The Way to Keep Down the Cost of Living:

Buy Your Groceries, Teas & Coffees From WENTZELL'S Limited.
From one end of the Province to the other WENTZELL'S LIMITED is known as the "Big Store." It is known as a store having a big stock, a big variety, and giving big value—the only part that is small is the price.

WENTZELL'S LIMITED buy in the very largest quantities direct from sources of supply. Having ample capital, they pay cash, thus securing everything at the very lowest market price.
The policy of the "Big Store" is "large sales and small profits." This has built up a tremendous business, nothing like it east of Montreal. That's the reason why the "Big Store" prices are always so reasonable, and why you can keep down the cost of living if you trade here.

Free Delivery Offer.
We prepay the freight on all orders amounting to $10.00 and over, except for such heavy goods as sugar, flour, molasses, salt, oil, etc.
If your name is not on our mailing list, send it along, so that you will receive our catalogue and special lists as they are published.

Waiting.

Scene I fold my hands and wait
Nor care for wind, nor tide, nor sea;
I wait for mine "without time or fate,
For to my own soul to give to me,
I say my haste, I make delays,
For what avails this eager pace?
I stand amid the eternal ways,
And what is mine shall know my face.
Asleep, awake, by night or day,
The friends I seek are seeking me,
No wind can drive my barque astray,
Nor change the tide of destiny.
What matter if I stand alone,
I wait with joy the coming year,
The soul shall know my face,
No flower the good shall ever see,
Unto the soul of pure delight,
The stars come nightly to the sky,
The tidal waves unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.

The Birthday Present.

Late October and a grey morning tingling to gold through the warming mist. A large, comfortable dining-room smelling faintly of Chrysanthemums and more strongly of coffee and breakfast dishes. In the heart a great fire, throwing its flames about as with joy of life. The table cloth, the silver, the dishes, the carpet on the floor, the side board, the pictures on the wall—paper told of wealth and ease, the fruits of peace, and the arrangement of these things told of the good taste which is so essentially the fruit of long peace.

The room was empty, and the first to enter it that morning was the Mother. She was a tall, imposing woman and her little mannerisms were of the kind that the latter day novelists have delighted to use as matter for their irony. It was the Boy's birthday—his eighteenth birthday, the first he had spent at home since he had been going to his preparatory and his public school. So she placed by the usual routine to place the side of his napkin the neat little parcel she had brought down with her. Two of them were from her other sons fighting in France. They were a very affectionate family—father and mother and three sons.

After that she went to her husband's end of the table and looked through the heap of letters placed there as usual by the admittable butler. It was understood of old that she opened letters but those addressed to her, no even the letters from the fighting sons when they happened to write to their father instead of to her.

This time, however, her eye caught at once, between the edges of the others, an official envelope, and lower yet, another. She became rigid and stood for a minute by the table, her mind running vaguely into endless depths. Then she put her hand on and picked the envelopes from the heap and saw that her tears might not be groundless. But they were addressed to her husband, and at the moment she heard his tread and his slight cough as he came slowly down the stairs. Hastily she pushed them back among the others and went to her place. When he came into the room she was busy with the tin.

As usual he was just putting his handkerchief back; as usual he looked out of the window, then walk down to the fire and warmed his hands, and at the moment he heard his tread and his slight cough as he came slowly down the stairs. Hastily she pushed them back among the others and went to her place. When he came into the room she was busy with the tin.

S.S. Empress for Bay Route.

