

MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

Improvement in His Majesty's Condition To-Day is Most Marked--Intercession Services in the Churches--The Colonial Premiers at St. Paul's.

(Associated Press.)
London, June 26.—King Edward's progress in convalescence occasions the greatest satisfaction in all social circles. His Majesty is already displaying the greatest interest in all public questions, and is expressing his gratitude over the evidences of the world's solicitude by opening a number of telegrams with his own hands, as reported in these dispatches last night. This action excited him slightly, causing some restlessness during the night, and arousing some trifling solicitude on the part of the doctors in attendance. All this really was unimportant, as His Majesty soon quieted down and on the whole rested satisfactorily.

The improvement in the King's condition this morning was most marked. Everybody in Buckingham palace is delighted and high hopes are entertained that convalescence will be much more speedy than predicted last night. At no time has there been any serious suggestion of the establishment of a regency. The most that was done was in the way of pure speculation—a suggestion that the Prince of Wales might act for his father as King Edward, when Prince of Wales, frequently did for Queen Victoria, particularly during her last illness, but without his having formally been appointed regent.

The good news given out by the Duke of Connaught at Buckingham palace before the doctors' morning consultation, and which the subsequent official bulletin completely confirmed, occasioned the liveliest satisfaction to all persons collected at the palace, the Mansion House, and elsewhere.

Awaiting Tidings from the sick chamber. The absence of ambiguity in the language of the present bulletin, which, unlike previous statements, has no qualifying phrases, has done much to restore confidence in the public mind in regard to the outcome of the King's illness.

King Edward saw several members of his family in the course of the morning. The Queen remained at the palace, but the Princess Victoria drove out this morning.

In most of the churches throughout the land to-day the services which were to commemorate the coronation of King Edward are taking place in the changed form of intercessory services.

At the hour when the King should have been crowned, a great and distinguished gathering, almost identical with that which would have sat in Westminster Abbey, gathered in St. Paul's Cathedral.

The approaches to the cathedral were thronged by silent throngs, through which drove peers and princesses, colonial premiers, foreign envoys, ambassadors and members of the House of Commons, all in sombre clothes. In the chancel were Joseph H. Choate, United States ambassador; Whitelaw Reid, special ambassador of the United States to the coronation; J. Pierpont Morgan, jr., and leading members of the nobility. In the nave about a thousand of the Westminster Abbey ticket holders, mainly women, were seated.

Shortly before noon the big western doors were sprung open, sunlight streamed in, and the Duke of Cambridge, leaning heavily on the chancel, as if an equestrian, walked there across from the front end of the nave the clear notes of the opening sentences of the Litany, chanted by four of the cathedral clergy. Their tones were in such union that they seemed to emanate from one powerful voice. The choir took up the responses.

At the Supplication, the procession, headed by the cross, advanced a few steps and then stood still until the response was completed. Through the kneeling congregation the choir advanced to the chancel steps. More of the clergy followed and behind them were ten bishops in gorgeous robes. Then came the Archbishop of York, the Most Rev. William Dalrymple McLagan, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the Lord Mayor, Sir Joseph C. Dimsdale, the coronation in full state bringing up in the rear.

With evident feeling the choir sang the three Psalms of intercession, after which the Bishop of Stepney, the Right Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, read the lesson, Isaiah, chapter 38, verse 10: "I said in the cutting off of my days, I shall go to the gates of the grave; I am deprived of the residue of my years."

The Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Arthur P. W. Ingram, from the altar steps, read the prayers. "O Lord, save the King," rang out to the furthest recess of the dome and brought from the whole and the congregation. The anthem and the singing of the hymn, "Thine arm, O Lord, in days of old was strong to heal and save," and Psalm 51, concluded the short service, whereupon the Bishop of London, surrounded by the archbishops and bishops, from the altar steps impressively pronounced the benediction.

For a few moments complete silence reigned and all heads were bowed in prayer, after which the almost blind Archbishop of Canterbury was carefully led down the steps, the procession reformed and the congregation went out into the sunlight, gladly discussing the wording of the latest bulletin from Buckingham palace.

Simultaneously a similar service was conducted at St. Margaret's church, Westminster. It was largely attended by cabinet ministers, peers and members of the House of Commons, and was concluded with singing "God Save the King."

