My dear Sir Arthur,

While I am here recuperating — a little after a strenuous summer in excavations in France in Prehistoric sites, I was thinking of McGill & its avenues for publications, issuing of volumes as a University Press, or in tying itself with that great model on which McGill was modeled The University of Cambridge.

It is not for me to make comparisons. Yet methods of work of others may be looked into at times.

The Cambridge University Press has no academic affiliation in Canada that I know of & whilst Toronto University is tied (Toronto at least) tied with the Oxford University Press, could not Montreal have the Cambridge
