

OLD-TIME COWBOY, POWDER-FACE TOM, PAYS TORONTO VISIT

Clad in Picturesque Garb,
Veteran of Bad Days
Tells Experiences.

CARRIES BATTLE SCARS

Grizzled, high-crowned Stetson, sombrero set at a rakish angle on his head—a vivid pink shirt, decorated at the neck by a more vividly colored handkerchief—trousers tucked into high-jointed leather riding boots—all combining to make a picturesque wild-western ensemble—such is Powder-face Tom, one of the old-time Texas gunmen, who is visiting Toronto for a few days, and staying at the King Edward Hotel.

Instead of reclining at ease in one of the luxurious arm chairs in the hotel lobby yesterday afternoon, this picturesque figure was seen squatting in Indian fashion on the stone steps in front of the imposing hostelry. Passers-by surveyed him with interest, as well they might. He reminded one of the redoubtable heroes of our adventure-seeking youth—those sturdy vaillants who, by shooting up several tribes of savage "redskins," and causing to violently depart from this earth an equal number of bandits, rescued the fair heroine just as she is to be burned at the stake.

Origin of Name. As far as "Powder-face Tom" is concerned, this is not all romance. He really is one of the old-timers who risked their lives daily in the attempt to settle the wide, fertile expanses of the west. How he came by his sobriquet is infinitely as thrilling as any wild west novel which has been published. His weather-beaten, sun-scarred face is speckled and dotted with greenish-colored gunpowder, burns, caused by revolver and rifle shots being fired at him at close range. He does not remember his right name, as he has not heard it for so long. Away back in the "good old days," he justly earned the sobriquet of "Powder-face Tom," which has stuck to him ever since.

It seems that one night, on the Circle Bar ranch, of which he was then foreman, a gang of armed and desperate cattle rustlers had put in an appearance. "Powder-face," sitting astride his Mexican cow-pony, was just riding in from the immense corral, which was situated at a considerable distance from the ranch bunkhouse, when he heard a cow utter a frightened bellow. Scarcely a moment later, and when just outside the corral, he discerned a movement of the cows at the far end. Suddenly two shots rent the air, and the frightened cattle started a general stampede thru a gate which had become open in some manner. Setting the spurs into his horse, he rode at a reckless pace around the corral, at the same time firing several shots into the air to attract the attention of the cowboys in the adjacent bunkhouse.

Shooting Enthusiast. On getting around to the opposite side, he made out, in the gathering dusk, the forms of several riders. As he galloped toward them, they opened fire, and one bullet grazed his cheek, where a scar still shows. He retaliated, and apparently winged one of the riders, who then tumbled headlong from his horse. By this time the lumbering cow-punchers had been awakened and their shouts could be heard in the distance.

Powder-face, swinging low over his pony's neck, rode forward madly, and fired another shot. Another of the masked riders fell, but he re-unfortunate in his foot. His horse was then shot from under him, but he jumped free and managed to catch one of the two riderless horses as it galloped by. In its mad flight the horse rushed past another of the bandits, who fired point-blank at Powder-face within a few

"IT HAS PUT ME ON MY FEET," HE SAYS

Twelve Years' Suffering Soon
Overcome by Tanlac—
Lachance Feels Fine Now.

"When a man has suffered for twelve years and then finds a medicine that puts him back on his feet like Tanlac has done me, I think it is time for him to take for the benefit of others," said Albin Lachance, a well-known employee of the Gillette Safety Razor Co., living at 1252 Elster street, Verdun, Quebec, recently.

"Yes sir, I have been in the worst sort of health for the past twelve years," he continued, "and if I had searched the world over I don't believe I could have found a better medicine than Tanlac. My appetite was next to nothing, and what I ate soured and settled in a lump in my stomach. I had a burning in my chest like fire, and was so short of breath I thought I would suffocate. My tongue was always thick and coated, and I had a sour, mean taste in my mouth. I was so nervous that during the night I would wake up with a lump in my chest, and I was unable to close my eyes. I was constipated all the time and at the least effort I would break out in perspiration."