From India, Australia and Africa, everywhere where serious congregated, telegrams announce the holding of the impressive supplicatory services.

Foreign Guests Departing.
London, June 26.—According to the Birmingham Post, after hearing of King Edward's illness, Emperor William telegraphed to Prince Henry of Prussia, who was in London, setting forth how he collected at the palace, the Mansion House, and elsewhere.

Among the callers at Buckingham palace to-day were the Prince and Princess of Wales, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia, the Duke of Cambridge, most of the special ambassadors still in London, and many other diplomats.

The exodus of foreign representatives proceeds apace. Field Marshal Count von Waldersee.

Left London This Morning as did the Prince of Monaco, the Prince of Montenegro, and the Dutch mission. Repeating this morning to a telegram of sympathy from a body of Aberdonians, General Sir Dighton Probyn, keeper of the privy purse, telegraphed as follows: "The loyal and kind telegram of your Majesty shall be submitted to the King on His Majesty's recovery, which, thank God, we may, I think, now look forward to."

The entries in the Paris-Vienna race, started this morning, number in all 214, as compared with 155 entries for the Paris-Berlin race. The competitors to-day include ten Belgians, five Austrians, twelve Germans, three Englishmen, and two Americans. The Americans will drive automobiles weighing a thousand kilograms each, of seventy horse power, seventy-two heavy automobiles were to start, the remainder of the contestants using light cars, vintage cars and motor cycles.

BOLD BUNCO GAME.
Man From Manitoba Lost $300 at Victoria Gardens Yesterday.

Robert Gifford, recently from Manitoba, was the victim of a bunco game at the Victoria Gardens yesterday afternoon. The three day he picked up with a smooth-talking stranger and became intimately friendly with him. Yesterday his new-found friend induced him to go to the George to look over some land. They went to the Victoria gardens where the stranger mildly suggested that they take a drink of lemonade. They did so, and shortly afterwards were joined by two others. After a few convivial exchanges they retired to a small apartment adjoining the bar room and commenced playing a "heads and tails game" with a dollar. It was for small stakes at first, but gradually these were raised until Gifford suddenly realized that he had been buncoed to the tune of $300.

Two of his new acquaintances came to town with him and succeeded in holding him away from the police until the police gave him the slip. They then took passage on the Sound steamer and escaped to Seattle. The victim eventually notified the police, but it was too late, Sergeant Murray and Detective Palmer went to the scene of the game last night, but they found the blinds down. There were four of them altogether. The Seattle police have been communicated with, but so far no reply has been received.

Principal Doctors Absent.
London, June 26.—At 5 o'clock this afternoon a reporter of the Associated Press was informed that not one of the chief doctors was in attendance on the King, and that they were not expected back until six, shortly after which hour the next bulletin would be issued. From the foregoing it is evident that the King's condition continues satisfactory. Large and happy crowds surround the palace.

Dr. Murphy's Opinion.
New York, June 26.—Dr. John B. Murphy, of Chicago, dean of the faculty of Rush Medical College, has telegraphed to the New York Medical Journal the following statement regarding King Edward: "The official bulletins are very vague and indefinite, as the doctors do not state whether the peritiphilitic abscess was due to appendicitis, but the clinical course for five days preceding the operation does not correspond with that of appendicitis. It is an appendicitis peritiphilitic abscess, and I do not believe that the abscess is of appendical origin is the most logical from his symptoms of pain and syncope on the fifth or sixth day preceding the operation. There was every reason to believe that the abscess is from the public as long as possible. If the diagnosis of appendicitis had been made early, it is probable the operation would have been performed immediately, as the consensus of American medical and surgical profession is that the immediate operation, i.e., the operation within the first twenty-four hours after the symptoms arise, gives the best results and subjects the patient to the least risk."

The Pope's Sermon.
Rome, June 26.—The Pope was much distressed when he heard of King Edward's illness, and immediately telegraphed to King George V. and the King of Belgium, to convey his expressions of sorrow to His Majesty, and to keep the Pontiff fully informed as to his condition.

