re have been English Grammar, or French, they had, in a short man | How time, learned more from my books, on those subjects, than they had learned, in years, from their teachers. How many gentlemen have thanked me, in the strongest terms, for my Woodlands and Gardener, observing (just as Lord Bacon had observed in his time) that they had before seen no books, on these subjects, that they could understand. But, I know not of any thing that ever gave me more satisfaction than I derived from the visit of a gentleman of fortune, whom I had never heard of before, and who, about four years ago, came to thank me in person for a complete reformation, which had been worked in his son by the reading of my two ser-, be able to Mons on drinking and on gaming.

8. I have, therefore, done, already, a great deal in this way: but there is still wanting, in a compact form, a body of Aprice such as that which I now propose to give: and in the giving of which I shall divide my matter as follows. 1. Advice addressed to a Youth; 2. Advice addressed to a Bachelon; 3. Advice addressed to a Lover; 4. To a Husband: 5. To a Father; 6. To a Citizen or Subject.

9. Some persons will smile, and others laugh outright, at the idea of "Cobbett's giving advice for conducting the affairs of love." Yes, but I was once young, and surely I may say with the poet, I forget which of them:

> " Though old I am, for ladles' love unfit, The power of beauty I remember yet."
