TWIN COLT DEAD
One of the twin foals which Pearl Pick, 212½, brought forth the first of this week, died yesterday. Pearl Pick is owned by W. J. Alexander, the well known local horseman. It was thought at first that the two colts would live. Twin foals is a most unusual thing in horse circles, and it is more unusual if they live.

News of Maritime Men In The War

Six recruits have enlisted in Fredericton since Monday afternoon. The four volunteers sworn in last evening are to join No. 8 Field Ambulance Corps, now being mobilized at St. John. They are: Myles Foster, eighteen; Percy W. Hargrove, twenty; Armine Fisher, twenty-four; and Basil Minus, eighteen, all of Fredericton. This morning's recruits were Gordon K. Scott, eighteen, of St. John, and James E. Hinton, eighteen, of St. Mary's, for the 28th, and the former will be one of the pipers in the Pipe Band.

Recovering from Wounds.
Letters received from Gunner William Lawson, who was recently wounded with an artillery unit in France, stated that he is recovering rapidly and would be back on the firing line before long. He was wounded in the left ankle and is now at No. 30 General Hospital at Calais. According to Gunner Lawson, twelve other members of the battery were wounded and two killed at the time he received his wounds, which were during one of the heaviest bombardments his battery had been in. Gunner Lawson went overseas with the 28th Battery and was a student at the University of New Brunswick at the time he enlisted. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. M. Lawson of Fredericton.

Veteran Re-enlists
Corp. William H. O'Dell, of St. Stephen, who went to the front with the first contingent, was wounded at St. Julien and later invalided home, is in Fredericton to enlist with the 28th Battalion. He has been doing guard duty at the Revereble falls bridge at St. John for the past few months, having been a guard at the parliament buildings, Fredericton for a short time last winter.

Corp. O'Dell was a member of the 71st Regiment company that left Valcartier under command of Lt. Col. (then Captain) Guthrie. He went overseas with the 12th Battalion as a corporal, but gave up his stripes to get to the front, where he joined the 14th Battalion, Royal Montreal Regiment. He fought with that battalion at St. Julien and was wounded seven times, receiving four gunshot wounds in the left leg, one in the nose and one in the left arm.

Corp. O'Dell returned home on September 1, 1915, and at that time weighed only 124 pounds. Today he tips the scales at 225 pounds and is an exceptionally fine appearing soldier, standing over six feet in height.

Fredericton Recruits
Recruiting has taken another boom in Fredericton and up to Wednesday no less than thirteen volunteers had enlisted since the beginning of the week. Besides those secured by the local recruiting officers, five others were enlisted by Recruiting Clerks J. J. Jones.

Four volunteers enlisted since Tuesday afternoon, one for No. 8 Field Ambulance and three for the 28th Battalion. James A. F. Skeggs, 20, of Gardner's Creek, N.B., Augustus Pender, 18, of St. John, and Frederick Wain, 16, Marysville, were sworn in for the New Brunswick Militia and James Robert Pullen, 44, enlisted with No. 8 Field Ambulance on Tuesday. Sergt. Jones secured James Olmstead, 28, of St. Mary's, for the No. 8 Field Ambulance, Thomas Dougherty, 20, of Gagetown, for No. 1 Construction Corps, Gordon Houghton, 24, of Gibson, for the 62nd detachment doing guard duty at St. John, John Paisley, 18, of Fredericton, for No. 8 Field Ambulance, and George McLaughlin, 22, of Fredericton, who hopes to join one of the overseas bands, enlisted for home service.

Capt. Gambin Has Battery
Word has been received that Capt. George Gambin, who was stationed in Fredericton with the 2nd Divisional Ammunition Column during the winter of 1914-15, has been given command of a battery of artillery in France. Captain Gambin was in command of No. 1 section of the Ammunition Column and went to the front with that unit. Recently, however, he was appointed to command a newly formed battery and took twenty members of the ammunition Column to form the nucleus of the new unit.

Presentation to Lieut. Stephens
Lieut. John Stephens, formerly a professor at the University of New Brunswick, is now attached to the artillery detail of the 8th Canadian Garrison Artillery now on duty at Partridge Island. During his visit last week Lieut. Stephens was presented with a handsome military wrist watch by Manager Harry D. White and his associates of the Fredericton Gaslight Company.

