SALVATION ARMY OFFICER MOURNED

Colonel Frank Morris' Wife was Miss French, of St. John.

Impressive services, says a Winnipeg paper, marked the arrival of the body of Col. Frank Morris, chief secretary of the Salvation Army for western Canada, who died suddenly in Regina from cerebral hemorrhage. The train was met at the C. P. R. depot at 8 a. m. by Commissioner and Mrs. Henry C. Hodder, officers of headquarters and local corps and the Salvation Army band. The cortege and mourners proceeded up Main street to Thomson's undertaking parlors, the officers returning to the citadel, outside of which a brief service was held, the commissioner speaking in eulogy of the deceased officer, who, he said, died at his post. He also referred to the fact that he had joined the service when 16 years of age in Winnipeg.

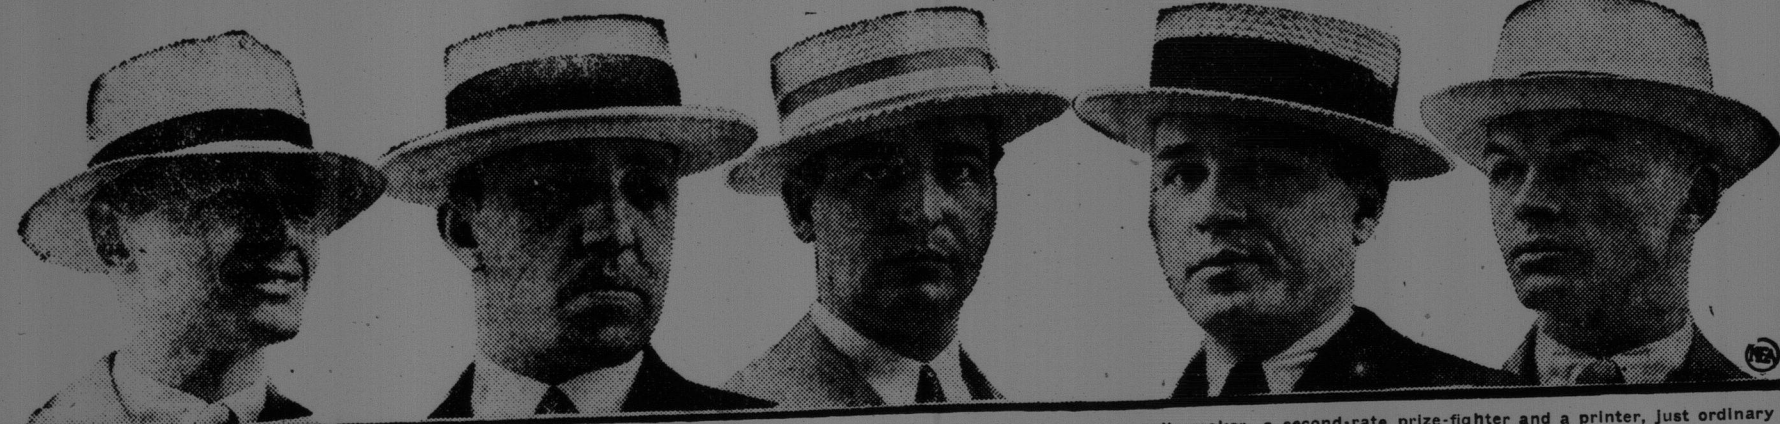

At the citadel in the afternoon, persons in all walks of life were present at a full service in honor of the departed officer, headed by Lieutenant-Governor Sir James Aikens, attorney-general and acting premier of Manitoba; Hon. W. R. Clubb, minister of public works; Sir Hugh John Macdonald; Mrs. Robert Rogers, representing the Women's Canadian Club; Mrs. Colin Campbell, the I. O. D. E.; and Archdeacon R. B. McElheran. The City Council, Board of Trade, Canadian, Kiwanis, Rotary, Gyro and Lions' clubs were represented, as was the Ministerial Association, and Archbishop Sinnott.

Commissioner Hodder was in charge of the service, prior to which scores of his former comrades and friends trooped past the bier as the body lay in state in the citadel. Many beautiful floral tributes were in evidence as a mark of esteem in which Col. Morris was held. That of Commissioner and Mrs. Hodder and staff was in the form of the Salvation Army shield, to which was attached a card bearing the words: "In deepest respect to the faithful comrade-warrior from Commissioner and Mrs. Hodder and staff." Another noticeable tribute was that of the divisional officers and staff of Winnipeg, bearing the inscription: "With deepest sympathy and in loving remembrance."

