth? How much time do you spend in light and trifling conversation? Take some of these minutes unprofitably employed and give them to that great book which Ewald says "contains all the wisdom of the world." We need more Christians with whom the Work of God has become the marrow of the bones and the iron of the blood. It is the Magna Charta of our Christian life It should be the thing with which we begin the day. A good rule would be to read nothing until we have first read a portion of the sacred Word. The man of the world can find time to read the newspaper, no matter how many his engagements. He keeps it in his pocket and reads it on the cars as he goes to his work, or as he waits for his dinner. Keep the Bible about you, and use the occasional spare moment to scan its pages. The strong Christian must be nourished on the Word.—Sel.

The Christian who is not interested in Foreign Missions is missing a liberal education.—Bishop Goodsell.

Have you decided yet what you are going to do with Christ?
