Teacher, giving directions for standing :
"Heels together, toes turned out, making an angle of forty degrees!" A look of bewilderment appeared on one boy's face.
Teacher: "Well, Tim, do you know what I mean? Do you know what a degree is?" Tim: "Yes, sir." Teacher:
"What?" Tim: "Sixty-nine and one-fourth miles."

"This is the unkindest cut of all," said a public man, with a groan, when he saw his portrait in an illustrated paper.

Mistress, to servant: "Did you tell those ladies at the door that I was not at home?" Servant: "Yis, mum." Mistress: "What did they say?" Servant:
"How fortinit!"

It was Christmas time, and the train was almost full. A quiet-looking gentleman walked down the platform in search of a place. He stopped before a carriage in which there was a vacant seat—no, not quite vacant; on it stood a small black handbag. A stout person sat beside it in the corner. "Room here?" demanded the quiet gentleman. "No," growled the stout. "No one is sitting there," pointing to the handbag. "Got out. Coming back," growled the stout. Perhaps the new comer had his own views as to how far this vague statement was trustworthy, for he said in a quiet tone, "I will sit there until your friend returns." The train began to move. "Your friend is late," said the quiet. It was fairly in motion. "Your friend has lost the train!" exclaimed the quiet in tones of sympathy; "but," he added, "he shan't lose his property," and he hurled the black bag out of the window. The stout made an ineffectual effort to save the bag, and then burst out into language not that of blessing. The package was, of course, his own.
He only wished to keep the seat unoccupied with a view to his own comfort. He did not try that plan any more.

ECONOMY!

Economy is one of the most essentia points in a young man's career. He mus be especially careful in dealing in luxuries A person, for instance, knows just about the value he is getting when he buys a pair of boots or a suit of clothes, but in the matter of jewellery, diamonds, and watches he must deal with a reliable house, if he expects to get the proper value for the money invested.
Such a place is E. M. Trowern's, his record in past years being of the best as a manufacturer of gold and silver goods. He employs his own designer and staff of workmen on the premises, and is, therefore, in a position to turn out the best work at lowest possible prices. We import the bullion and turn it out in the latest styles of jewellery for ladies and gentlemen's wear. Our store and factory are at 171 Yonge street. Call and see our goods.