These Straws Will Show Which Way the Wind Blows This Summer

(BY M. J. ACKERMAN.)

New York, April 30.—I was hiking along the tony section of Madison Avenue with a couple of my friends—a bootmaker, a second-rate prize-fighter and a printer, just ordinary guys like myself—when we lapped some of the new straw caddy in one of the ritzy shops.

Not being a feature writer or any kind of a highbrow like that, I have just ordinary friends. Well, anyway, one of the guys says, "Ain't those lids the donkey's subonnet? Can you picture the Willy boys that'll be wearin' 'em this summer?"

"Sat so!" I exclaim. "You'll be wearin' 'em like 'em before Coney Island opens and you'll never look like your mamma's boy again."

And here they are.

And just to prove it, I took the bunch in the store and borrowed the hats to suit each fellow's mug and then photographed them. And the next two they call sailors, although sailors never wear 'em, and they were six dollars per in the classy shop. The last is the same as the first, only turned the other way and worn without a smile.

P. S.—The handsome fellow in the middle wasn't one of my roughneck friends. He's a professional clothes-wearer, by name of George Croker.

ACCIDENTS COST NOVA SCOTIA MUCH

Fifty Per Cent Increase Last Year — Compensation Act Report.

There were 1,233 more accidents of all kinds in Nova Scotia in 1923 than in 1922; the totals being 6,734 in 1923 and 5,501 in 1922. Those accidents which came under the Workmen's Compensation Act, from the report of which these figures are taken, numbered 1,200 more than in 1922, totals of 6,222 against 5,022 in 1922.

The increase in compensation was $450,992 over that paid the previous year.

The report says: The increase of approximately 50 per cent. or about $450,000 in the cost of accidents in 1923 over 1922 is startling. It is not to be accounted for by a corresponding increase in the volume of work carried on by the industries under the Compensation Act, as the wages paid in 1923 according to data so far received exceeded the wages paid in 1922 by only ten per cent, as will be seen from the following figures: Total wages paid in 1922, $47,660,000; those in 1923, $52,332,000.

The report says that the industrial depression apparently reached bottom in 1922, the payrolls for that year being lower than at any time since 1917. Taking all the industries together the improvement in 1923 over 1922 was about 10 per cent. or approximately $5,000,000 increase in the wages paid.

Although the estimated cost of the accidents for 1923 is $1,315,964.43 as provisionally adjusted amounted to only $894,177.76, which is $421,786.67 less than the estimated cost of 1923 accidents.

In discussing the value of the act to workmen and their dependents, the report says:

In 1923 the amount actually paid out to workmen and their dependents was $807,930.28. That amount is made up of $236,088.78 paid to those entitled to pensions; $315,357.84 to disabled workmen; and $256,483.66 for medical aid. At the end of the year persons receiving compensation in the form of a monthly pension were as follows:

Widows	287
Children under 16	622
Dependent mothers	59
Dependent fathers	42
Other dependents	19
Workmen disabled for life, partially or wholly	558
Total	1587

The total amount actually paid for compensation since the Act came into force to workmen and their dependents and for medical aid was $3,109,845.76. At the end of 1923 the amount required to pay compensation during future years with respect to accidents that had already happened was $3,557,831.96.

HAND AMPUTATED AFTER ACCIDENT

Masira Premo, an employee in the Nashuaak Pulp and Paper Company mills was badly injured yesterday afternoon when his right hand was caught in some machinery. Dr. Davidson of Fairville was summoned and treated the man for the severe injury and a call was sent in for the city ambulance. The injured man was conveyed to the General Public Hospital where it was found necessary to amputate the right hand. A report early this morning was to the effect that the patient was resting comfortably and supposed to be out of danger.

GOING TO RICHIBUCTO.

It was announced last night by His Lordship Bishop Richardson that Rev. A. V. McLaren was to remove from the Anglican parish of Uplam in July and take charge of the mission of Richibucto, at present vacant.

How pretty those beige silk stockings were when you first saw them. It seems a shame that they must be washed, risking their lovely sheen.

YOU may make a business of selling motor cars, life insurance, stocks and bonds—or perhaps you manage a store, a factory or a workshop.

That is your business and you are expected to know it thoroughly.

"To Help Others"—that's our business. We have been in it for a long time and our Officers have been called experts because of the way they do their work.

Your profits come in dollars. Ours come in seeing men and women start life anew, in healing broken hearts and mending bruised ambitions.

We do not seek financial gain — only the opportunity of carrying on our mission of mercy.

To-day, we are appealing for more working capital so that our business of helping others will not break down under the heavy financial strain.
