The Andover Amateur Dramatic Club The Andover Amateur Dramatic Club-played The Spy of Gettysburg in Bert-ron's Opera House, on Friday evening. A large and appreciative audience attended the performance, and generally applauded the decidedly excellent acting. Where all the different roles were so well enacted, it would be unfair to particularize. The following ladies and gentlemen took part: Thomas Lewson, H. Lee Bedell, Fred. W. Hoyt, C. H. Elliott, LeBaron Hofkins, Perley LeB. Miles, Misses Helen S. Tibbitts, L. Dougherty, and Mrs. H. Lee Bedell. A large number accompanied the club from Andover and after the performance a cocial dance was held and thereughly enjoyed by the visitors and

Perhaps the town council may compel the companies to adopt more equi-table and satisfactory rates. Even if the companies have obtained permission to erect their poles along the streets of the town, the same power that granted the franchise can withdraw the privilege. The town will probably enact a bye-law regarding the height, placing, and painting of telephone poles on the public streets.

ST. GEORGE.

St. George, April 7—The concert in Coutts hall Easter Monday evening for the benefit of the band was largely attended, filling the building from the pit to the realm of the gods.