Left London This Morning as did the Prince of Monaco, the Prince of Montenegro, and the Dutch mission. Repeating this morning to a telegram of sympathy from a body of Aberdonians, General Sir Dighton Probyn, keeper of the privy purse, telegraphed as follows: "The loyal and kind telegram of your Majesty shall be submitted to the King on His Majesty's recovery, which, thank God, we may, I think, now look forward to."

CANADIANS APPLY FOR DISCHARGE

TELEGRAM RECEIVED FROM LORD KITCHENER

Now That the War is Over the Canadian Government Will Not Object.

Ottawa, June 26.—A cable has been received here from Lord Kitchener stating that the members of the Canadian contingent in South Africa are applying for their discharge and asking if the Canadian government has any objection to this being granted. Now that the war is over it is evident that the wishes of Canadians are thinking of returning or striking out for themselves in South Africa. The government will not object.

Senate Cannot Interfere.
It will be remembered that during the session of 1898 the Dominion government decided to hand over to the province of Manitoba, by way of advance, $300,000 on account of the school lands endowment. The province, however, refused to accept the money, but the Senate prevented the transfer, and the government being carried out. The payment of interest money and rental, is beyond the control of the Senate, its payment being simply a matter of administration.

Government Will Pay.
The Dominion government has decided to pay over to the government of Manitoba the interest which has been collected on the deferred payments of school lands. A cheque for $224,114 has therefore been ordered by the interior department for this amount, which will be forwarded to the Manitoba government at once.

New Judge.

GRANVILLE H. HAYES CHARGED WITH FRAUD

Sensational Litigation Instituted by Capt. Irving Over Transaction in Hayes's Mining Stock.

In the police court this morning Granville H. Hayes, the well-known mining operator, who is connected with the Hayes mine at Albert, was summoned on a charge of having procured a considerable sum of money from Capt. John Irving on false pretences. Hayes was charged with having obtained $1,250 each, the bondsman being Messrs. The Honourable Lavey and Gavin Burns. H. S. Robertson, appeared for the plaintiff and J. Peters for the defendant.

The case arises from a transaction now entered in the Supreme court to which Capt. Irving claims that a certain agreement entered into between himself and Mr. Hayes shall be cancelled, and that all moneys paid under it by plaintiff shall be refunded.

The statement of claim set forth that on or about August 30, 1900, Capt. Irving entered into an agreement with Mr. Hayes that they should together purchase 10,000 shares in the Nainimit Mining Company, which owned the Hayes mine, at a cost of $250 per share. Part of the agreement was that plaintiff and defendant should jointly execute a promissory note for $25,000 and interest, and that the shares should be deposited as collateral security. At the time of or before the execution of the note, Hayes was manager for the Nainimit company at Albert, and had full knowledge of the value and condition of the property known as the Hayes mine.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant represented that the mine contained one body amounting to 70,000 tons of ore, carrying 10 per cent. copper, and that it was worth $500,000, and that it would be sold prior to the maturity of the promissory note at a figure which would enable the purchaser of the stock to double their money.

The plaintiff also alleges that the defendant represented that the 10,000 shares were the property of third parties in Portland, while in truth they were the property of the defendant. That he had expended $28,000 under the agreement and defendant had only paid $1,200 towards interest on the note.

From Hilo, the sky in the direction of the volcano resembles a great storm cloud by day, and at night the flaming torch above the crater can be seen for many miles by persons on board vessels passing the island. In the vicinity of the crater the earth trembles almost constantly and a subterranean rumbling is heard. It is believed a still greater eruption is coming.

In a Well.
Paris, Ont., June 25.—Joshua Sanford is imprisoned on the Skelly farm at the bottom of an 86 foot well. He has been in his perilous position for 32 hours, in spite of all efforts to rescue him, but he is still alive and well. Sanford had been several times spoken to down the tubing, and he replies he is well and fairly comfortable, but is naturally impatient to be released. At 6 o'clock this morning he took his resources to dig another well besides the original one, and not attempt to dig out the old one. This was at once begun, but at the time of writing they have only gone about 40 feet. A large crowd of well-wishers gathered to-day, but unfortunately a very limited number can work at a time. There are no hopes of getting him out before to-morrow afternoon if not later.
