It required only the experiment to be made and for the traps to be demonstrated to persuade members of the Mainland that ideal fishing grounds are to be found in the Straits. The B. C. During the last few days the association has shipped considerable fishing tackle to Victoria, and a party is now down the Straits to carry on using purse seines, and a party is now down the Straits to carry on using purse seines, and a party is now down the Straits to carry on using purse seines.

The market quotations show no radical changes this week. The indications point to a slim offering of small preserve fruit, the scarcity of raisin playing havoc with the supply.

Turned the Tide

IN HALF AN HOUR AFTER MR. JENKINS TOOK THE FIRST DOSE OF DR. AGNEW'S CURE FOR THE HEART HE WAS ON THE ROAD TO PERMANENT RECOVERY.

was under treatment with some of the best physicians in the world, for what they diagnosed as incurable heart trouble. It suffered from palpitation, about his heart, fainting spells, palpitation and exhaustion. At last Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. The first bottle relieved the patient, and he had not two bottles all the symptoms of his heart trouble had left him. A. L. Ayers, Chief of Police, Ontario, Canada.

rate. This he believed was some time in September.

Cross-examined by Mr. Taylor, witness said he could not recall just what was said. He saw women and children there. Bridgeman and Orchard were both there. These men had called witness a "scab" before that. Bridgeman on this occasion was swearing and calling "scab."

The strike troubles did not cease for a long time after the strike, probably two or three months. Insults, however, were thrown out even until the present time. Work was going on quietly at the mines. Union men and non-union men were working side by side in the mines.

When witness first went to Rossland the walking delegate asked him to join the union, and wanted to know if he expected to add his job if he did not do so. Witness asked the foreman about it, and the latter advised him to join the union.

W. N. Sherman was the next witness. He was a timberman in the Le Roi at the time of the strike. He was not a member of the union. He continued to work until stopped by the union. He stayed in Rossland for about three weeks, and then left in order to earn a living for his wife and family. After being away about 20 days he was called home, finding his wife almost insane, suffering from nervousness. He came back to work on December 6th in the Centre Star mine. He was instructed by Jos. Mathews, walking witness at the St. Charles hotel when the latter went down to get a man to go to work. Mathews called witness a "scab" took off his coat, and witness went to fight. Witness thought it best to knock Mathews down, which he did accordingly. After they lined up for a drink, Mathews, without warning, inflicted a wound on his head with a knife. On registering a complaint with the police Mathews left for the United States. This was on Christmas Eve. Witness and his family were greeted with good words of "Babe" and "scab" from union people.

Cross-examined by Mr. Taylor, witness said that his wife, according to the father of a reputation of the expertness which resulted from a strike at Leadville, Col., became ill. On the occasion of the Leadville strike his wife nearly went crazy, they were reduced to such privation.

On that occasion two families had to live on a small bone and a kidney for weeks. The strike was conducted under the Western Federation of Miners. The witness, as he described his determination to go to work at Rossland to support his family at all risks, was almost overcome with emotion.

On the conclusion of the cross-examination of Mr. Hooper the court adjourned.

Upon resuming this morning Sir Charles H. Tupper put in a number of quotations from the Miners' Magazine, which Mr. Ingram said was representative to him as the official organ of the Western Federation of Miners. The evening previous Sir Charles had read an account of the strike at Rossland and the reasons for it, which were ascribed to the endeavor to get the mine closed and E. B. Kirby to return to union miners. A poem describing a "scab" appearing in the paper was put in.

Cross-examined by S. S. Taylor relative to his tenure of office as chief of police at Rossland, witness admitted that charges were made against him by the Trades and Labor Council with respect to the sporting houses. He was exonerated in the matter, however. He would not admit that Rev. J. Burt Morgan made charges against him concerning the collection of funds from the gambling houses. A charge was made against A. Daniels.

Witness had talked over the evidence with witnesses for the plaintiffs, but had never told his instructions. Witness had been chief of police there would have been more arrests. This was necessary in consequence of the bounding of men like himself and Mr. Gregg. He had seen them at the Bank saloon, which was the union men's headquarters, attack men who went in who did not agree with them, and send them out bleeding. He had reported the same men coming in bleeding. It had the reputation for that kind of thing.

Witness had not remembered any violence being done towards the property of the companies.

Referring to boycotting, witness cited among those which had been so treated M. J. O'Hara, Morrison & O'Brien, Gieseler, Drug Store, Jackson, Humboldt's Headquarter's saloon and Thompson's restaurant.

Referring to books Mr. Taylor showed that relief was bought from Morrison & O'Brien in August, 2nd and 7th.

In reply to His Lordship, witness said Morrison & O'Brien told him of his boycott in December.

Jackson, witness said, was put out of business in Rossland in the Great Central hotel afterwards at Phoenix.

During the strike many men carried away to the city. He had heard them say that if they were on the other side they would use them.

Mr. Jenkins, the last witness for the plaintiff company, is giving evidence for the defence.
