FASHION HINT FROM PARIS

Discolored, Wrinkled Skin Easily Renovated

(From the Woman Beautiful.)

Since brown or yellow, over-red or blotchy complexions are decidedly not the fashion, I cannot understand why so many continue to wear them. Surely every woman has heard of mescolan wax. This I know—from my own and others' experience—will positively banish every unsightly tint. The wax really takes off a bad complexion. It gradually, harmlessly, absorbs the thin layer of surface skin with all its defects, as chaps, liver spots, pimples, freckles, blackheads. Just as gradually the discolored skin is replaced by the clean, white, youthful skin underneath. Mescolan wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied nightly like cold cream and erased morning with warm water. One ounce will produce the loveliest glowing complexion in less than a fortnight.

SHOW ANIMOSITY TO MISS DOROTHY MacVANE

St. John Has Interest in Case Being Heard in Italian Court

Says a despatch from the Taranto Italy—Innocent Ciccia, a newspaper writer, who is accused of trying to blackmail Dorothy MacVane, an American singer, who is a daughter of the late President Marcus MacVane, of Harvard, was placed on trial here today. Ciccia was defended by three prominent lawyers and had twenty-six witnesses in the court, which was crowded with sympathizers with the prisoner. These people demonstrated their animosity to Miss MacVane by shaking their fists at her and making other demonstrations.

Miss MacVane was closely cross-examined especially in regard to her alleged spying on Italian fortifications. At the conclusion of her cross-examination, Miss MacVane asked for an adjournment to enable her to engage a lawyer and to summon witnesses on her behalf. The judge refused to adjourn the case.

Several witnesses testified in favor of Ciccia, after which the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow. Miss MacVane says she will not attend tomorrow's session unless she is represented by her lawyers. She declares the evidence presented is a slanderous "frame-up." She

Belmont Tells of His Sons' Expenditures

Declares He Has Parted Himself From Nearly $14,000 Since Marriage in November

August Belmont took the stand in New York on last Friday to aid the case of his son, Raymond, who is being sued for separation by Ethel Lorraine Belmont. Mr. Belmont testified that his son had spent $13,880 since his marriage in November, 1912.

Edward Mooney, counsel for young Belmont's wife, kept up such a rapid fire of questions that Mr. Belmont asked the court to protect him. The father admitted that he had recently sent $2,500 to Sir Bache Comary, whom his son is visiting in England, and explained that he sent the money under an arrangement made when Raymond left New York. Previous testimony for young Belmont had tended to show that he had dissipated his fortune and having no reason to expect help from his father, was in

TURNED AWAY WHEN HE SOUGHT WORK; NOW WANTS TO GO TO PRISON

A young man barely out of his teens walked into Part V. of General Sessions, New York, the other morning and pleaded with a court officer to see Judge Crain. He said he was John Stephens, homeless, upon whom the judge had suspended sentence in December. He wanted to go to prison.

Stephens had pleaded guilty to stealing a pocketbook from Mrs. Christine Blatz of Clayton, N. Y., while she was walking in Lexington avenue. When a policeman appeared the boy said he was starving.

Mrs. Blatz pleaded for clemency and asked that sentence be suspended. Judge

BILL TO ADMIT WOMEN TO THE ENGLISH BAR

London, March 31.—Lord Haldane, the Lord High Chancellor, told a deputation which called on him to urge the admission of women solicitors to the bar that he, the premier, and the law officers of the crown were in favor of the principle and that a private bill had already been introduced in parliament, admitting women to the bar.

Crain, letting the young man go, with instructions to report to Probation Officer Conway, said: "I am going to let you go in order to obtain work and take care of yourself. Your case is a rare one, having been in institutions since you were a child. Go out into the world with the memory of your crime fresh in your mind. Tell the truth and you will get along."

Stephens reported regularly to the probation officer, but now told the judge that he had been unable to get along and wanted to be sent to prison for the crime to which he had pleaded guilty. "I have told the truth as you told me," said the boy, "but when I have been asked for references I told them I had none. Then I told them of your kindness. In every instance I was turned away without work. I have decided that I had better go to prison."

Work will be found for him.

Nervous Prostration and Heart Trouble

For Three Years Doctors Struggled With This Disease, and in Vain—Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The complete breakdown of the nervous system as in nervous prostration is usually the result of over-work, worry or "burning the candle at both ends."

There are always warnings if you will only recognize them. You find yourself easily fatigued and annoyed. Little things make you irritable. You do not enjoy your work or find yourself forgetful and lacking energy. Headaches may return about the same time each day; there may be nervous indigestion and distress caused by even the simplest food. Gloomy forebodings and hysterical symptoms. You may look strong and well and yet be on the verge of nervous collapse.

When threatened by nervous breakdown begin at once the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and escape such serious developments as nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

Mrs. H. C. Jones, Scotch Lake, C. B., writes: "I suffered from nervous prostration for nearly three years. I had frequent headaches, had no appetite and was troubled with my heart. After consulting two doctors without satisfactory results, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and was completely cured by the treatment. It is nearly a year since I was cured, and I want others to know of this splendid medicine. I now attend to my house work with pleasure and comfort and am glad to have the opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."
