AMERICAN COPY CANADIAN METHODS

Toronto people are to have an opportunity of seeing in full review, the work of the military hospitals commission, now known as the invalided soldiers' commission of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment. Invitations are being issued by Prof. H. E. T. Haultain, vocational officer for Ontario of that department, to a showing of a motion picture which depicts the various governmental activities in behalf of disabled soldiers from the reception at the port of arrival in Canada to their ultimate placement in profitable work. The showing will take place in the Convocation Hall on Wednesday evening, June 6, at 8 o'clock. Mr. Haultain, who is highly complimentary to this country, is now being escorted at Washington, placing the disabled American soldiers in the hands of the federal board of vocational training. This legislation is based flatly on the Canadian system, and in order that the technical education experts, who will have to administer the act, may be made acquainted with the kind of job they have to tackle, a six weeks' course of instruction for them has been organized by the American Red Cross Institute of New York. There are about 30 teachers in the class, and four weeks of their six weeks' course is taken up with a tour of the principal Canadian cities in which the vocational re-education of soldiers is being carried on.

The officials in charge of the class knew of the existence of this motion picture, and asked that they be allowed to see it. The appointment was made for next Wednesday night in Convocation Hall, and it was decided that, at the same time, the people of Toronto should be given an opportunity to be present.

North Toronto

RESIDENTS OF NORTH WANT BETTER SERVICE

Residents of upper Yonge street who have occasion to use the Metropolitan Railway day in and day out, which includes practically everybody living north of St. Clair, are thoroughly dissatisfied with the progress, or lack of progress, made by the city in respect to the acquisition of that road. On the surface absolutely nothing has been done toward taking over the road, and nobody seems to be making any effort to learn how the matter stands.

It was announced at the last meeting of the North Toronto Ratepayers' Association that immediate steps would be taken to get the owners of the land on the west side of Yonge street, north of the old city limits, to deal over the ten lots between the east boundary of the street, but this, too, seems to have died a natural death.

Agincourt

HYDRO CONSTRUCTION BEGINS AT AGINCOURT

After a long hard fight for the extension of the hydro-electric system to the town, the people of Agincourt have at last succeeded in getting the Ontario Power Commission to actively go on construction work, with the result that the poles are installed every foot of distance between the end of the Danforth avenue car line and the Village of Agincourt. Not only this, but the poles have been put in place, and the route, as the Canadian Northern bridge over the Kennedy road.

It is expected that within six weeks or two months at the most, the line will be finished to Agincourt and the poles between the end of the Danforth avenue car line and the Village of Agincourt, not only this, but the poles have been put in place, and the route, as the Canadian Northern bridge over the Kennedy road.

MRS. C. W. N. VANDUSER HONORED BY WATCH

At a social meeting of the Red Cross Workers and Missionary Society of the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, held yesterday afternoon, the members took advantage of the occasion to give Mrs. C. W. N. Vanduser a beautiful gold wrist watch suitably inscribed as a slight recognition of her services in the cause of the church, and missions generally, and her untiring interest and devotion to Red Cross work.

Ever since the outbreak of the war Mrs. Vanduser has been most unwavering in her services, and in the very inception of the foundation of the Timothy Eaton church of last year, when the meetings were yet held in the National Training School, St. Clair and Avenue roads, she was one of the most faithful of the promoters of the movement.

The presentation was made on behalf of the other women by Mrs. C. P. Bishop, who took occasion to refer to the work of Mrs. Vanduser as secretary of the Red Cross Society. Mr. and Mrs. Vanduser are taking up their residence in London, Ont., and are not alone of the members of the two societies, but the respect of the entire neighborhood in which they reside.

HOUSING PROBLEM IS ACUTE IN EAST

Real Estate Men Unable to Cope With Demand for Residences.

Real estate is quite brisk in the east end of the city, according to the real estate men interviewed, and concrete evidence seen in the numerous stores and apartments going up in the Beaches district.

Starting at the city limits and going west, one finds two stores and apartments at Queen and Neville Park avenue, one of which has been sold by C. L. Sangan to the Reid Drug Co. At the next corner four stores, with apartments of ten suites, are being erected by Cor & Cummings, who are also erecting ten large brick houses in Glen Stewart Manor and five brick houses on Lakeshore avenue. In the next block west, Munro & Co., who recently put up six garages to rent at $4 a month are just finishing five more, some of which are already occupied. At the corner of Queen and Waverley, a new store and a large store are being erected by the Scarborough Beach Park, E. D. Morris of 2197 East Queen street is erecting the apartment of 19 suites, with two large stores. Mr. Morris has just had these suites on the market one week, and reports seven of them already let, the other will not be ready for occupancy till July. Two blocks farther west, a large store of 25 feet frontage is being erected by A. Simons, a fruiterer, H. E. Graham, 2449 East Queen street, who has plenty of applications for houses, but, with land at $90 to $100 a foot, and the present restrictions, he cannot build small houses profitably. He stated that he advertised a house at $2500 last Saturday and had 25 applicants for it, many of whom had to move, as their houses were sold over their heads.

A. L. Sagan, Queen street and Beach avenue, told much the same story, the demand being much greater than the supply, but the high price of material is holding them back.

W. G. Simpson, 2197 East Queen street, who is erecting a new store, is seeking homes, but he did not think there was any justification for so many new houses.

N. R. Mappin, 2351 East Queen street, one of the largest agents in the Beaches district, was very optimistic as to the future of the east end. He claims to have 3000 people on his list who are waiting for houses. He finds a much more ready sale for houses of from $6000 to $8000 than the cheaper ones; also that the people wish to pay spot cash for their houses. He also states that he can rent all the furnished houses he can get at $7 a month, having clients from all over the United States and northwestern Canada. He says the "permit" records show new building in the east end for the last three years than any other district by 20 per cent. He thinks the numerous new stores are quite justified.

Earlscourt

SPEEDING UP BUILDING.

Earlscourt Workers Are Busy Early and Late These Days.

Earlscourt builders are taking advantage of the fine weather and working early and late in the season. The new residences in this section. On North Dufferin street several new houses are in course of construction and will be finished in about a month. The two new brick stores and apartment houses now in course of construction between Dufferin and St. Clair gardens, on St. Clair avenue, are expected to be ready for occupation early in June.

In Oakwood and Wyndwood districts, north and south of St. Clair, residences are being built. The new houses are being built and the old houses are being renovated.

BABY GIRL DIES.

Mrs. W. Sims of Harvie avenue, North Earlscourt, is receiving the sympathy of neighbors over the loss of her little baby girl, who died five days ago, leaving the mother in a precarious condition. Mr. Sims works in a munition factory.

CRICKETERS ARE PRACTISING.

Earlscourt local cricket clubs are now practising several evenings a week preparatory to covering matches now being played in the last part of the season. Where the land is unsuitable for growing vegetables parties of young men are seen after work welding bar and building about fifty members of various local teams were practising on the grounds of the Colborne street, West St. Clair avenue, on Friday night.

CHURCHES ARE GARDENING.

Keeping in line with other churches and institutions in the city, St. Clare Catholic Church on West St. Clare avenue, are utilizing the waste land surrounding the church for growing vegetables. On the east and west side the ground is already plowed and ready for planting.

EPIDEMIC IS SPREADING.

Earlscourt Has Several Cases of Scarletina and Measles.

Scarletina and measles are spreading in Earlscourt, due, it is said, to the laxity shown by parents who permit their children to mix with other children before fully recovering. Some Earlscourt mothers are so indignant that they threaten to take the matter up with the board of health.
