NEW INTERNATIONAL WILL BATTLE MAJORS

Trouble if Gotham Clubs Play Sunday Games in N. J.

New York, May 2—Joseph J. Lannin, owner of the Buffalo, New International League Club team, and one of the vocal leaders of the league's board of directors, stated today that if the major league clubs insisted on playing Sunday baseball games at Harrison, N. J., the new minor league organization would contest such action by every possible court proceeding.

Mr. Lannin, who at one time was chief owner of the Boston American League Club, said the invasion of the territory of the New International League Club was a violation of the national agreement between the major and minor baseball organizations and was without legal effect. Such a move, he said, would amount to the long-standing agreement governing the relations and rights of the numerous and leagues of organized baseball.

"The American and National Leagues insist upon invading the territory of the New International League," said Mr. Lannin, "the New International League will carry the matter to the highest courts in order to protect what it believes to be its property rights. We have good grounds for redress against both organizations, which, if carried out, would automatically destroy the integrity of the national agreement and that document might as well be torn up. It was against this same invasion of territory that the major leagues fought the Federal League a few years ago."

"Canada will grow an immense amount of food in the back yards and vacant lots which now lie idle," said Prof. Hemenway. "The United States is finding this means of increasing the nation's food supply a wonderful assistance. Estimates based on reports to the National War Gardens Commission are that there are more than 5,000,000 home food producers in the United States this year who are helping to feed themselves and their country at the same time."

One Woman's Work.

Mrs. John H. Sprout of Sussex recently received a card of honor from England from the Canadian Field Com- mission for knitting 100 pairs of socks for Canadian soldiers, letter which accompanied the card stated that it gave the commission great pleasure to forward socks to the front and there is nothing that the men more appreciate.

Mrs. Sprout will soon be entitled to a special award as she is engaged in knitting her 177th pair of socks, and she has also knitted several pairs of mitts. Mrs. Sprout is the widow of ex-Conduc- tor John Sprout who ran for so many years on the Sussex express, and is now approaching her 80th year of age.
