

ORANGIES CELEBRATE

Moosomin, July 13.—It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that Orangemen's day of 1907 will be looked back upon by the members of the local Orange lodge as being one of the most notable for many years. The weather conditions were all that could be desired (Mr. Foster, the weather man being on his good behavior again) crowds flocked into town, beautiful decorations of all kinds met the eye at every turn, and in fact everything that could be done was done to make the glorious twelfth a success.

From early morn till late at night exhilarating music rolled up from the drum and fife, and the Oddfellows' and Whitewood bands. The procession was the largest of the kind ever seen here, and the streets were thronged throughout the day with happy sight-seers.

At intervals in the line of march, arches were erected on the streets. These were decorated with flags and ensigns, and the Orangemen in parade passed under them. The long line of men, over three hundred, in the handsome regalia of the order, with banners waving and fife and drums playing, made a martial appearance and one that will long linger in the memories of those who witnessed it.

At 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. the trains arrived from the west bringing large numbers of brethren and visitors from various towns along the line, and these were met by the local Orangemen and given a warm welcome.

At two o'clock the various lodges formed up and after a parade through the principal streets a start was made for the Turf Club grounds. The order of procession was as follows: Oddfellows' band, Moosomin lodge, Summerberry lodge, Ellesboro lodge, Fleming lodge, Whitewood lodge and band, Rocanville lodge, Broadview lodge, Silver Creek lodge. The sight of this vast procession winding its way from the grounds to the town, with their banners waving drums beating, and the fine music of the various bands was certainly not easily forgotten.

Arrived at the grounds the parade dismissed and all and sundry gathered around the platform erected to hear loyal speeches from Provincial Grand Master Young, Rev. Walsh, G. C., Rev. Chisholm, Dr. Ellis, M.L.A., and A. B. Gillis, M.L.A.

ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Dr. McInnis Goes to Cabinet Unopposed—Precedent For Brandon

Brandon, July 16.—Hon. S. W. McInnis was today returned by acclamation for Brandon City, the election being necessitated by his appointment as Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education in the Manitoba government.

Hon. S. W. McInnis, when seen later, was particularly well pleased with the result of the nominations, and in there being no contest. He said it was the easiest election he ever won, and he believed it was the first time a Conservative had been elected by acclamation in Brandon. The newly elected minister said he intended to take actively the educational problems of the province, especially as regards the education of foreign children, of which there were many thousands in the province, and only a very small percentage of whom were attending schools.
