

How does one get to Campobello?

Fine steamers of the International Line leave Commercial Wharf, Boston, at 8.30 A. M., and Portland at 5.00 the same evening, arriving at Campobello the next morning, at 8 or 9 o'clock. By taking the 12.30 P. M. train via Boston & Maine or Eastern Railroad, one can reach Portland in ample time to take the steamer there.

Baggage checked through to Campobello.

BY RAIL. Take Pullman train via B. & M. R. R. for St. Andrews morning or evening, connecting there with steamer "Rose Standish," which makes the run to Campobello (15 miles) in one hour. The morning train from Boston reaches St. Andrews the same evening. For railroad time-table see daily papers.

The elegant new steamers built for the International Line, are commodious and swift. Their appointments are excellent, and service admirable.
