BIBLE STUDY COURSES.

National Boys' Work Committee Will Outline Plan for Religious Education.

A meeting of the national boys' work committee was held yesterday afternoon, presided over by Taylor Statten, boys' work secretary for the national council of the Y.M.C.A., when the various items of the budget for the year were under discussion.

Provision was made for the issuing of special booklets to be sent to the 5000 boys who have made forward steps at the boys' work conference sessions throughout the Dominion. Another provision made in the budget was for the publication of Bible study courses for the older teen-age boys that will bring out the teachings of the Scriptures relating to the four-fold development of Canadian boys: F. L. Farewell, principal of Ontario Ladies' College, has been asked to prepare this course of study.

THEFT IS CHARGED.

The Kingston police authorities arrested Lieut. E. Decamp yesterday afternoon, on a charge of theft, preferred by John C. Kelly, 159 Close avenue, Toronto. Decamp was attending the provincial military school at Kingston, and it is alleged that while in Mr. Kelly's company he stole a club-bag containing certain private papers. The bag alone is said to be worth $40. Detective Taylor left last night to bring Decamp back.

Special Committee of Municipal Association Wait on Premier Hearst

LIMITATION OF DEBT

New Bureau Should Be Given Large Powers—Establishment Expected Soon.

Outlining their ideas for a municipal department of the provincial government, a special committee of the Ontario Municipal Association waited on Premier Hearst yesterday. It was composed of E. W. McKay, St. Thomas; A. Farland, Cobalt; A. E. Bunnell, Brantford; and A. M. Bann, city clerk of Hamilton. They had not come to point out to the premier the importance of the department they said, for they were well aware that the government had expressed its approval of the idea putting it into operation as soon as the financial situation warranted such a move. On the other hand, they wanted to point out that there was no time like the present. Such a department as that suggested would be of splendid service in preparing for conditions after the war. One of the most useful functions of such a department would be in the limitation of the debts of municipalities. It should be given some control over municipal debts. The delegation pointed out that such a department would be able to give a lot of information on a number of topics which would be of material assistance to the municipalities and would have the effect of avoiding the annual crush of municipal legislation at the last moment. Also it would stimulate municipal officers in the performance of their duties.

Press Secretary Unsatisfied.
Mr. Kent confirmed these sentiments, saying that the department should go into the whole matter of municipal government. He was of opinion that the present system was not the best that could be imagined. The people were not satisfied with it, but no one knew of a better system. The municipal department could study the question and advise the people. He thought that its staff should include an engineer capable of keeping records of water works and roadway construction, so that the experience of one municipality might be of service to all others.

Mr. Bunnell thought that the present system of compiling municipal statistics was not worth the time and the money expended on it.

Premier Hearst, in reply to the delegation, said that the department was agreed to such a department would be at the earliest possible date. The necessary legislation and information would be in process of preparation. He hoped that they would have everything necessary at the earliest possible date.

He doubted, said the premier, if the department could go so far as some of the speakers had suggested. The voters would have to take some of the responsibility for the government of their municipalities. Otherwise he was well inclined to concur with the sentiments expressed. The government would make every effort to secure the right person. The government's aim was to make the bureau as complete and efficient as possible, said he.

Hon. W. D. McPherson said that he hoped that the new session of the legislature, but he was not sure that it would be.

Other representatives of the association waited on the provincial secretary earlier in the day and laid before him resolutions adopted by the association. Many of them had been advanced before he laid aside the one course or another.

FILM OF INTEREST TO MILITARY MEN

Local Officers Anxious to See Official Picture of Canada's Army.

AT REGENT THEATRE

Presentation Will Be Made Under Auspices of The Toronto World.

The announcement that the first Canadian war film will be presented here under the auspices of The Toronto World has aroused the greatest interest among military men as well as among those who have relatives at the front, and the public generally.

Men like Col. G. T. Denison, C.M. Logie and his staff officers, as well as all the men of the troops in training here, are expected to attend the first presentation. Col. Denison, it may be noted, was one of the first to appear at the door of the Regent Theatre when "The Battle of the Somme" was presented, but as the crowd had been lined up on the sidewalk for half an hour before the doors opened, the colonel could not get in for the first performance. He went away but came back in time for the next one. He will doubtless avoid any disappointment this time, as the Canadian army has for him many very personal interests.

This film has met with a very enthusiastic reception in England, the press acclaiming it as a greater film than "The Battle of the Somme". "We saw," says The London Morning Post, describing the pictures, "thousands of stalwart men, dressed in what seemed to be the hides of prehistoric monsters, emerge from cave dwellings and trench a dug into hills and plains still in a condition of chaos. Countless numbers of them were armed, and to the drum fire of great guns they marched to fight an unseen enemy. Batches came back triumphant, bringing with them captives and trophies; others returned maimed from the fray, but all the conscious, among the victors and vanquished, appeared to be more or less happy each in his own particular way. The iron motive of our smile was renewed by batteries of huge howitzers sending their missiles for miles thru the air; there was a terrific looking 'tank' moving irresistibly over the drench-fitted soil, crushing every obstacle in their path, and in accidents and objects were represented with a vividness hitherto unequalled in any cinematograph pictures we have seen."

The fact that these are the Canadian troops, including the boys from Toronto, for the first time shown in battle by motion pictures, makes the film of special importance in this country. The further fact that this is the first appearance of our soldiers on the screen makes the film of special importance everywhere in the world. The British and Canadian Governments are both official sponsors for the film, which was taken by the force-

PALE, FEEBLE GIRLS

Weakness Generally Comes on as Womanhood Approaches.

Girls upon the threshold of womanhood often drift into a decline in spirit or all care and attention. How often one sees girls who have been strong and healthy, suddenly become weak, depressed, irritable and listless. It is the dawn of womanhood—a crisis in the life of every girl and prompt measures should be taken to keep the blood pure and rich with the red that of health. If the blood is not healthy at this critical stage, disorders follow. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have saved thousands of young girls from what might have been lifelong invalidism or an early death. They are a blood-builder of unequalled richness, strengthening weak nerves and producing a liberal supply of red, healthy blood, which every girl needs to sustain her strength. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved their great value over and over again to young women whose health was failing. Miss A. Sternburg, Halesbury Road, New Lakeview, Ont., says: "I have much reason to be grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they restored me to health, it is true, they did not save my life. In 1914 I began to feel run down, and the doctor who was called in said that mine was a bad case of anaemia. I lost flesh, always felt tired, and I got so nervous that I could scarcely hold a cup to take a drink. My heart would flutter alarmingly. The doctor did not seem to be able to help me at all, and my family and friends all thought that I was in a hopeless case, and could not recover. I was in bed for some weeks when an aunt came to see me and urged that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My father got a supply, and by the time I had taken three boxes there was a noticeable improvement in my condition. I continued with the pills for some time longer, and they restored me to my old-time health and strength. I shall never cease to praise this medicine, and to urge all weak, run down girls to give it a fair trial, as I have proved in my own case that it is a great merit. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."
