Cowardly Attack.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In a recent issue of the Plaindealer I notice a letter signed "Non-Unionist," and in it he proves himself an "understood fact" to the readers of Fortune Harbour to be alluding to a certain lady, but we can assure him he is making one of the mistakes of his lifetime. The letter signed "Unionist" was not her composition.

He ("Non-Unionist") has made a cowardly, unwarranted, and ungentlemanly attack on a lady, and I can assure him she is not affected any; she still has the good wishes of those around her, which is worth a great deal.

As to the higher ability, etc., the lady in question had, and still has ability to discharge the duties of her station in life. Her efforts of the past have been crowned with marked success, and harmony, as the records of those years will prove, and one may add with more ability than that displayed in the selection of her successors.

"Non-Unionist" wants to know if this lady had her finger in the pie, well, if so, it was her own pie, and now since justice has been satisfied its none of Non-Unionists business about it. If "Non-Unionist" is the person the writer thinks, he has a decided weakness for putting his fingers into other peoples' pies, thereby getting himself into many squabbles. Probably, it is not the person I think, but the wording of the letter suggests a certain gentleman, "to my mind."

Anyway if he is brave enough to come out over his own name I can explain more fully. One thing is certain he has acted meanly, degradingly, when he accuses her of being the author of the letter signed "Unionist."

I can assure both Liberal and Non-Unionist no dark cloud overshadowed her, on the contrary I believe her sky is bright and clear, and if the above mentioned parties were as happy over the whole business as she is, they would attend to more important duties than writing false accounts of squabbles or anything else.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain,
Yours sincerely,

In Search of the Coal Talkers.
The fine warm weather is approaching, the soil is free from frost, but not a sound is heard of our coal areas. All are silent on the matter, the controversialists who argued in the frosty season have laid down their pens and pencils and have taken up their abode in some quiet secluded spot where householders cannot reach them with a shovel. Stormy days in winter seem to be the only time that authorities on coal areas talk of digging up coal, but when the season arrives suitable for driving a pick axe in the ground, not a drum is heard nor yet a funeral note, isn't it about time that this farce should be called off, for it is cruel to be arousing hope in the breasts of the over-burdened family man that coal is coming at a cheaper rate, and then for him to realize that all the discussion that we had last winter was nothing more than putting in time at a dreary season. There's a splendid chance for some fellow to raise to a Knighthood if he can solve the coal question in warm weather, his name will be on Jim Crooks, but we sigh for the man who will start a coal controversy in the papers next winter. The individual who will tackle that job, should put on an extra thousand on "his life" for the sake of his wife and family.

Pleads For Strong Empire.

London, May 26.—Presiding at the Empire Day demonstration organized by the Imperial Mission in Queen's Hall on Saturday night, Lord Charles Beresford said he believed the overseas nations realized more than the people of this country the necessity of consolidating the component parts of the Empire into one whole. They saw more clearly what imperialism meant, and were always teaching their children the meaning of imperialism.

We were getting very limp over here, he said, but we had a lot of flabby sentimentality that had better be buried. We seemed to be fearful of holding the great possessions which our ancestors had won for us. There were a lot of people running about with their tails between their legs and apologizing that their cardinal object was peace, and who could not look on the possibility of war without a shudder.

He wanted to see a Council of Imperial Defence instead of the Committee of Imperial Defence, and he wanted to see all the great dominions represented so that they could get sound judgment on Imperial affairs based on facts as they were, and not on things as they could, or should, or ought to be, as the pessimists said. The British Empire had done more for civilization, for freedom of religion, for liberty, and for progress than all the rest of the world put together.

Mr. Watt, Premier of Australia, said there was no cause for anxiety about the Empire, but he added that there was much need for clear and hard thinking as to what steps should be taken to link the Mother Country closer to her scattered children. The time had come when a consolidation of the forces of government must receive consideration. The object of the Imperial thinker should be to translate the sentiments which at present held them together into a more organic life. More frequent family councils must be held, councils about defence, trade, population, and about general government. He considered the judgment of the British statesman should be better understood by those who were responsible for the government of the outlying parts. The family should trade together more than they did at present.

