

Subscription prices: Twelve months in advance, $12.00; six months, $7.00; three months, $4.00.

City subscribers for the World would do us a favor by reporting at the office any irregularity in the delivery of the paper.

Persons leaving town for the season, and regular travellers, can have THE DAILY WORLD mailed to them, postpaid, for twenty-five cents a month.

THE TRAGEDY AT WASHINGTON. The tragic event at Washington on Saturday will call forth the sympathy of all peoples for the American nation and its chief magistrate.

It is said that George Eliot used to feel especially sad over the prodigal waste of force throughout the world.

For the last few years scientists have regarded it almost as an axiom of physical science that any one kind of force is capable of being converted into the same amount of any other kind.

One effect of Saturday's event will be to strengthen the hands of those European rulers who are seeking for fresh international measures against political assassinations.

stewart Republicans, and was easily prejudiced by them. He was an ambitious man, eager to occupy some leading position, and without moral principle to control his actions or regulate his conduct.

The lessons of the tragedy are so plain that he may run who would teach them. The civil service ought to be reformed, and party feeling ought to be abated.

Let us learn the lessons of the Washington tragedy: let us reform our civil service, and let us cultivate moderation of speech.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE FALLS. It is said that George Eliot used to feel especially sad over the prodigal waste of force throughout the world.

For the last few years scientists have regarded it almost as an axiom of physical science that any one kind of force is capable of being converted into the same amount of any other kind.

One effect of Saturday's event will be to strengthen the hands of those European rulers who are seeking for fresh international measures against political assassinations.

There are two things tolerably clear in this business. One is, that the assassin was a disappointed office-seeker; that he stewart Republicans, and was easily prejudiced by them. He was an ambitious man, eager to occupy some leading position, and without moral principle to control his actions or regulate his conduct.

The lessons of the tragedy are so plain that he may run who would teach them. The civil service ought to be reformed, and party feeling ought to be abated.

Let us learn the lessons of the Washington tragedy: let us reform our civil service, and let us cultivate moderation of speech.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE FALLS. It is said that George Eliot used to feel especially sad over the prodigal waste of force throughout the world.

For the last few years scientists have regarded it almost as an axiom of physical science that any one kind of force is capable of being converted into the same amount of any other kind.

One effect of Saturday's event will be to strengthen the hands of those European rulers who are seeking for fresh international measures against political assassinations.

There are two things tolerably clear in this business. One is, that the assassin was a disappointed office-seeker; that he stewart Republicans, and was easily prejudiced by them. He was an ambitious man, eager to occupy some leading position, and without moral principle to control his actions or regulate his conduct.

The lessons of the tragedy are so plain that he may run who would teach them. The civil service ought to be reformed, and party feeling ought to be abated.

Let us learn the lessons of the Washington tragedy: let us reform our civil service, and let us cultivate moderation of speech.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE FALLS. It is said that George Eliot used to feel especially sad over the prodigal waste of force throughout the world.

For the last few years scientists have regarded it almost as an axiom of physical science that any one kind of force is capable of being converted into the same amount of any other kind.

One effect of Saturday's event will be to strengthen the hands of those European rulers who are seeking for fresh international measures against political assassinations.

There are two things tolerably clear in this business. One is, that the assassin was a disappointed office-seeker; that he

FOR THE HOT WEATHER.

After long delay, the hot weather has come upon us with a rush, and

JAMIESON, THE GREAT CLOTHIER,

He can show the finest assortment of LIGHT, BREEZY CLOTHING in the city, at the lowest possible prices.

JAMIESON, OAK HALL.

Such bargains were never offered in Toronto before. We are determined to make this Sale the grandest and most successful ever held in Toronto.

W.M. MYERS, Surgeon Dentist. Office and Residence, No. 77 King Street West.

MAIL PRINTING CO. JOB DEPARTMENT NOW OPEN. Everything First Class. FINE PRINTING, PROMPT AND CHEAP.

STEAM LAUNDRY. LACE CURTAINS, GOTTEN UP IN SUPERIOR MANNER. 60c. and 75c. Per Pair.

F. DIVER & CO., Electro & Stereotypers, OF EVERY DESCRIPTION. DESIGNING AND ENGRAVING ON WOOD.

EBONY. Preserves the Leather! BRILLIANT. Cheapest and Best Dressing in the Market. BLACKING.

C. POTTER, Optician, 21 KING STREET, TORONTO. Makes a specialty of giving in easy fits, so that the will not tire the eye. 30 years' experience.

RETAIL CLOTHING.

FOR THE HOT WEATHER.

After long delay, the hot weather has come upon us with a rush, and

JAMIESON, THE GREAT CLOTHIER,

JAMIESON, OAK HALL.

Such bargains were never offered in Toronto before. We are determined to make this Sale the grandest and most successful ever held in Toronto.

J. B. COOK, THE PHOTOGRAPHER, Albert Hall.

J. DIXON, Photographer, 201 and 203 YONGE STREET.

MICKLETHWAITE'S RAPID PROCESS PICTURES. GALLERY, Cor. Jarvis and King-sts.

MIRROR AND Picture Frames OF EVERY DESCRIPTION MADE TO ORDER.

DIXON, The Photographer, 31 AND 41 MELINDA STREET TORONTO.

WILKINSON'S RESTAURANT AND CONFECTONERY, 187 YONGE STREET.