On Leave in England
A cablegram received by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craghan of Newcastle from their son, Lieut. T. C. Craghan, says he is well and on a two weeks' leave of absence visiting his sister, Mrs. D. K. Hazen, at Shorncliffe, Eng.—

Another Member of Fighting 26th Wins Higher Rank — Now an Officer in British Army

Sergt. Timothy Leary, who left St. John as a member of the "Fighting 26th," has received his commission and will be a lieutenant in the Imperial Army. This news reached the city recently in a letter by some of his friends.

Sergt. Leary was one of the first to join the ranks of the 26th. Although an American, he saw the righteousness of the Allies' cause and lost no time in enlisting. Since being in the trenches he was wounded in the hand and was, in consequence for the time, incapacitated for trench work. He was then sent to the base and was made commander of the bath house there and held an important position. His good work soon bore fruit and his efficiency received due recognition from his commanding officers. His many friends in this city, for he had a lot of them, will read with pleasure of his promotion. His advance, since going across, from the Canadian army N. C. O.'s to the Imperial force as an officer speaks well for his ability and is a tribute to the regiment with which he trained.

At present Sergt. Leary is at the Palace Strand Hotel, London, where he will be for three months. While in England he will take a special course in qualifying for the commission.

THRILLING STORY OF THE BATTLE OF YPRES

Woodstock Soldier Who Was Wounded Tells of That Awful Day

Lester L. Hull, formerly of the firm of Hull & Glidden, Woodstock, who enlisted with the C. M. R. from Medicine Hat, Alberta, writes the following interesting letter to his sister, Mrs. Walter Cogger:

"I suppose by this time you have read all about the battle the Canadians were in at Ypres. The day when I got wounded in the face and leg, but I am coming along all right now. It certainly was a terrible day in the trenches, and I don't know how any of us got out alive, in fact there were only a few of our battalion got out. The shell fire started at 8.30 a. m. and did not cease until 8.50 p. m., and you can judge how hot it was when they claim the Germans threw over shells at the rate of 87 per minute. There were over a hundred guns turned on us from all directions, north, south, east and west, and all one could do was lay in the trenches and wait their turn to be killed or wounded; we had no chance to fight while it lasted.

"Two different times I was lying alongside of two of our boys, one was killed instantly by an exploding shell, and the other died a few hours later. I was struck in the face about ten o'clock in the morning and in the leg about one o'clock. After the shell fire stopped the Germans advanced with full packs and then we did have a chance what was left of us, got all the bombs we could carry and passed them down the line, and then we started to shoot. I had lost my rifle, which was buried through the day, but I got another that belonged to one of the boys that was killed. We held them back till relief came, and then those that were wounded were ordered out, and some were killed getting out. Our colonel was killed and most of our officers."

INTERESTING VISITOR

A recent arrival in Fairville on a brief visit to relatives is Rev. M. B. Townsend of Nashua, New Hampshire. He is pastor of one of the churches in that thriving industrial town, half the population of which are Canadian born. Nashua is not only a busy commercial centre, but the gateway to the White Mountains. Mr. Townsend has been here for years, and is now on two months vacation, part of which has been filled by leadership in nature study in summer schools and various points in the New England States. He is a man with varied interests other than the work of the pastorate, being interested in the rocks and the flowers, and is a keen ornithologist to boot. For some time he has been secretary of the Ornithological Society of New Hampshire, which seeks the protection and increase of the native birds. Mr. Townsend is related to local residents, being cousin to Sumner Townsend and Mrs. Walter Cooper, both of Fairville, and in the home of both of Fairville, and in the home of the latter he, with his wife and daughter, are guests. He is keenly interested in the war, holding the opinion that the struggle will be lengthened for some time yet, but believing in final victory for the allied forces.

McMULLIN-CAMPBELL
A very pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's church, Bangor, Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock when Felix McMullin and Miss Mary Campbell of St. John, N.B., were united in marriage at a nuptial mass solemnized by Rev. Henry McGill. The bride was charming in a traveling suit of Copenhagen blue with picture hat to match. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nellie Campbell, who was given in a blue silk suit and blue hat. Irving N. Kelley served as groomsmen.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Joseph Kelley, after which Mr. and Mrs. McMullin left on their wedding tour. The groom's parent to the bridesmaid was a sunburst of pearls and gold cuff links to the groomsmen. The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. McMullin, Mrs. D. J. Gillespie and children, and Miss Nellie Campbell, all of St. John, N.B.
