

MAKING A WILL.

There are scores, if not hundreds, of Baptists who, if they do not give all they ought while living, should make a will, and give at their decease. Will not the Pastors see to it, that every one whom they can influence, and to whom God has given more than they can expend while living, and more than their families will need when they are gone, shall early make a will and secure bequests for this Missionary work, that will amply make a will be no longer here to give it personally.
