CONSISTENT PERFORMANCE WINS FOR NICHIRIN.

Brantford manufacturer Nichirin Inc. was proud to win a coveted quality performance award in 1994 from Honda of America Mfg. The company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Nichirin Co. Ltd., Kobe, Japan, assembles high pressure hoses for the automobile industry in North America. Nichirin exports 85% of its product to the United States. Its main customers are Honda, Nissan, Cami and Kawasaki. According to Executive Vice-President Frank Johnson, "The most important thing has been the satisfaction with the quality of Nichirin, Inc.'s 200 employees."

EXPANSION FOR JAPANESE-BASED PLASTICS FIRM.

Kuriyama Corporation, based in Osaka, Japan began production of its plastic hoses and tubing in the fall of 1985. Its commercial and industrial products have uses in the food and beverage industry, agriculture and the home. Seventy-five per cent of the company's $12 million annual sales are exported, mainly to the U.S. Company president Clement Matsumoto explains "Brantford is well known for its substantial labour force. It also has good highway access."

HAMILTON PORCELAINS EXPORTS AROUND THE WORLD.

Hamilton Porcelains is a manufacturer of quality ceramic products making its home in Brantford for the past 50 years. It has been owned by the French company Saint-Gobain since 1989. Hamilton Porcelains "imports our raw materials from the U.S. and exports 90% of our products around the world," according to Simon de Boer, Customer Service Manager. "Our Brantford location gives us the advantages needed to compete in the global marketplace".
