Pte. Thomas L. McDonald Reported Missing Now Prisoner in Germany

Capt. Allan Leavitt in Spite of Wounds Refused to Leave Firing Line and Stuck to His Men Throughout Battle; Casualties of New Brunswick Soldiers Continue to Come in.

Oh, God our Heavenly Father
Look down from Heaven above,
And heal our aching hearts
Which suffer anguished fears,
For those who have departed
In answer to the call,
Oh, God our Heavenly Father,
Be with us one and all.

Not Missing But a Prisoner.
J. E. McDonald the well known teacher has recently received word that his brother, Private Thomas L. McDonald of the 6th Canadian Mounted Rifles, who was reported missing a short time ago is now a prisoner in Germany. The information received by Mr. McDonald is to the effect that his brother is also wounded in the leg, shoulder and hip. He is a prisoner at Kriegerlager.

What broke out he was a member of the signalling section in St. John. Private W. A. Dick improving.
Mrs. Lillian M. Dick, 80 Erin street, has received news that her husband, Private Wm. A. Dick, was transferred from No. 1 Canadian General Hospital, France, to No. 20 General Hospital, Cambrai, on June 6, suffering from a gunshot wound in the face, and fractured jaw. A letter from the latter hospital dated June 27, said: "Dick's condition is quite satisfactory, and he is likely to be sent to England very soon."
Pte. Vincent Joyce
Mrs. Catherine Joyce of 298 Guilford street, received official report yesterday from the adjutant at Ottawa, advising her that her son, Pte. Vincent Joyce, infantry, was officially reported admitted to military hospital at Edmonton, Eng., on July 2, contusions. Pte. Joyce was seventeen years of age when he enlisted in the ranks of the 10th Battalion, on June 10, 1915. Almost simultaneously with the receipt of the telegram, his mother received a letter from him telling of his wounds. The bullet that had been slightly wounded on the two occasions, but had just recovered from the first one when he was hit again. His friends will be glad to know that he is on the mend.
Pte. Chas McRae.
Private Charles McRae, previously reported missing since June 2, is now reported, unofficially, as a prisoner of war in Germany. This word was received from Ottawa yesterday by his sister, Miss Cynthia McRae, who makes her home with her uncle, Henry Rowley, 44 Rodney street, West St. John. Private McRae is twenty-four years of age and went over with a New Brunswick unit.

Prisoner of War.
Relatives of Private John Saunders of St. Mary's have received a card stating that he is a prisoner of war at Coln, Germany.

Nephew of Col. Guthrie.
Mrs. Thomas Boag of Lincoln, Sunbury county, has been notified that her son, Private Joseph Hagens, is in hospital suffering from shell shock. He is a son of the late Sgt. William Hagens of the Royal Regiment, and a nephew of Col. Guthrie.

L. Corp. Campbell.
Word was received from Ottawa yesterday by Mrs. Campbell, of 88 Albert street, St. John, that her husband, Lance-Corporal Malcolm Campbell, who was wounded on June 18 in the head, cheek and elbow by shrapnel, is getting along nicely, although his head still is bothering him.

Mentioned in Despatches.
A London despatch of July 14 says that among the Canadians mentioned for services rendered during the Battle of Vimy, were: Lance-Corporal G. Carruthers, Dublin Fusiliers, a graduate of Kingston (Ont.), who was mentioned in General Sir Ian Hamilton's despatches and awarded the Military Cross in France; As St. John people know, Captain Carruthers is a nephew of Mrs. W. L. Busby and Mrs. George K. McLeod.

Lieut. Compton Wounded.
The name of Lieut. Wilfred Alwyn Godfrey Compton, who went overseas with the artillery from St. John last year appears in the list of those officially mentioned in despatches. Compton is well known in St. John, where he resided in the Prince William for some time. An Englishman who desired to take up farming he came to New Brunswick with his wife and family and tried the agricultural life at Grand Lake. He did not find it satisfactory, however, and moved to St. John. Mrs. Compton, it will be remembered, took an active part in amateur theatricals. When Lieut. Compton enlisted Mrs. Compton went to England for a time and afterwards returned to England.

Private Casey Wounded.
Private James Edward Carey, infantry, is officially reported admitted to No. 18 General Hospital, Boulogne, July 6, with gunshot wound in the back. The news came from Ottawa on Saturday to his only sister, Mrs. Michael Mahoney, 80 Jackson street.

The wounded soldier is 30 years, was formerly employed in Cornwall and York County Mills, Wall street, and left here with the 59th last fall. He was born at Newton and a few years later the widowed mother removed with her family to St. John. Mrs. Carey, who afterwards married Patrick Hughes, and for many years lived on Clarence street, died about five years ago. Private Carey's brother-in-law, Lieut. Valcarlos with the 140th Battalion.

