

BY THE EARL OF CROMER.

POLITICAL AND LITERARY ESSAYS. 1908-1913.

8vo. 10s. 6d. net.

OBSERVER.—"Happy, indeed, is he who, having done his day's work, can retire upon such a store of refreshing and varied interests as are represented in this volume."

ATHENEUM.—"Lord Cromer has collected some of his miscellaneous writings, and he deals, in most pleasant fashion, with many matters—with questions of Government, with books and men, and with men as different the one from the other as were Disraeli and Wellington—and under his guidance we often get a peep at what goes on behind the scenes on the political stage. . . . There are many good stories in the book."

POLITICAL AND LITERARY ESSAYS. Second Series.

8vo. 10s. 6d. net.

TIMES.—"The essays show that Lord Cromer is a man not only of wide interests but of wide knowledge. He covers a large field, including modern English biography, France and Germany past and present, the state of the East, various questions of current politics, and a number of subjects so miscellaneous that they extend from the ancient Athenian Empire to the Normans. . . . The three essays on Modern Germany, two of which are devoted to the book recently published by the late Chancellor, Prince Bülow, are eminently worth reading at the present time."

PARAPHRASES AND TRANSLATIONS FROM THE GREEK. Crown 8vo. 5s. net.

THE SITUATION IN EGYPT. 8vo. 1s. net.

DISRAELI. Extra Crown 8vo. 1s. net.

LONDON: MACMILLAN AND CO., LTD.