"One of my neighbors had tried Tanlac with such fine results that I knew there must be something to it, and I began taking it myself. Well, sir, my appetite picked up right away. I slept better and felt better in every way, and now, after taking four bottles, I can eat anything set before me and never have a sign of indigestion. My tongue is not coated or thick any more and the sour taste in my mouth has disappeared. I am not constipated now and I don't perspire like I used to. My nerves are as strong as steel, and I can sleep all night long without waking up once. I am feeling like my old self again, and as a medicine, I consider Tanlac without an equal."

Tanlac is sold in Toronto by Tamblin drug stores and by an established agency in every town.

CITY HALL NOTES

Plans of the proposed live stock arena, the building of which was approved by the ratepayers last January, have been completed by the city architect, and will be before the board of control next week. The vote calls for a million dollar arena, of which sum the city will pay $600,000, but City Architect Price says the structure will now cost a million and a half. Whether the extra money will be raised the size of the building reduced to come within the million-dollar limit is still to be settled. The Live Stock Association has undertaken to provide $400,000, and undertake to raise the extra amount.

Ald. Maher succeeded in having the court of revision cut the assessment on his property at 348 Keele street by $55 per foot frontage. Last year's assessment boosted this property from $55 to $165 a foot. Ninety-five appeals were heard by the court of revision yesterday.

A proposal to widen Bloor street, between Yonge and Sherbourne, by 20 feet, will come before the board of control next week. The plan was advocated by the Toronto Civic Guild, which has undertaken to meet 50 per cent of the total cost, estimated at $300,000 to $400,000. Quite a few owners concerned have donated the property for the extra street allowance.

The guild also favors widening Bloor, west of Yonge, as far as Spadina avenue, and 25 per cent of the property owners have endorsed the proposal.

By this time his comrades were on the scene—the remaining rustlers were captured and the stampeding cattle rounded up. It was only after a long conversation that The World managed to draw these details reluctantly from the rather bashful old-timer, but the reporter thought the effort was worth it.

Net for Prohibition. Powder-face Tom is now attached as foreman to the Bar X ranch in Las Vegas, New Mexico. He came to Toronto early in the week with a large shipment of cattle and left the city for Montreal last night.

"How are things down in that part of the country, following the war?" asked The World. "Forty dollars a quart," was the surprising reply. The World finally ascertained that he was referring to the present price of the brandy and whiskey, which is almost unobtainable now. Powder-face is no advocate of prohibition, and thinks that the country is going to suffer. "But I'm on my way now to Montreal," he said, "and intend to drown my sorrows."

MUNRO IS CLEVER IN ANNUAL GAMES

Wins Three Good Races at Normal School Annual Field Day Sports.

Yesterday afternoon's annual sports at the Normal School, under the able direction of M. A. Sorsolelli, were graced with the best possible weather and the event was very largely attended by the mothers and sisters of those who participated. Perhaps the most outstanding athlete of the lot was Walter Munro, who won the 220-yard race with easy, nonchalant stride, reminding the spectators of the achievements of other members of the Munro family. Another feature of the occasion was the 220-yard race of the Normal students, all of whom were returned men. This was won by a fair margin by Lou Derbyshire. This happened thru the predicament of another returned man who was in a fair way toward winning the heat when he inadvertently slipped, and thus fell almost at the tape-line.

M. A. Sorsolelli presided, and he, with Major E. H. Price, J. E. Montgomery and E. Seady, officiated as starters, while A. H. U. Colquhoun, B.A., L.L.D., S. J. Radcliffe, B.A., W. Prendergrast, B.A., Paed., D. W. W. B.A.B., Paed., S. J. Stubbs, B.A., R. H. Walks, B.A., S. J. Keyes, B.A., B. Paed., R. W. Murray, B.A., A. T. Cringan, Mus. B., J. H. Winslow, and J. T. ALLENS PURCHASE LONDON EMPIRE

House of a Thousand Associations to Be Pulled Down by Canadian Firm.

The Allen organization have purchased the world-renowned Empire Theatre, Leicester Square, London, England and the adjoining property occupied by the Queen's Hotel. The transaction, according to the Allens, involves a capital expenditure exceeding four millions of dollars, half of which amount is property cost, and calls for the raising of the two most historic buildings in the British metropolis.

