The deceased was 18 years of age and for the past two years has been employed in Eastport, Me., where she contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia.

Miss Brown was of a sweet disposition and well liked by every person especially the young folks, with whom she was a general favorite. She leaves to mourn, a sorrowing mother and father and two brothers to whom the deepest sympathy of the community is extended.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at her home, conducted by Rev. Mr. Vallas. The remains were taken to Welchpool for interment.

OTTAWA EXPECTS

A LONG DEBATE

(Special to The St. John Tel.)

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—Commercial union followed by annexation to the United States is all that the Conservative opposition in the Canadian parliament can see in the reciprocity agreement. This sentiment dominated a three hours' speech by Hon. Geo. E. Foster today.

In the days of the Conservative government Mr. Foster was finance minister and tariff maker for his administration and, therefore, speaks with authority for his own side.

The debate at Ottawa will be a very long one. Almost every member is preparing a speech and it is expected that it will be three weeks before a vote is reached.

This afternoon Mr. Foster opened a declaration that the result of the reciprocity agreement "Yankee trusts and money interests would own or control Canada's natural resources."

It was the thin edge of the wedge which would be driven home until there was absolute free trade between Canada and the United States with a tariff wall against the rest of the world. The agreement had "forever dished Canada's chance of obtaining a preference from Britain. There is now no chance for preference being established within the British empire. The project of the Hon. Jos. Chamberlain has been given its death blow."

Mr. Foster said "Canadians would become hewers of wood and drawers of water for the United States. The mines, forests and fields of Canada would be exploited by American manufacturers and there was an end to the movement of American industrial concerns across the international boundary line."

He said "the sentiment in the United States, which is pushing reciprocity on is not based on economic, but on political grounds, and has for its object the conquest of Canada by peaceful means. From the bottom of my heart I believe that there is danger ahead and this path will lead us away from Britain."

LIBERALS' CIPHER CONGRESS' ACTION

On the resuming of the house tonight the announcement of the telegraphic message recording the passing of a reciprocity agreement by the United States house of representatives was greeted by prolonged Liberal cheering. "Are you sure it's right," queried Mr. Lennox cynically, while the house laughed.

MR. NEELY

Mr. Neely, who followed Mr. Foster, directed attention to the fact that the question of obtaining better trade relations with the United States was not a new one. He reminded the house, amid Liberal applause, that the present negotiations were opened with a pilgrimage from Washington to Ottawa.

Touching upon the immediate benefits of the agreement, the Westerner predicted the establishment of a simple market at Winnipeg. The millers of the West and Ontario would then be compelled to compete with those of the United States and the farmer would get full value of his grain.

Referring to the cattle trade of Alberta he quoted the president of the United Farmers of that province, who declared that the agreement would "revolutionize the cattle trade of the province and solve the rate question by forcing down the freight rates and benefiting every cattle raiser."

Continuing Mr. Neely exposed the inconsistency of the Western Conservative member in advocating the reduction of the tariff on agricultural implements, while the opposition as a whole, was pledged to the protection of the manufacturer.

The fiscal position of the Conservative members was "A piece of mental gymnastics," which he could not understand. In this connection, he referred to the appeal to Sir Wilfrid Laurier being circulated in various newspapers and wanted to know what organization was paying for the advertisement.

He ridiculed the argument that the agreement would injure the transportation lines in Canada and declared its effect would be rather to multiply them, not only north and south, but east and west.

Dealing with the British preference, he pointed out that Mr. Foster should be the last man to combat it upon that ground, since when the British preference proposal was submitted by the government the member for North Toronto assumed a position of absolute opposition to it.

Trade of British Guiana.

The deflection of the export sugar trade of British Guiana from the United States in Canada is responsible for the remarkable increase per cent. in the trade colony and the Dominion between 1900 and 1910 Canada began to buy heavily of British Guiana sugar in 1904, in which the export to Canada was $2,886,881 as against $371,750 in 1903. In 1900 the export of sugar to Canada was only $26,215. The other article which British Guiana exports to Canada to any large extent is rum. This trade fluctuates from year to year, and for 1910 amounted to $30,597, practically the same amount as in 1900, though in the interval it had run up to $59,964 in one year and down to $9,188 in another.

