NATIONAL BASEBALL LEAGUE'S NEW HEAD

John K. Tener, Who Will Be President and Governor at Same Time.

ALTHOUGH John K. Tener, Pennsylvania's governor, who has been selected for election to the National League presidency, will not be free from his gubernatorial duties till January 1, 1915, he will in all probability be able to attend to the chief duties of the new office while still Pennsylvania's chief executive. The annual meeting of the National League, to be held December 8, will see Tener proclaiming Lynch's successor. Upon the expiration of his term as governor he will be able to take complete charge of the league's affairs. It is not thought that the two duties will conflict to any extent, but that Tener will be unable to make occasional trips to New York to confer with officials at the league headquarters. He will be able to take an active part in the selection of the national committee until he becomes a member of that body.

In the selection of Tener, National League officials and magnates feel that they could not have chosen a man more admirably fitted for the post. At one time a major league player himself, he has proven himself in politics to be a youth is interesting. After having finished school his health was so poor that a physician advised him to abandon the clerical work he was then engaged in and go to the outdoors. He had won something of a reputation in semi-pro circles around Philadelphia and was given a tryout with the Philadelphia Athletics. But he was released there before the season was half over and went to Baltimore, where again he was not able to stick. At Haverhill, Mass., however, Tener struck a clip that attracted the admiration of C. P. Anson, then leading the Chicago White Stockings, and Anson gave Tener a place on his pitching staff. For three seasons Tener pitched excellent ball for Chicago and at the end of that time accompanied them on their famous world tour, the first enterprise of the sort ever undertaken. Tener gave up baseball after trotting around the globe with Anson's outfit and engaged himself in politics in Pennsylvania.

A remarkable popularity, due to his engaging manner and personality, won Tener every success in Pennsylvania politics. Since abandoning baseball, a period embracing something over two decades, he has held many county and state offices and acquired a record for efficiency and judicious management that is the pride of all his admirers. Everything seems to point to his coming National League administration as an era of prosperity and content in that troubled and turbulent organization.

Previous to Tener's taking complete charge, Secretary John A. Heydler will be given a little more authority than heretofore, and will negotiate many of the minor affairs that ordinarily would come into the province of the president. However, Tener will pass final judgment on important matters, such as the selection of umpires, the settlement of the disputes between clubs and the decisions of protested games.

First baseman Borton is not naughtily inclined and so he persistently refuses to perform on Hanlan's Island. This President McCaffery has turned him back to Jersey City, happy in the reflection that he still possesses Hugh Bradley and Tim Jordan.

The president has promised to give two local battery artists a trial. They are Catcher Mike Burns and Lefty Martin McQuirrie, both denizens of the Don Valley.

President McCaffery, accompanied by Vice-President Pop Burger, will attend the annual meeting of the International Amateur Athletic Union, to be held at the new schedule arrangement in connection with the Western Association will be the chief topic.

Three applications for the management of the Petrograd Canadian baseball team have been received, and the application most favored is that of Harry Bemis of the Toronto Baseball Club. The Crystal and Eddie Grogan of the Hamilton Club are the other applicants.

In the opinion of President Ban Johnson, not a single major league player has signed a contract with the Federal League, with the probable exception of George Stovall, who recently accepted the management of the Kansas City Federal. Johnson doesn't believe that Baumgardner and Agnew of the St. Louis Browns have jumped to Stovall's club. The American League boss says that Stovall was not treated unfairly by the St. Louis Browns; that all clubs unfairly claim to his services, and that Owner Hedges had a right to send him wherever he pleased.

President Tom Lynch of the National League has announced the following contracts and releases:

Contracts: With Chicago—Edward Macis, 1914; Frank M. Schulte, 1914; Elmer Koestner, probationary and regular contract. By Brooklyn—Unconditional, William F. Dahlen; to New York, Fred M. Walker; to Toronto, R. T. Fisher; by Philadelphia—To Montreal, Roy Miller; by Pittsburgh—To Toronto, Wm. J. Kelley.