From The Musty Past.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I give four reasons in defence for sending you a copy of the following old letter. 1st, The salmon fishery is now about commencing; 2nd, It was announced that the Home Rule Bill was to come before the House of Commons to-day for its second reading; 3rd, The war between the Turks and the Balkan Allies about ended; and 4th, It will soon be time to talk about the fluctuations of the fish markets.

I often wonder when reading over old correspondence whether our business men of to-day take the same keen interest in colonial and national affairs that the old traders did in days gone by.

Yours truly,
RECORDS.

Twillingate, June 2, 1913.

Poole, 18th April, 1829.

Dear Sir,—Referring to our conversation at last fall, I beg to make you an offer for fifty tierces of salmon towards dispatching the "Salby" for Leghorn this season; and I have no doubt the terms, connected with the convenience of having the salmon taken from and the goods in return taken to your premises, will render the transaction worth your attention.

Mr. & Co. will give you sixty-five shillings per tierce on the spot (casks included) and goods in return at five per cent. under our selling price at the time, and a part of it, say to the amount of Ten Pounds in cash if you wish it. Provided, the salmon be shipped off as early as ours from Bay, so as not to detain the vessel. Mr. will forward you this and communicate with you upon the subject.

The only pieces of news of any importance and which has excited the utmost public attention for some time past is the Catholic emancipation which is now completed and become the law of the land—by a Bill just passed the Legislature admitting them to all situations except those of Lord Lieut. of Ireland and Lord Chancellor. I have no doubt myself but the resolution on the part of the Duke of Wellington and Mr. Peel, even at the expense of character for consistency, to perform the act of justice towards an ill-treated part of our fellow subjects, will be followed by very beneficial results to society generally.

Portugal still continues under the same state of anarchy it has been for some time, almost to the disgrace of humanity itself, tho' we have a report that our Government are at length determined to interfere, by sending out troops to Lisbon.

The Russians and Turks are still at loggerheads but I have no doubt this summer will finish the business. The French and English governments seem determined to remain strictly neutral if possible, and manifest I think a strong determination to continue the peace of Europe generally.

The fish markets have lately fluctuated a good deal and a few have made good hits but nothing important as a general effect in the trade.

Under the best wishes for yourself and family,
I remain,
Dear Sir,
Very truly Yours,

Nickel's Fine Programme

The Nickel Theatre was largely patronized again last evening. Now that the stores are closed the new patrons of this popular house of entertainment will be able to attend each performance without inconveniencing themselves. The programme was of the highest merit and afforded the greatest pleasure and satisfaction to all. There were four splendid subjects, the two principal being a thrilling detective drama entitled "Exposed" by the "Dictograph" and the great comedy the "Kaiserhammer Kids." The latter are well known, especially in the Canadian and United States press. They kept city folk in roars of laughter last night, and it is hoped they will appear often. Misses Geurin and Gardner sang well and were warmly applauded.

The funeral of the late James Buckley, the victim of the drowning tragedy at Kent's Pond, took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended. At the Cathedral prayers for the dead were recited by Rev. Father O'Callaghan. Interment was at Belvedere Cemetery.

At It Again.

Not long ago the Telegram drew the attention of the authorities and the public to the wanton destruction going on in the city and characterized it as vandalism. At that time no fewer than 12 arc lights had been broken on the streets and it was thought that the discussion which ensued would cure this spirit of mischief in boys, who it was known were the perpetrators. The exposure has not had the desired effect for no later than the past week 8 more city lights, 6 of the largest size, have been broken with stones. The police are investigating and it is to be hoped will be successful in capturing the culprits who should have no mercy shown them.

A Welcome Find.

During the spring, a resident of Topsail lost $60, which he had in his possession and though he searched the houses, stables and outhouses, he could not find it. He was certain however, that he lost it about the place. A few days ago he was putting some stable manure over his ground and was surprised and pleased to see the notes which he mourned so long, before his eyes. He evidently dropped them and they were covered with soil.

Mr. Matthews, of Wesley Church, will be the speaker at to-night's service, and the Citadel band will furnish music. All are welcome; every seat is free.—Com.
