continued decline.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell at the close:

Wheat—The action of foreign markets, especially Liverpool, exerted an influence locally that bordered on demoralization, and had it not been that shorts availed themselves of the opportunity to secure profits to advantage, values would undoubtedly have reached a lower level than that recorded, twhich was the lowest on the crop; as an evidence that the invisible supply is larger than heretofore supposed the world's visible increased, four million bushels for the week. The decline brought out but little demand for cash wheat, either here or in outside markets. The elimination of the short interest, which was practically accomplished to-day, leaves the market without much support, and, while there may be some recovery, we do not expect it to be very extensive, and on a rally advise sales.

Corn and oats were rather weak early, but in the late trading a good demand developed, which railied prices a cent. The corn situation is very bullish, and eventually it will sell much higher.

Provisions developed independent Provisions developed independent strength. The hog movement has turned, and smaller receipts and higher prices may be expected.

R R Bongard (Charles Head & Co.)

They knew, or thought they knew, that the knew, that the Electrical Development Company was up against it—or, to put it in plain language, were not making enough money to pay interest on the company's bonds. With this knowledge, it was assumed that something must be done. The company had outstanding obligations of over $8,000,000, bearing 5 per cent, per annum. Against this it is said (and this is here-sey, as the company has refused to give out any information,) that the total output of power has not been sufficient to meet the interest on the outstanding bonds.

stock and the entire control of the company.

The surmise that the York Radial system will be used to guarantee the new bond issue is not taken to indicate that the Electrical Development Company will become merged with the radials. If it retains its separate entity, as it doubtless will do, the three million common stock promises to again become a stock market feature and to return to the syndicate a big return for nothing.
