

THE MANITOBA BREWERY COMPANY.

Sydney Smith says—"What two ideas are more inseparable than beer and Britannia!—what event more awfully important to an English colony than the erection of its first brew-house!"

We do not mean by quoting the above that the Manitoba Brewery is the first establishment of the kind erected in our midst—but we can safely say that it is the largest and best furnished in every respect. The capacity of the building and plant for brewing is very great, and we understand that a practical brewer has been engaged, direct from England for the purpose of turning out a first class article. The prospect of a cool glass of clear amber ale next summer is delicious, and the Manitoba Brewing Company say that we will have it. They expect to be in operation some time next month. We wish them success.
