

Why

Do people buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference to any other, — in fact almost to the exclusion of all others?

Because they know that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when others fail.

The question of cost is just as positively decided in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla, as the question of comparative sales. Remember.

Items of Interest.

Among the current inventions recorded in the scientific papers is that of an instrument, by an English inventor, for accurately measuring the quantity of light given out by a star, stars being designated as of the first down to the twentieth magnitude, according to the intensity of the light from them. By this new device the rough designation of magnitude is represented by numbers, which give the exact ratio of one star Arcturus, for example, being estimated by this means to give seventy-five and three-quarters' times the light of Regulus. The amount of light which reaches the earth from the stars varies according to the state of the atmosphere, and it is claimed that this instrument will be of valuable service not only in astronomy, but in meteorology also.

An extraordinary circumstance that has been noticed with interest, and that always creates surprise when first learned, is the entire absence of foreign matter in the deeper part of the ocean's floor. Of all the vessels lost in mid-ocean, of all the human beings that have been drowned, of all the irarino animals that have perished, of all the clay, sand and gravel let fall by dissolving icebergs, of all the various substances drifted from every shore by shifting currents not a trace remains, but in their place water from 1,000 to 2,500 fathoms in depth covers the uniform deposits of thick, bluish, tenacious slime called globigerina ooze.

A bit of this under the powerful lens is a revelation of beauty and not readily forgotten. The ooze is composed almost entirely of the daintiest, most delicately beautiful shells imaginable. At the depths greater than 2,500 fathoms the bottom of the sea consists mainly of products arising from exposure for almost incalculable periods to the chemical action of sea water and of volcanic matters.

Carbonate of lime, which, in the form of the shells of foraminifera, makes up so large a part of the globigerina ooze, is here almost entirely absent. Sea water is very nearly a universal solvent, and before any shell, large or small, reaches the bottom of these tremendous abysses, it is chemically eaten up, literally dissolved—a result which the enormous pressure of the water must materially hasten.

At 1,000 fathoms the weight of the water pressing on all sides of an object immersed to that depth is very nearly one ton to the square inch, or more than 100 times that sustained at the sea level; and at the greatest depths the pressure is so increased that it would seem nothing could withstand it; in fact, heavy metal cylinders let down with the sounding apparatus are sometimes, on being drawn up again to the surface, found bent and collapsed; strongly made glass vessels which the metal inclosed shattered into fragments.

You want Scott's Emulsion. If you ask your druggist for it and get it—you can trust that man. But if he offers you "something just as good," he will do the same when your doctor writes a prescription for which he wants to get a special effect — play the game of life and death for the sake of a penny or two more profit. You can't trust that man. Get what you ask for, and pay for, whether it is Scott's Emulsion or anything else.