Imports into British Guiana from Canada have more than doubled in ten years. The chief items in this trade are flour ($187,000) potatoes ($205,500), dried fish ($187,000), lumber $38,500 and fish of other sorts than dried $34,000. Canadian flour is rapidly gaining in favor. In 1900 the export was less than $11,000 and since that time the trade has increased rapidly, with a very few signs of any reaction. The increase during the past year was $56,000 over thirty per cent. of the total import, most of the remainder being imported from the United States. The Canadian dried fish have shown a slight weakness in the British Guianan market for two years, though other sorts of fish are stronger. Canada furnishes over sixty per cent. of the potatoes imported by British Guiana, and this trade has grown steadily for five years. The lumber trade varies, but the import from Canada in 1910 was much larger than in 1909.

While the total trade between British Guiana and the United States fell on forty-four per cent. from 1900 to 1910, this was almost entirely due to the change in the sugar trade. Exports from the United States increased nearly twenty-eight per cent. and consisted chiefly of flour, lumber, oils, pork, beef, machinery and textiles. Imports of United States flour fell off $85,000 in 1910, while Canadian flour gained $56,000.

Export Trade at St. Stephen

St. Stephen, Feb. 10.—The schooner Hazel Trahe, Capt. Morriay, cleared from St. Stephen yesterday for Barbados with a cargo of 1,400 shingles, shipped by Donald Fraser. This is the beginning of an important trade, for it is rumored that Mr. Fraser intends to make St. Stephen his shipping port, and has appointed an agent to look after his business here. It is also stated that he is negotiating for the purchase of the Marchie wharves in St. Stephen, and that the outlook for a large export trade from the upper St. John was the chief inducement for the large expenditures made last year by the C. P. R. at St. Stephen. Fifty years ago a considerable business was done here in the export of shingles to the West Indies; but it was then dependent upon a local supply of cedar, now exhausted. The revival of the trade in another form is hailed with satisfaction. When the dredging which the railway expect to do this year is completed we shall see busy wharves along our water front.—Exchange.

Resolution to Reform Senate

Special to the St. J. Telegraph. Ottawa, Feb. 14.—Major Sam Sharp, Ontario, has given notice of a resolution in the commons declaring that since the senate, as at present constituted, is independent of the people and uncontrolled by the public opinion of the country, a plan for its reform should be evolved through the medium of a joint committee of the senate and commons.

Royal Household Flour

The best for Bread and the best for Pastry

"The Little Brother of The Rich"

Now, this is not a talk about money.

It isn't a contrast between the rich and the poor, for in some things we are all equally rich and there are no poor brothers.

The poorest woman in the land can have just as good bread as the richest. The children who walk can have just as delicious pies and cakes and "goodies" as the children who ride in carriages.

All the money in the world cannot buy better flour than "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD", for there isn't any better.

And the woman who does her own baking can have just as good bread as is served to the Royal Household of England, and that is made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR sent to England from Canada.

And then, a barrel of

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" produces many more loaves than a barrel of ordinary flour. The bread is better—sweeter, nicer to eat—and more wholesome—has more health and strength in it—makes more delicious pies, cakes, biscuits and doughnuts. Children, whose mothers use "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" at home, can have just as good baked things as the Princes and Princesses of England.

Although "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" costs a little more per barrel than ordinary flour it contains so much more nourishment and makes so much more bread of superior quality it is in reality the most economical of all flours.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook" comprises 125 pages of splendid Recipes which have been tested and tried. Every woman who is interested in good things to eat should send and get it.

No bids for old Ships

(Vancouver News-Advertiser.)
No bid has been received for the old ship Glory of the Seas, recently offered for sale, and it seems probable that the famous old windjammer may be broken up or remain at anchorage in Esquimalt Harbor indefinitely. What course will be adopted by her present owners, who find her an elephant on their hands after one charter, has not yet been announced. Several shipping firms have bid for her, so she will undoubtedly be placed in legal hands. She has been lying in Esquimalt ever since she returned from her first and only voyage under her present ownership. She carried a cargo of coal to Unalaska, and through a series of misadventures was delayed for more than a month on the voyage.

"And you only visit this section of the country during golden-rod time?" she interrogated innocently. "How poetical!"

"Well, you see, mum, it isn't exactly poetical," replied Dusty Dan, with a smile. "But when the golden-rod blooms it is too late to cut grass and too early to shovel snow."