Starting in a very small way in Brantford, Ont., fourteen years ago, Bernard Allen, together with his sons, Al and Jay, formed the nucleus of what is now a dominating organization in the motion picture business.

Thru sheer perseverance and natural ability the brothers progressed until today they own or control over fifty theatres in Canada, representing an investment exceeding $20,000,000, and have under construction cinema palaces in the leading cities of the United States, including a theatre in Cleveland and another in Detroit.

Today's announcement that London, England, will be the scene of the next immediate operations, makes the Allen enterprises one of the greatest factors in the exclusive picture exhibiting field, and the largest international concern of its kind.

C. Howard Crane, in charge of the architectural department of the Allen Theatre Enterprises, is leaving for London immediately and will prepare plans for the erection of two houses on the sites purchased. Present plans call for one house to seat four thousand persons, and the second one to have a capacity of about two thousand. The smaller theatre will be given over to super-film productions, which will enjoy long runs from one to six months, while the larger house will feature high-class programs, which will be changed weekly. Fifty-piece orchestras and elaborate stage settings will be employed in the two theatres.

An unusual feature of the present plans for the two houses is the plan calling for an immense tea and soda grille. The tea-room will be located in the basement, and the soda grille will be situated on the floor near the theatre entrances, and will accommodate fifteen hundred patrons, and will undoubtedly be the largest place of its kind in London. Flanking the entrances to both theatres will be smart individual shops.

Scope of Organization. Heretofore British film manufacturers have found great difficulty in exhibiting their product in the United States, and it was not often that an English-made film found its way to the screen of an American picture theatre. The Allens have been pioneers in bringing English productions across the sea, and numerous feature subjects produced in Great Britain have been exhibited thruout the Dominion of Canada. When purchasing films in the future, they will be able to deal for the exclusive international rights to any and all pictures they desire.

POLICE WANT MORE FOR SPECIAL DUTY

In Resolution, Ask Two Dollars
More When Working on Day Off.

The Toronto police want more money. At a meeting of the union yesterday morning in Orange Hall, the men passed a resolution asking that they be paid $5 a day, instead of $3 for special and extra duty. This extra and special duty is when the men work at race tracks or other places where sporting events are staged. This time is usually put in on their day off each week. Following is the resolution passed: "That on and after July 1, all extra and special duties receive $5."

FIRE IN CANOE CLUB BOATHOUSE

Fire broke out in No. 5 boathouse, adjoining the Toronto Canoe Club, foot of York street, yesterday afternoon, causing $1000 damage to the building and damage to five dinghies. It was the good work of the firemen that prevented heavier loss. Five lines of hose were laid. Some of the lines had to be laid out 400 feet. A man named Parker was vanishing his boat at the time, but he claims that he left to get some varnish, and when he returned the building was in flames. The dinghies are owned by Reg. Thompson, T. P. Livingston, J. E. McFaulkin and A. Parker.

FALSE PRETENCES CHARGED.

Hattie Hart and Percy Boville, 39 Poultice street, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Thompson, charged with obtaining $1,000 from the city of Toronto in 1918, by false pretences. The Hart woman is alleged to have represented herself as the wife of a soldier named Cecil Hart, killed overseas. It is charged that the couple were never married and that her husband is alive in England. Boville is alleged to have made a statement at the time the $1,000 insurance was claimed from the city that he knew Cecil Hart and Hattie to have been married, but that he did not attend the marriage ceremony.

Three men were arrested last night by Detectives Dawn, McMahon and Koster in connection with the theft of more than $1,000 worth of cigarettes and tobacco from the C.E.R. On May 9 a car was broken open and the tobaccos hauled away. Harry Spring, 89 Major street, and Fred Allen, 3 Lip-pinott street, are held on charges of theft, while Harry Weingarten 1 Lip-pinott street is charged with receiving.

The tobacco was first sold to a man for $900. The purchaser became frightened and ordered the men to remove the goods from his premises. From this place it is charged the stolen goods were taken to Weingarten's and disposed of for $640.

CONQUEST OF THE AIR.

On the lines of the article in The World of yesterday showing the marvelous development of air transportation in Europe comes the news that an English company, (Goodrich Tire) has bought all the patents, secret processes, material and plants of the Zeppelin Co., of Germany. The new owners will start to make improved machines at once.
