New turnips also made their appearance in the market and sold at 10 cents a bunch or three for 25 cents. Native iceberg lettuce also was coming in in good quantity and sold at 15 cents a head, while the other variety sold at 10 cents.

There was a good supply of spring lamb in the market, and it sold at 32 cents a pound for fore and 45 cents for hind quarters, 50 cents for legs and 55 cents for chops. Beef sold at from 14 to 40 cents a pound; pork, 25 to 35 cents a real, 10 to 20 cents a pound, chickens were still coming in in small quantity, and sold at 60 to 70 cents a pound.

The local supply of eggs was falling off, it was said, and most supplies now come from Prince Edward Island. Eggs sold at 40 cents and firsts at 38 cents. Butter prices were unchanged, dairy selling at 35 to 38 cents a pound and creamery at 40 to 45 cents.

The object of the new establishment, it was announced, is to provide a boarding place for the Catholic girl students attending the Provincial Normal School and the University of New Brunswick. Elusive Fish Cause Doctors Some Concern

'NOW you see it, and now you don't.'

The perplexities of the old "shell game" had nothing on the trick which nature played on a couple of prominent local doctors on a recent fishing trip to P. E. I. They were part of a party of six, and were considered to be the smartest of the company in the art of angling.

However, the tyros made a great haul, while their more proficient friends were having little luck. A creel, made from a canvas bag, held open by hoops, hung over the side of the boat, and into the trio hastily poured the fruits of their sport, so that the craft took on a dangerous list. At the end of the session the two parties met at the landing, and the proud doctors immediately proceeded to display their bag to their less fortunate companions.

Up came the creel with surprising ease. The physicians gazed open-mouthed, at the empty sack. A loud gasp broke out from the others. A large, gaping hole appeared in the bottom of the creel.

"Must have caught on a stump on the way in," said the doctors.

"We've heard that story before," said their pals.

And that's that!

SHOTS FIRED AS POLICE CHASE MOTOR THIEF

Harold Lockhart Remanded on Charge of Stealing Barry Wilson's Auto

Harold Lockhart, 22, appeared before Magistrate Henderson on the police court this morning on a charge of stealing an automobile, the property of Barry Wilson and valued at $800. He was remanded until Monday, owing to the absence of Mr. Wilson from the city.

Last evening Mr. Wilson parked his automobile in German street and when he came to get it at 10 o'clock found that it had disappeared. He notified the detective department and Detectives Biddecombe and Kilpatrick commenced searching for the lost car.

WAIT IN AMBUSH After scouring the city and failing to locate the automobile, the two detectives, in their automobile, stationed themselves at the intersection of Rothery and Thorne avenues, thinking the thief had left the city and would possibly return by that route.

While waiting there shortly after one o'clock this morning they saw the missing car approaching, but from the direction of the centre of the city. When the driver saw the detectives waiting he put on speed and passed them, driving out Thorne avenue. The detectives gave chase and also fired a couple of shots from their revolvers. This only served to make him go all the faster.

Closely followed by the detectives he turned into Russell street and on reaching the intersection of that street and Rothery avenue, turned into the latter and headed back towards the city. He was going at such a high speed, however, that while making the turn a front tire on the car blew out.

He continued, however, until he reached the railway crossing a short distance away where he jumped out of the car and made off into the fields. The two detectives gave chase and Lockhart jumped over the fence again and came back on the roadway. He then ran down the trestle that leads to the round house and was there captured by Detective Biddecombe.

CAR DAMAGED The automobile, when abandoned by Lockhart, continued on its way until it collided with a telegraph pole. The front axle was bent and the bumper and one of the mud guards damaged.

It was thought by the local police that Lockhart was responsible for the disappearance of several automobiles reported by the owners as having been stolen and later found abandoned by the detectives in various parts of the city.

TOO MUCH TRAFFIC IN MARKET STREETS

Clerk Complains Thoroughfares Used For Parking Unnecessarily

There was altogether too much unnecessary automobile traffic in North and South Market streets, it was said this morning by J. T. Stephens, clerk of the City Market. Many motorists, to avoid traffic at the head of King street, use North and South Market streets as a short cut, and as a result there was much congestion in these streets, he said.

Since the increase in the use of automobiles in Saint John in recent years has placed parking space at a premium, many drivers use the market streets as a parking space, thus blocking doorways and entrances to the market and preventing the unloading of produce and other goods. It was said that motorists were in the habit of parking their cars in front of the market doors and then going and leaving them there.

It was requested by the market clerk that those not having business in the market would stay off these two streets.
