MEATH'S EPISCOPAL PASTORAL.

BISHOP NULTY'S SIGNIFICANT NOTE OF

WARNING. LONDON, April 22.—The pastoral of Bishop Nulty, of Meath, issued on Saturday, is creating widespread comment in consequence of the frankness and the independent tone in which he alludes to the misfortune of the apparent clashing of obligations toward the country and toward the Holy Sec. The con-ference of Irish bishops at Rome, he hopes, will remove all causes of conflict by determining clearly what Rome expects.

The present excited and suspicious state of public feeling shows that at any moment dangerous complicatons and misunderstandings night arise between the Irish nation and the Roman See while the nation is desperately pent on securing all social and political anuliorations to its condition.

Any fatal misconception of the objects might drive Ireland into an attitude of dogged and sullen disobedience. What consequences might follow (fod only knows.

"It is a very awful fact," proceeds the Bishop, "that great Catholic nations like France, England and Scotland, are practically apostates from the faith. That fact is sur rounded with very salutary, as well as with very unpleasant warnings. "I do not believe that the Irish nation will ever follow their fatal example; but I do be lieve it would be nothing short of criminal rashness to expose it to danger or temptation of danger. I can find no evidence of Divine promise made to any nation any more than to our own guaranteeing that its faith will in all circumstances be unassailable; neither can I see any solid grounds for believing that there is a special and exceptional providence which would save the Irish multitude any more than Irish individuals from renouncing their allegiance to the Church in a paroxysm or passion, either in retaliation for some imaginable interference with their political freedom, or to avenge an insult or an affront which they might rashly assume had been offered them by the Holy See."

This pastoral is regarded as a formal warn ing to Rome of what I rish prelate expect and

DISASTROUS WATERSPOUT. GREAT DESTRUCTION OF LIFE AND PRO-

PERTY AT MEDICINE LODGE. MEDICINE LODGE, Kas., April 22. A waterspout or cloud-burst, five to twelve feet high, rolled down the Medicine river yesterday and over the low lands east of the city, carrying death in its wake. Several whole families are known to be drowned. Rescuing parties found men, women and children clinging to trees with nothing but their night clothes to protect them, some without any clothing whatever. Three attempts were made to rescue parties beyond the river, but each boat in curn was swamped. Five bodies have been recovered. James Gibbs, daughter and niece were washed away with their home. Mrs. Harris and daughter, aged eieven years, were MEDICINE LODGE, Kas., April 22. A water niece were washed away with their home. Mrs. Harris and daughter, aged eieven years, were found drowned. G. W. Paddock, his wife and four children are thought to be drowned. Frank Shippeler put his wife and child on the roof of his house. The house went down, he was knocked off by a projecting limb and awam ashore several miles below. The fate of his wife and child is unknown. The waterspout was similar to a fixed reported in the Ninnescahe River last night. Additional particulars state that early on Tuesday morning the flood came down, the streams quickly overflowing the bottom lands ten feet deep. A dozon houses were entirely destroyed and dozen houses were entirely destroyed and many occupants drowned, or saved only by many occupants drowned, or saven only by clinging to the branches of trees. In the camps in the bottoms were ten or fifteen camp waggons filled with families. Not half of these have been found. North of here entire families were drowned, others had miraculous escapes. Vesterday and last night the streams were so high that recommend to the communication of the streams. terday and last night the streams were so high that no communication could be had with the east. A relief party was out all night picking up unfortunates. Hundreds of cattle were drowned andmany cropsruined. Hundreds of drad animals also line the banks of Elm creek. Four waggons containing "novers" have not been heard from: it is thought all the occupants perished. No news has been received from the country draw one of the following premiums, as there No news has been received from the country below here, and it is feared serious loss of life has occurred there. The court house here has been turned into a morgue. Other points in the vicinity were flooded, but no loss of life is re-ported. Relief measures have been adopted, and several thousand dollars already subscribed

"AND THE PAPER GOES ON."

The New York Freeman's Journal thus umorously hits a specimen mark : The first rule of the man who writes to an editor, to object to anything, seems to be to seek for a sarcastic remark. Having found it, he harls it at the offending editor through the post office. This tendency of the objectors to editorial dicta gives the impression that, among those that write to an editor the "crank" predominates. It would be a mis-take to think so. The ferocious and almost hebitudinous "crauk" who flings adjectives at the editorial head, is generally in private life an amiable and sensible person. He does not dream of catling his friends mores when they differ from him in opinion. He rarely hurls unpleasant epithets even in the bosom of his family; but let him once get a pen in his hand, to address an editor, and he breathes fire . An editor, in pursuance of his duty, treads on the corns of some person in a remote village. Instantly that person sits down, shakes his ambrosial locks, bends his brows, and takes his pen in hand. Without warning, he deals the awful blow: "Stop my paper?" In his mind, he sees the editor writhing under the weight of his wrath. Because some pet prejudice of his has been ontraged, he deprives himself of a constant friend and instructor. And the paper goes on? A fly has fallen off the wheel and the wheel goes on, but the fly in his little corner says to himself that the wheel cannot possibly go without his assistance.

A TERRIBLE PLOT DISCOVERED. Cuteago, April 22 .- Oito Funk, alias John Talbot, the inedical student who created a sen-sation a year ago as the hero of a plot to blow up the public library by means of an infernal machine, was arrested last evening charged with being engaged in another dynamite scheme. Funk was caught digging a ditch upon the Chicago University grounds, and confessed he was preparing to blow up his sweetheart, Jennie Gibson, as she approached the university along the path she always took when going to class. In the path leading to the university were found two "death traps" carefully concealed beneath
