CURING A COLD. To get rid of a cold, says The Ladies' Home Journal, send to the druggist for a mixture containing sulphate of atropia...

GOOD COUNSEL. Remember, mother, to you is confided the most tender portion of the Lord's vineyard. If you discharge your duties well, then the labor of God's ministers becomes easy and pleasant...

THE KITCHEN.

RICI WAFFLES. Take three teaspoonfuls of sugar, three tablespoonfuls of butter, six eggs, one quart of milk and one and a half pounds of Hecker's self-raising griddle-cake flour...

PEPPER POT.

This delicious and savory stew soup is, indeed, almost a lost art. It is made, according to the old-time recipe as follows: Take a scrap or neck of mutton, a shin of beef, a knuckle of veal and a pound of salt pork...

HOW TO MAKE GOOD CORN BEEF SCRAPPLE.

Purchase a four-pound piece of corned beef, brisket, free of bone, with fat and lean mixed. Put it in a kettle that has a cover, and then pour over it sufficient water to cover it. Put the lid on the kettle and set it on your range or stove where it may cook very slowly for four or five hours...

MEAN WILLS.

Husbands who profess to love their wives intensely, sometimes play them a very mean trick when about to depart for that better land where there is "neither marrying nor giving in marriage." One might suppose that a tender spouse, on the eve of being divorced by death from the partner of his joys and sorrows, would be governed in the disposition of his worldly goods by an earnest desire to render her earthly future a happy one...

See it grow! You won't have to look back far. 1877 was the year when Pearlins started in to take charge of washing and cleaning. It was a new idea; people didn't know about it; when they did find out, they were afraid of it. But look at it now. Every year has been a big advance on the year before — and 1890 a bigger advance than ever...

YOUTHS DEPARTMENT.

TAMING WILD BIRDS. When young I raised many wild birds, and, as the time is coming for their mating and busy season for building and rearing their young, it may give some young folks pleasure to explain the method by which I was perfectly successful.

I watched the nest of such as I desired to get until the young birds were old enough to feed and not old enough to fly or get scared. I then loosened the nest carefully, placed it in a tight cage near the bars, with a ledge outside, from which it might be convenient for the parent bird to feed them. The cage should be hung in some convenient place near where the nest had been located, on a tree or bush, out of the reach of cats. At first the old birds are shy, and manifest their disapprobation by rapid darting around and scolding in loud voices. Yet I never found them to desert their offspring, but feeding them regularly. I would then begin to feed them, too, with a little sweet biscuit, berries, seeds and worms, or some green stuff. The old birds attended them for a time, finally leaving them to my care. There is a current idea that, after they find their young prisoners, the old birds poison them. It is not so, as I have tested it thoroughly. After removing the cage to the house, the old birds, having ceased their care, I fed them in the usual way, paying the same attention to cleanliness, and carefully giving them fresh water for frequent bathing.

Why an Iceberg Floats. Iceberg floats for the same reason that the lump of ice in the pitcher remain upon the surface, because its specific gravity is not so great as that of the water surrounding it; in other words ice is lighter than water. This lightness is caused by air being imprisoned in the water, and in the ice as it is forming. Water shrinks in cooling until it reaches about thirty-nine degrees Fahrenheit. From this point it expands as it cools until the freezing point is reached, at which time the ice occupies a space about one-eleventh greater than its former bulk of water. An iceberg shows only about one-eighth of its bulk; a berg 300 feet high extends over 3,000 feet into the water below.

THE LONG LIFE OF BIRDS.

Birds are, ordinarily, exceedingly long-lived. The swan, it is ascertained by means of unquestionable records, has been known to exist over 300 years. A sea-eagle, captured in 1715, then already several years of age, died 104 year afterwards, in 1819; a white-headed vulture, captured in 1708, died in 1826 in one of the aviaries of Schosensbrunn castle, near Vienna, having passed 118 years in captivity. Numerous ravens and parrots have been known to live 100 years and over. As with most birds magpies live many years in a state of freedom, but do not reach over twenty or twenty-five in captivity. Caged canary birds live from twelve to fifteen years; but those flying at liberty, in their native land reach a far more advanced age.

