bitrarily in refusing to sanction the transference of the medical inspection from the school authorities to the board of health. It was suggested, however. by the local committee, that the withdrawal of the proposal might be followed up by an endeavor to get all the parties together in order to arrive at a settlement.

The board of education is within its strict rights, as it is advised, in proposing the action it did, and the board of education is not only permitted, but is required as a duty to undertake this inspection. Developments at the Front

New developments are undoubtedly pending on the French and Flanders front of war. Whether the first blow will be struck by the Germans or by ourselves cannot be determined, but both sides are preparing for heavy fighting. The British supplies of munitions have been brought up to where they should have been a year ago, and if the general staff conceives itself to man's tones. have men enough no doubt an advance will be made.

The fighting will be of the usual artillery character, followed by infantry rushes, and that it will be deadly those who have followed the accounts of the Verdun attacks have no need to be told. Whether the Germans or the allies make the advance there can be no doubt about the casualty lists. A preponderance of arthfery on the part of the British line is therefore the strongest hope the empire can have. With artillery superior to the enemy's it will be possible to curtail the losses to a degree that may make an attack upon the enemy desirable, rather than a continuance of the deadlock which is so wearing and which apparently achieves so little

There have been a good many jeers of late in "neutral" comments about the weakness of British generalship. Even were our generals weaker than they have given us reason to think they are, we know they enjoy the confidence of the French and Russian generals, fit to commence the hunt of the of late in "neutral" comments about they are in consultation with them, and the whole plan of campaign is a joint affair. We need not be aiarmed about the issue of any action taken. The delay has been unavoidable, and it was wiser to wait than to be walloped. It may be necessary to wait a little longer, but when the waiting is over there should be no doubt about the soults of the battalion, the buffer of the Huns. A World photographer in passing thru Uxbridge recently was enabled to obtain, thru the courtesy of Lieut.-Col. Sharpe, a number of interesting group views of this crack battalion. These will appear in the art section of this week's Sunday World The page of pictures includes Col. FRESH INDICTMENTS

Against Welland Attempt Canal Described as Military Enterprise.

NEW YORK, May 3,-John Devoy ditor of Gaelic-American, and John T. Ryan, a Buffalo attorney, were nentioned in superseding indictments handed down here today by the fed-eral grand jury which investigated the alleged German plot to blow up the Welland Canal. Horst von der Goltz, Carl Tuchendler and Frederick Busse Carl Tuchendler and Frederick Busse are also mentioned. The men were not indicted, but are alleged to have had cognizance of the conspiracy. The new indictments go into the details of the alleged plot, and for the first time in pro-German conspiracy cases, state that it was aimed to assist the German emperor. The indictments are against Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled German military attache, Wolfe von Igel, his secretary. Carl Tauscher, agent of the Krupps in the U. S., Alfred A. Fritzen and Constantine Covani. Von Igel and Capt. Tauscher are the only ones under arrest.

The Medical Inspection Fight
It seems a pity that the city council and the board of education can find no better method of settling their disputes than by going to law. Law is not any better than any other kind of fighting, and with all the conflicts going on in the world at present a little conciliation among our city fathers would have no bad result.

We think, and said so at the time, that the government acted rather arbitrarily in refusing to sanction the control of the military operations of the Emperor of Germany by means of bombs, dynamite and other explosives to blow up and destroy the Welland Canal, a Canadian waterway."

The indictments allege that the plot was a military enterprise."

The indictments allege that the plot was a military enterprise, and "the aim of the defendants was the obstruction of the military operations of the Emperor of Germany by means of bombs, dynamite and other explosives to blow up and destroy the Welland Canal, a Canadian waterway."

The charge is made that Capt. von Papen, Von Igel and Capt. The leaders, the indictments state, furnished the others with automatic revolvers, ammunition, bombs, dynamite and other explosives.

Von Papen Furnished Cash.

The accusation is repeated that Captain Tauscher purchased from the local office of the Du Pont Powder Co. 300 pounds of "60-per cent." dynamite to have been used in the work of destruction and that the explosive was obtained by Von der Goltz on Tauzcher's written order.

As a result, the indictments state Devoy sent a telegram to Ryan at his office in Buffalo, on September 16, 1914, in behalf of Von der Goltz. Ryan, on the receipt of the telegram, the indictment states, gave Von der Goltz $400. This money was to be used by the agents of Captain von Papen to invade Canadian territory, the government charges, for the pur-pose of carrying out a "military enterprise." The government alleges its case is strengthened by the fact that all of the indicted men are on the rolls of the German imperial army.

HELP RETURNED MEN

Many Positions Have Been Found by Commission-Disablement Fund.

Independent organizations desiring to take up collections for patriotic purposes may be required first to obtain authorization from the government. The Soldiers' Aid Coumission, at their meeting yesterday, discussed asking for an order in council making this compulsory. They spoke, too, of asking for legislation providing for the oversight of such collections and for government supervision of disbursed ments. Instances of collections for solifish purposes were cited.

Women's organizations now working for the patriotic fund, or for the Red Cross Society, may be asked to continue their activities for a "provincial disablement fund," after the need for their present activities is over. This was another suggestion discussed by the commission.

In Toronto convalescent homes are 480 returned soldiers, 184 in other places. Positions have been found for 714 men; 15 went out yesterday to interview employers; 150 are employed on military duty as guards, and so on and 165 have returned to their old jobs.

Thirty-seven branches of the commission have been formed thrucut the province. A man from the department will be sent out to check over their work, to increase their efficiency. His office may be made permanent as that of "organizing secretary." He will present a report of his findings at the next meeting of the commission.

Fifty-seven returned soldiers have signified their willingness to accept the offer of the Rotary Club of Toronto to assist them in gardening. The club offers the free use of vacant land for market gardening, to plow, harrow and fertilize the land, and to give seeds and plants without charge. Prizes will be offered, and a market found for produce. The club believes that the work would be helpful to returned soldiers, both financially and physically. The commission sent out circulars regarding the offer. W. D. McPherson, M.L. The grants of the patriotic fund ceased with the granting of pensions, and the work of the Red Cross naturally would cease with the cessation of hostilities. The new fund might be called the "Provincial Disablement Fund."
