

FOUR ATTEMPTS AT ROBBERY

Three Arrests In North End, Booty Practically Nil

HANGING FROM WINDOW

Thomas Connell Captured by Policeman Greer in Mayer's Junk Shop-- Cotton Mill, J. H. Kimball & Son's Office, and J. A. Likely's Office Visited.

What is believed to have been a carefully laid plan to break into several places of business in the North End on Saturday evening was frustrated by the vigilant work of the police. There were four practically unsuccessful attempts at robbery and three young married men, all well known to the police, are under arrest. The places entered were J. H. Kimball's office, Kimball street; the Cotton Mill, Wall street; J. Mayer & Son's, Main street, and J. A. Likely's office, Main street, and J. A. Likely's office, Main street, and J. A. Likely's office, Main street.

It is believed that those engaged in the work, taking advantage of the Christmas rush, planned to break into the places of business during Saturday night and as the breaks were all made before 10 o'clock, it is seen how bold their plans were. Only in Mr. Kimball's office was there any money taken and there the thieves found but $1.00. None of those arrested has been charged with this break.

In Cotton Mill.

The next break was in the cotton factory. About 2.30 o'clock S. J. Greer, the secretary-treasurer of the company, had occasion to go to the office. While at work he heard some one moving in the basement and he went to see what was going on. He saw a man in a dark coat and hat, who was seen to enter the window and to take some papers from a desk.

Caught Hanging from Window.

On peering out, however, Patrolman Greer caught sight of a mop of hair, and looking down saw a man's feet protruding from a small crevice underneath the window sill. When he was pulled up it was seen that he was Thomas Connell and he was charged with the robbery of the Mayer building and entering the junk shop.

Some Have Records.

Higgins or Ritchie, formerly known as Lemon-hell Higgins, was first arrested in 1894, when he was charged with stealing from the house of Joseph Melnyre, and was let go. In April, 1895, he was arrested on charge of stealing some hens and was sent to the reformatory for four years. In April, 1895, having escaped from the reformatory, he was found guilty of breaking and entering the store of C. F. Brown and W. R. Lord. In February, 1900, he was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary when before Judge Forbes on the charge of stealing and stealing from the shop of T. Hoffman, and from E. Harrington's boot-house. He was released in January, 1904, on ticket of leave, but being charged with assault and violently resisting the police was afterwards sent back to Dorchester, but was released in 1905 he was married. Thomas Connell, who married a cousin Ritchie's, has also been charged with stealing from the house of J. A. Likely's office.

nect the other two with the Kimball and the Mayer building. At the Kimball building the glass over the door was found broken and also one of the panes of glass was smashed in. The police say the thieves could have entered either way. The office door inside was forced. J. Mayer, of the firm of Mayer & Son, said yesterday that they had missed considerable property lately and had asked the police to keep a look out.

IN AND ABOUT THE STABLE

The modern horse is, like the modern man, an artificial product, and, like him also, is easily affected by healthy surroundings or the reverse. There are very few of the principles of modern sanitation which are not applicable to the horse stables; for example, a dry and well-drained site, plenty of air, an abundance of sunlight and ample ventilation without draughts, are all indispensable. How often one finds, on visiting farms, that there are cesspools under the stables, and, moreover, and frequently a large quantity of manure is allowed to remain in close proximity to the stable door. Men who have given the subject considerable attention claim, and with reason, that these conditions are detrimental to the health of the horse and should never be tolerated.

At Chubb's corner on Saturday Auctioneer Lantaulum sold half of a double wooden dwelling house in Paradise Row, owned by W. A. Harding. The property is freehold. Isaac D. Murray became the purchaser for $1,010.

Letters mailed in St. John seven years ago were delivered last week. They were sent from this city in 1900 to Percy Fairweather, of St. John, one of the men in South Africa with the Canadian troops, and reached him here a few days ago.

Allan R. Crookshank, resident engineer of construction on the Transcontinental at Siga, Madawaska county, has arrived home to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. A. O. Crookshank, and will remain here.

Miss Minnie McGaffigan is home from her trip to the States with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McGaffigan. Mrs. Edmund Brees is home from New York with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Landry.

Registrar J. B. Jones has received a letter from Mrs. Edna Hawley MacDermid, of the late Mrs. E. A. MacDermid, asking for information about her mother, Elizabeth Howard, of this city. Mr. Jones will be glad to furnish the information if it will be of any use to her.

Fifteen deaths took place in the city last week from the following causes: Heart disease, 10; pneumonia, 2; influenza, 1; cholera, 1; typhoid fever, 1; tuberculosis, 1; cancer, 1; and other causes, 1.

In the police court Saturday Ernest C. Williams was fined $5 for disturbing the peace. The charge was that he had been drunk and had been noisy in the street.

While the tug Lord Woleley was towing two iron barges to Yarmouth last week the hawser parted during a gale from the west. Sheriff Refused To Hold Mr. Clark. Humorous Complication Arises in Action Taken by W. A. Quinton. Write in Wrong Name. A. A. Clark Named in It—County Opposition Declined Before Sheriff To Give Bail, But Found He Could Not Be Taken in Charge.

Humorous complications arose yesterday in connection with the Quinton-Clark case when W. A. Quinton, through his solicitor John Kerr, yesterday took the first steps in an action claiming $300 damages against A. A. Clark, the St. John county opponent who had been named in the writs issued last week at the nomination proceedings in Keith's assembly rooms.

By order of the collector of customs the customs postal department in the post office will be open for delivery of Christmas parcels tonight and Tuesday night till 10 o'clock.

Ernest Appleby, formerly of St. John, has been engaged for sole work in St. Paul's church choir, Montreal, of which F. H. Blair, organist in St. Andrew's church in this city, is conductor.

The Frank White Catering Company and the St. John Ice Company have not been able to agree on the terms of the former using the sheet-the-chutes as a toboggan slide and that plan has been given up.

R. Rankin & Sons, biscuit manufacturers, received in their mail Friday $100 consolation money from the St. John race track. The money was sent them by the St. John race track.

It was understood that earlier in the day John Kerr, acting for the plaintiff, on an affidavit made an application to Chief Justice Tuck for an order to hold the defendant to bail for $300, the amount of the damages claimed. A bailable capias for $300 was then issued for the sheriff to execute and in the ordinary course of procedure Hamilton & Hamilton, the defendant's solicitors, were notified to produce Mr. Clark at the court house.

Accompanied by his brother, George Clark, and Ald. J. W. Vanart, for the purpose of securing the writ, Mr. Clark attended before the sheriff about 4 p. m. It was then discovered that the name of A. A. Clark appeared on the writ, whereas it should have been that of W. A. Quinton.

A. H. Hanington, when asked about the matter yesterday, said if the writ was issued in the name of W. A. Quinton, it would be entered on Thursday, and as far as the defendant was concerned the case would be hurried forward as fast as possible.

Owing to two weeks' notice before trial being necessary, the case cannot be tried at the next court on Tuesday, but will come up at the circuit court to be held the first Tuesday in March. A. A. Clark, whose name was on the writ, is at present in this city, died in Baltimore about a year ago. He was a former mill owner in Carleton.
