There Are 1361 Entries of Feathered Aristocracy at the Pavilion.

The Pavilion this week will be occupied by the aristocracy of the feathered world. The eighth annual exhibition of the Toronto Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Association commenced Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will continue until Friday.

There are in all 1361 entries. This is the largest number on record. Mr. Robert Durston reports that these have come from all over the southern part of the province.

The pigeon exhibit is very complete, almost every variety being represented. The birds are in good condition and are being housed, and make a very attractive feature of the exhibition.

A few turkeys and geese are also shown, but the greater part of the exhibit is composed of valuable collection of rare pet birds, which are being shown for the first time.

The chicken exhibit is the prime feature. All classes of breeds are represented, and the little bantams are particularly interesting. The exhibit this year is of a most unusual character.

There is also a large number of new varieties and a large number of birds being shown. Just these birds were judged yesterday, with this result:

But Wyandotte, hen, H. A. Small, 1; Mrs. Shales, 2; Charles Grimesy, 3. Single-combed white game cock, F. Wilson, 1; Wolfe & Mason, 2. Hens, 1; Wolfe & Mason, 2.

BRUTALITY OF AN INDIAN

Drink-Crazed, He Burns His Wife With a Red Hot Iron.

THEN TRIES TO CHOP HER HEAD OFF

Escapes From Jail, and Attacks His Wife a Second Time—Now at Large.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 7.—A horrible atrocity, which will likely result in the death of the victim, was perpetrated Sunday night at Garden River, a Canadian Indian reservation 12 miles from here.

A half-breed, loaded up with fire water, went on a rampage, terrorizing half the inhabitants of the village, and wound up at home. He gave his wife a terrible beating, and then burned her side and face with a red-hot iron.

The poor woman, shrieking with agony, managed to escape from the house, crawling on her hands and knees. She had not gone far when the drink-crazed brute followed her with an axe and tried to chop off her head, but was prevented from striking more than one blow by his neighbors and other help which arrived.

The woman had received a glancing cut from the axe, and was picked up senseless and covered with blood.

Bucanaw was overpowered and taken to the town of Bucanaw, which already had been broken down the door and went to his home, where he attempted to cut his wife's throat with a pocket knife.

He was fought off by attendants, and then escaped across the river to Sugar Island, on the northern shore of the bay.
