Stockwell v. Doty Engine Works Co.—
F. D. Davis for plaintiff. W. Proudfoot, K.C., for defendant. The action herein arises over the sale of a steamer, Lincoin, by defendants to plaintiff, at the price of $12,000. Plaintiff alleges that he paid $9000 on account of purchase money of said steamer, and claimed that defendants had not performed their contract as to rebuilding, etc., and that the workmanship put on said boat was defective, that defendants improperly took the boat away from plaintiff and resold to another for $10,000, a less sum than the value thereof. Defendants denied part of these allegations and set up statements explanatory of the reason for their other actions. Judgment (B.). On cross-examination the plaintiff admitted that the whole trouble was that defendants should have got $12,000 for the boat instead of selling for $10,000. But he allowed the sale to go thru without objection and never, in fact, complained until he issued his writ, four months afterwards. The action is dismissed, with costs. Thirty days' stay.
