FOUND SCHOOLS WERE SADLY DESERTED

Inspector McLean speaks of effect of Eastport sardine business on Grand Manan School Attendance.

During his recent visit of inspection to the parishes of West Isles and Grand Manan, W. McLean, school inspector, was very much disappointed by the falling off in the attendance of the island schools. In the great majority of cases fifty per cent of the enrollment were not present. The cause may be traced to the spring emigration to adjacent portions of Maine. Whole families move for the summer to Hartport and Lubec. At these cities the parents and in many cases the children engage themselves in the sardine packing industry, and spend a very lucrative summer in the factories. This exodus may be commercially profitable, but it results in practically emptying the school houses of the island. A enrollment of thirty-seven in the superior department of North Head is reduced to a present attendance of nine. The percentage of deserters in the schools of younger pupils is not so large, but 50 per cent is the lowest limit. The schools of Grand Manan, Castalia and Woodwards Cove are included in this category.

The practice results in making the islands merely the winter residence of a large part of the population. It leads to an interruption in the work of the schools and the consequent discouragement of the teacher and pupil. Missing a large part of the term and losing the connection of the grade work, a large number of scholars cut short their intermittent school days. The eighth or ninth grade is reached. The parents can only find it is thought, in the establishment of the industry in New Brunswick fishing villages, where the child labor laws may be enforced.

PAVED ROAD FROM BORDER TO QUEBEC

Hon. John Morrissey Presents The Idea—Upkeep by Auto Tax—Says it Would Draw Tourists

Following the conference of representatives of the provincial government with Mr. Pugh, minister of the work of John Morrissey, commissioner of public works, left last evening for Sussex. There he will attend to work on the roads and bridges of the Sussex Valley. Proceeding to Montreal, he will perform a similar mission in the environs of the city. Mr. Morrissey will probably return to his home for the week end.

When leaving last evening he talked interestingly of the work of his department. "The roads of the province are in a very good condition," he said, "but they require eternal vigilance on the part of the government. The country people take the wrong attitude in regard to the maintenance of the roads. They assume that the roads belong to the government, and they take only a secondary interest in their repair. The roads belong to the people of the province, and every citizen should feel the responsibility of ownership, and a corresponding desire for excellence."

"There has been an absence of technical knowledge of road engineering. The result has been the mixing of different systems, a great waste of energy. The use of the split-log drag should become more general. As supplementing the work of the road machine and of graveling, the drag hauls, and gives the proper shape to the roads. Whenever the drag has been introduced in this province, the effect of frosting has been alleviated."

"You should advocate," said Mr. Morrissey, "the making of a permanent paved road from the border towns on the St. Croix to the Province of Quebec. This project could be carried through at a cost of a million dollars. The expense of the funded debt could be met by an automobile tax. The automobile owners would willingly bear this burden for the improvement of such a road. It would also lead to a great increase in the tourist travel, and would be more profitable to the province than the hunting and fishing seasons."

GADETS INSPECTED

St. Andrew's Church and Rothery Collegiate Reviews End Present Series

The St. Andrew's Church Cadet Corps were inspected in the drill shed last night. Lieutenant Langford, R. C. R., Frederickton, conducted the review. The exercises opened by the inspecting officer receiving a general salute. The company was then put through company drill by Captain C. P. Inches. The different sections were manoeuvred in squad drill by their section commanders, and the manual and firing exercise was then presented under the orders of the captain. An attack of the whole under the command of the captain, of the firing line under color sergeant Wasey and of the supports under Sergeant Woodrow, was then a feature. The presentation of the physical drill closed the inspection, which was regarded, on the whole, as excellent.

The Rothery Collegiate Cadet Corps were inspected yesterday afternoon in the college campus. The orders were given by Captain Mackay, and Color Sergeant Doce. Practically the same order was followed as in the St. Andrew's cadet inspection. The inspection at Rothery closes the cadet reviews for the present season. The Hampton corps was disbanded and the Chatham corps has recently been re-organized, and will not be inspected till fall.

A ROAD COMPLAINT

A vigorous complaint is being made by people who use the road between here and Gagetown over the condition of affairs at a point about six miles on the St. John side of Gagetown, where a bridge is undergoing repairs. The work was started some ten days ago, and they say it looks as though it would be as many more before it was through with. It is felt that more impetus should be given to it to get the roadway into something like proper shape.

It is said to be customary where a bridge is thus closed to traffic to provide some means whereby a crossing may be effected, but in this instance, there is nothing for it but to ford the stream. One automobile after another, it is said, in doing this has been struck, and has been hauled out. The greater part of the road between here and Gagetown is not in the best of condition, and, for that matter, it is claimed that the culverts in the whole road between here and Frederickton need attention.

THE CITY IS CLEANER, REPORT INSPECTORS OF HEALTH BOARD

First Round Results in Finding Encouraging Condition—Better Than Has Been For Years

The reports being presented daily at the offices of the board of health concerning the condition in household and business places about the city, are decidedly encouraging, and are to the effect that the city is cleaner as regards its back yards, cellars, etc., than has been the case for many years. Some of the eight officials who were appointed inspectors and who went on duty about June 1, have completed their first inspection, and are now started on their second, which should be completed in shorter time.

On the first round they are expected to make forty inspections each day, while on their last forty-eight are demanded of them. It is on the second trip that reports are made to court if the regulations as to the sanitary conditions are not complied with, but the inspectors anticipate very little, if any, trouble of this kind this year, as few citizens were complained of on the first round. One reason for this, it is thought, is the compulsory installation of up-to-date toilet facilities about the city, while another is the widespread agitation for improved sanitation.