THE C. P. R. steamer Empress recently took the place of the S.S. Yarmouth between St. John, N.B., and Digby. The Empress is an ideal passenger and freight boat. She has all the accommodations of an Atlantic liner and the fittings hardly can be surpassed for convenience. Her staterooms are large and well furnished with all that is necessary, while her saloon is very commodious and occupies most of the length of the ship. Like the stateroom the saloon is furnished and upholstered in plush, while the chairs are roomy and comfortable. To the passenger travelling for pleasure or business the main thing is comfortable accommodation and no better can be found on any larger steamship than the Empress possesses. The ship also possesses a post office where letters, etc. can be posted without looking up the purser.
Another feature is a covered observation look-out situated at the stern of the steamer, where there are clear views all around, and also sheltered from rain and high winds. In fact, the Empress is fitted out with all the necessities for the comfort of the traveller.
The Empress machinery is of the latest design, such as triple expansion engines and all other new devices in marine equipment. She was built at Newcastle-On-Tyne in 1908. She is an iron vessel of 1,342 tons gross and 612 registered. She is 235 feet in length, 34 breadth of beam and 20 feet in depth. Her engines are of 368 horse power. She was on the route between Shediac and Summerside for nine years.

Hints For Campers.

- FOR THE SAKE OF THE TREES.
1. Don't throw your match away until you are sure it is out.
 2. Don't drop cigarette or cigar butts until the glow is extinguished.
 3. Don't knock out your pipe ashes while hot or where they will fall into dry leaves or other inflammable material.
 4. Don't build a camp fire any larger than is absolutely necessary.
 5. Don't build a fire against a tree, a log, or a stump, or anywhere but on bare soil.
 6. Don't leave a fire until you are sure it is out; if necessary smother it with earth or water.
 7. Don't burn brush or refuse in or near the woods if there is any chance that the fire may spread beyond your control, or that the wind may carry sparks where they would start a new fire.
 8. Don't be any more careless with fire in the woods than you are with fire in your own home.
 9. Don't be idle when you discover a fire in the woods. If you can't put it out yourself, get help. Where a forest guard or fire ranger can be reached, call him up on the nearest telephone you can find.
 10. Don't forget that human thoughtlessness and negligence are the causes of more than half of the forest fires in this country, and that the smallest spark may start a conflagration that will result in loss of life and destruction of timber and young growth valuable not only for lumber but for their influence in helping to prevent flood, erosion, and drought.

Kitchen Helps.

In order to keep lettuce fresh for an indefinite time put the head in a glass containing water and place it in the icebox or some other cool, dark place. The roots will absorb the water, which should be changed daily, and keep the lettuce fresh and crisp.
If you would save your hands from unsightly vegetable stains always peel or scrape potatoes, turnips, etc., under warm running water.
When your grocer sends you hard lemons and you want them for immediate use let them stand for a few hours in water as they will soon become soft and juicy.
A home "cold storage" for eggs may be made by placing two inches of wood ashes in the bottom of a tin pail. In this stand on the small end as many fresh eggs as will fit easily without letting them touch. Over these sift a couple of inches of ashes and adjust another layer of eggs. When the pail is full cover it tightly and put in a cool place and the eggs will keep perfectly for an indefinite time.

Afterthoughts.

Invest a little money in bonds—of friendship.
When business gets bad go hunting—new business.
Forgive your troubles—by remembering your blessings.
Smile with every one—and never at any one.
Believe every man innocent—until he is proved innocent.
Be game—but not over-eggy.
Lift the fallen—and catch the falling.

Wilfred Gagne,
Prop of Grand Central Hotel,
Drummondville, Aug. 3, '04.
The "phone rang. 'Is this the office of the Daily Squawk?' a voice said.
'It is.'
'Well, then, I want you to insert this death notice: 'Col. Jones has gone to rest,' in an appropriate place.'
'The next morning it read: 'Col. Jones has gone to rest in an appropriate place.'
Sit down and think it over and you will discover that if you had kept your mouth shut all day yesterday the world would be just as well off to-day.

To Check A Cold.

It is easy to check a cold if you begin in time. Frequent doses of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine keep the cough loose, allay the inflammation and so prevent it spreading to the bronchial tubes and lungs. Mrs. S. M. Moore, Shortwood, B. C., writes: "I wish to state my gratitude to Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, for it cured a cold which a friend said would soon put me in the grave."
