

THEY NEVER DIE.
The cheering word in sorrow's hour
Spoken by trusty friend;
The helping hand stretched forth to save
When life seemed near its end
The kindly act, discreetly done,
When trouble hovered nigh;
The memory of things like these
Can never, never die.

A REVERIE.
I am alone to-night; and o'er my mind is stealing Memories of days long past, a strange and weird feeling.
And, as I sit in silence, in sort of waking dream,
The scenes of by-gone years come back, of yesterday they seem.

The thoughts of hours of happiness, of others
passed in grief,
Of care and pain and trouble, of glad and
bright relief;
And ever changing, varying, these scenes of earlier days
Are passing now before me, in sort of dreamy haze

And now, in hours of childhood, those free
and happy hours
I seem to tread, with careless step, when no
cloud of darkness lowers,
And now in darker, stormier days, I hoping,
fearing stand
Then, on a sudden from trouble free, led by a guiding hand.

Onward thus from year to year these changing visions glide
From darkest night to brightest day, borne back on memory's tide.
I ponder thus on scenes, now past of darkness and of light
And, if the first was gloomy, the end was always bright.

Though hours of darkness I have spent, sorrowful and distressed,
Yet all these troubles had an end, they seem-
all for the best;
And hours of quiet happiness, Ah! would they were once more!

But life can never remain the same, and dark clouds oft pass o'er.
Of pleasure, mirth and happiness, of trouble,
and of care
We all are made partakers, we all must have our share;
That we must taste of sorrow as well as joy
"is true."

And, though "Man was made to mourn," yet
he has pleasures too.
But why should I recall the past, its griefs,
its hopes and fears?
The present that is precious, not those departed years;
Yet still it's human nature to think on days
of yore,
To ponder o'er, in solitude, scenes that have gone before.

Remember the Store—THE GOLDEN LION—where the once wonderful John Hogg was, and where the now wonderful J. D. WILLIAMSON is. Although unprincipled men have been trying to impose on the people that the Lion has been moved up street, the Lion is still in the old spot, next door to Mr. John Horsman's, Lower Wyndham street. Where the Lion is, there the Bargains are.

back again to serve them.

I wish it to be distinctly understood that I have no connection with any Golden Lion, in Guelph or elsewhere, as my New Store only contains New Goods fresh from the Looms. I have no old Shop-keepers' to palm off. My prices for the Best and most Stylish, fresh and New Goods are 20 per cent under the old prices charged for Stuff in the other Stores.

"DOWN WITH HIGH PRICES."

Twenty-one years ago I commenced a War of Extermination against long prices and long profits—and I succeeded; but, alas, on my retirement from the Mercantile business four years ago, again the thirst for long prices and long profits began to show Signs of Life, and has continued up to this present time.

But, lo! what a Commotion there is now in the Camp of long prices and long profits, and well may there be that Commotion, because the WONDERFUL JOHN HOGG is up and at it again.

CLEAR THE TRACK!—Look at the immense throng about his Store. The Public appreciate an ENTERPRISING man and support him.

Call at once at the New Store, Upper Wyndham Street, Guelph. Ask for John Hogg himself, as many who would like to be John Hogg do not hesitate to deceive strangers enquir- ing for that Wonderful Man.

All branches of the business carried on.

Tailoring done to order. The finest assortment of all kinds of Coatings, Vestings, and Trousers in the Dominion.

Ready-made clothing in Men's, Youths, and Boys' sizes, 25 per cent under anything in Guelph.

My general Stock of Goods is stirring up the Slow Coaches and making them open their eyes, saying "Hogg is losing Money."

REFORM, not only in the high prices changed, but in the quality of Goods offered to the Public.

The Public may at all times feel safe while I am in the business. I shall keep a watchful eye not only on the character of the Goods offered but on the prices charged.

Yours Truly,
JOHN HOGG.
