needs of the country. Total assets of $166,725,000, compared with $141,000,000 last year.

Other evidence of progress were shown by the fact that since the close of war the Merchants Bank has opened many new branches and sub-branches. It is thus doing everything possible to provide adequate banking facilities to the country, and at the same time absorb its officers now returning from overseas. Sir H. Montagu Allan, the president of the bank, in his address reviewed the balance sheet and spoke of the death of Andrew A. Allan, one of the directors. General Manager D. C. Macarow referred to the satisfactory business which had been transacted during the year, and the promising outlook for the coming year. Altogether it was a report which reflects the highest credit upon the management of the bank.

A further evidence of the shareholders' confidence in their directors was shown by their authorization of an increase in the bank's capital from $10,000,000$ to $15,000,000. This increase is to provide of or future expansion. The president explained that there was no intention of issuing any stock in the near future.

committee that the part of the Technical School which the military authorities are using at present might be obtained to relieve the congestion. There were several suggestions as to what classes of pupils should be put there. The majority were in favor of the Junior pupils taking over those quarters. No action was taken on adopting Dennis H. Flannigan's time the matter being left over until the July meeting. To relieve the crowded condition of Ealing School, the committee recommended that another school be built in the East End. Mrs. David Williams was of the opinion that the present school should have an addition to it, as the site is such a beautiful one, and the pupils from any small new school that might be built would have to attend Chesley School when they passed to the higher grades. Ald. G. B. Drake is also in favor of this proposal.

Dr. W. J. Tillmann, John S. Barnard and Principal W. T. Mooney were appointed as a committee to recommend what shall be done with the $10,000 legacy of the Whiskard will which was left to the Collegiate for scholarships. The committee will report back to No. 3 committee at the next meeting.