Good Women.

The modest virgin, the prudent wife, or the careful matron are more serviceable in life than petticoated philosophers, blustering heroes, or virago queens. She who makes her husband and children happy, who claims the one from vice and trains the other to virtue, in a much greater character than ladies described in romance, whose sole occupation is to murder mankind with the shafts from the quiver of the eyes.

Wasted Sweetness.

He bought a guitar and practised for six long weary months. But at the end of that time a smile of joy lit up his wan and weary face, and his brow grew radiant with joy as he inspected the corns on the thumb of his right hand. The hour was 10 p.m., and as he wandered through the stilly night to the boarding house where she lived, and directly under the young, like maggots without legs, were carried. Thousands of males, females and neuters, the latter being soldiers and workers, comprised the line marching forward. Though scattered, a distinguished feature of order and intelligence appeared, as some were going back and forward, stopping an ant here and there to give some order evidently. Following the gutter some fifty feet, climbing rough places, threading tangled grass and weeds like thick forests and jungles, they diverged to the left up a steep, grassy bank almost hidden from view, except a glimpse here and there, like an army marching through a forest, they entered their new home in the ground which had been recently made, as apparent from the fresh excavated dirt. One would suppose that they might have provisions to transport for so large an army until more could be provided, though they may have laid in a supply. Last summer I watched a colony transporting to their village a supply of mullein blossom, a description of which has been published.

Butter.

The butter market is quiet, but the tone is firm. Holders of Western dairy are pretty firm, and there has been some fair business in it within the past few days at 14c, which is about the best that can be done, for we know of a bid of 14c being refused for a good lot. Late made creamery, 23c@24c; earlier makes, 21c@22c; late made townships, 18c@20c; western rolls, 15c@17c; finest western, 14c@15c; medium grades, 10c @ 12c.

An Only Daughter Cured of Consumption.

When death was hourly expected from Consumption, all remedies having failed and Dr. H. James was experimenting, he accidentally made a preparation of Indian Hemp, which cured his only child, and now gives this recipe free on receipt of two stamps to pay expenses. Hemp also cures night sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold in twenty-four hours. Address Craddock & Co., 1032 Race street, Philadelphia, Pa., naming this paper. 23-cow-3.

Timber Churches.

The common tradition, says the Builder, that the timber of old churches were frequently of chestnut, seems to have been exploded by the researches of the French chemist, M. Payen, who produced a large number of pieces for examination, and pronounced that they were not chestnut, added to which, chestnut trees, whatever their abundance in old times, are now extremely rare. We are told that if letters are drawn upon oak and chestnut planks, by means of pure sulphate of iron dissolved in distilled water, the characters appear at once in black upon the oak and in deep violet upon the chestnut, while ammonia produces a short-lived red upon the chestnut, which is much paler and less distinct upon the oak. Another mode of examination is by making sections of the wood, which cannot well be mistaken, as chestnut timber possesses only eccentric layers, while all French and American varieties of oak show the medullary rays crossing the woody fibre from the centre across the circumference.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.

As winter advances and the weather becomes more and more inclement and trying the earliest evidences of ill-health must be immediately checked and removed, or a slight illness may result in a serious malady. Relaxed and sore throat, quinsy, influenza, chronic cough, bronchitis, and most other pulmonary affections will be relieved by rubbing this cooling Ointment into the skin as nearly as practicable to the seat of mischief. This treatment, simple yet effective, is admirably adapted for the removal of these diseases during infancy and youth. Old asthmatic invalids will derive marvellous relief from the use of Holloway's remedies, which have wonderfully relieved many such sufferers, and re-established health after every other means had failed.

Consumption Cured. And old physician, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility, and all nervous complaints. Having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who wish it, this receipt in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using.
