Argument on Inglewood Claim Heard Next Week

Montreal Engineer on Stand Says He Would Not Have Advised Musquash Development

Evidence in the Inglewood hearing before Judge LeBlanc is expected to all by Friday night and argument will commence on Monday morning, according to present agreement among those concerned at the morning session today.

Examination of R. S. Lee, prominent Montreal hydraulic engineer, was continued at the morning session today. Mr. Lee went into technical details over the Vermont rule which he said was extremely difficult for the average layman to follow.

Mr. Lee was appointed a junior trade commissioner and in 1917 appointed a full rank trade commissioner to Italy in that year. In 1923 he was sent to Spain to negotiate a commercial treaty between that country and Canada and was successful in his mission.

Mr. Lee was appointed to his present position as director of the Commercial Intelligence Branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, arrived in the city at the subject of his address will be the possibilities of Canadian export, and it is hoped that as a result of his visit an export branch of the Saint John Board of Trade will be formed.

Mr. Clarke was born in Saint John and has had a brilliant record in his chosen profession, that of a commercial missionary from Canada to the lands abroad. His is a son of the late Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Clarke. Rev. Mr. Clarke held pastorates in this city and various other points in the province and many, who knew the parents will rejoice in the success which has come to their son.

In 1915 he was appointed a junior trade commissioner and in 1917 appointed a full rank trade commissioner to Italy in that year. In 1923 he was sent to Spain to negotiate a commercial treaty between that country and Canada and was successful in his mission.

PERCY L. BELVEA DIES AT AGE OF 32

Had Been Unconscious Since Attack of Last Tuesday—Former C. N. R. Man

Percy L. Belvea, 180 1/2 Elliott row, 32 years of age, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Leveret A. Belvea, Princess street, passed away in the General Public Hospital a little after noon today, after lying unconscious since Tuesday evening following a collapse of a nature to which he had been subject for some years.

For ten years previous to his failing health he had been a C. N. R. yard worker, and was well and favorably known about the city and throughout the up-river district, former home-land of his parents. He was married and leaves with his widow, a young son, Donald, Walter Belvea, druggist in Moncton, and Wendell Belvea at home with his parents, and formerly of the Royal Bank staff, are brothers.

News of young Mr. Belvea's death was sadly surprising to a wide circle of people, particularly of the Central Baptist church community with which he and his family were prominently connected.