Attached Eight Aeroplanes.
Guelp, Ont. July 17.—A letter received by his father, J. H. Simpson, states that Lieut. Jack Simpson, of Guelp, met his death when, single-handed, he was attacking eight hostile aeroplanes. "Four men," says the communication, "while on patrol duty met eight hostile machines coming over the lines. He attacked, and against such heavy odds he was, of course, badly handicapped. He was shot in the head, and died a hero's death."
Chaplain Prisoner of War.
London, July 17.—(Montreal Gazette Cable)—Speaking of the Newfoundlanders' coolness under fire, Sir Edward Morris, premier of Newfoundland, explained that the island battalion, when called upon to take the third line German trenches, were suddenly faced by machine guns. These caused heavy losses, but the Newfoundlanders made a gallant attempt, the best proof of their tenacity being that the battalion suffered 400 casualties. The place where they were stationed was re-named St. John's Wood, out of compliment to the capital of the ancient colony.

News of Soldiers Here and Abroad

St. F. X. Hospital Unit in England; 115th Mascot Bears to be Brought to Rockwood Park; Giving Boys a Chance

Thursday, July 20.
Edward Chisholm of Moncton, wounded, is the only New Brunswick man mentioned in the midnight casualty list.

Recruits secured yesterday afternoon at the recruiting office, include J. W. Davis of Danville, Vt., and Thomas Lacey of this city.

The St. Francis Xavier Hospital unit has arrived in England. Word was received from the hospital yesterday by Mrs. McCourt from her son, Dr. Arthur J. McCourt, of this city, formerly of the staff of the General Public Hospital.

Sergeant Bandmaster Perkins of the 115th Battalion, who is appointed as bandmaster of the camp at Valcartier, and has been given the rank of acting warrant officer.

It is understood that the two bears, which were presented to the 115th Battalion, as mascots, will be presented to the Rockwood Park commission in a very few days. Owing to the new regulations, no unit is allowed to take overseas animals of any kind.

Colonel Guthrie, accompanied by Judge Ritchie and Captain Laurie, visited the Industrial Home yesterday afternoon, the occasion being promoted by Mrs. McCourt from her son, Dr. Arthur J. McCourt, of this city, formerly of the staff of the General Public Hospital.

Private George E. Carter, son of E. S. Carter of Fair Vale, of the Princess Pats, writes of having received correspondence from "four weeks in a trench," which he was reading in a dug out. The British bombardment is terrific and big things should happen shortly.

Private Victor, who is at present at the Park's Convalescent Home, was on the firing line three months when a German sniper got him with a bullet which passed through his head. The bullet killed his comrade who was standing by him.

tion were present and supervised the provision of refreshments.
Major Stanley Livingstone Jones of the Patriots, who was fatally wounded on the firing line, was a native of Wolfville, N. S., and practiced law with the Calgary firm of Lent, Jones & McKay. He was secretary of the Alberta Liberal Association and was a veteran of the South African war. He died in the hands of the enemy and by them was buried with military honors.

Mrs. E. Fitzgerald of Prospect street, Fairville, has received word that her brother, John Hemmings, of England, had been killed on active service while fighting in Egypt. He was only twenty-four years of age, and, with his two brothers, was in the war. His death occurred April 19. Mr. Fitzgerald has written for further particulars.

In addition to her three brothers fighting for king and country, including the one just killed, Mrs. Fitzgerald has three more sons in the army. One is Bert Finnamore, a popular St. John man and a soldier of merit, has shown his steel in more ways than one since going overseas. He worked himself up to the rank of major of the 64th Battalion and when he was broken up into drafts to go to the front he dropped his crown and went over with the men as a private. He is recommended for and offered a commission in England, but he would stick by them through thick and thin. Such a splendid and patriotic example cannot but stir the blood of real Canadians.

Among the N. C. O.'s of the 28th Battalion is Sergeant Howard Whitcomb of this city. He went overseas with the 28th Battalion and was wounded in November last. He was, prior to this, promoted on the field to sergeant and returned to Canada on March 24. His leave will expire on July 24, after which he intends to join the militia.

Another man is Garfield G. Brown, who was in the 28th Battalion and is in the machine gun section of the 28th Battalion under Major Carter. He was wounded on January 28 and is now waiting for his discharge when he too will be a member of the militia.

Private Thomas L. McDonald of the 9th Canadian Mounted Rifles, who was reported missing, is now reported as a prisoner of war in Germany. Word was received to this effect recently by his brother, J. F. McDonald.

British naval officers are to visit New Brunswick within the next two weeks for the purpose of securing officers and men for the motor boat patrol of the British coast. The training consists of a month's course in navigation at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, and a month or six weeks at Southampton.

Cecil M. Markham of the 168th Battalion, now training at Aldershot, England, and who has been promoted with the battalion, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

Colonel H. F. McLeod, late O. C. of the 115th Battalion, has been appointed commandant of the Shorncliffe camp.

The 115th Battalion has made great strides in its drill since going to Valcartier camp and it is at present considered the best battalion in camp. The men will have to be kept in good shape.

Lieutenant E. A. March of the 115th Battalion, dislocated his shoulder yesterday while participating in a wrestling bout, and is now in hospital.

Captain George P. Ryder, of St. Stephen, who has been appointed recruiting officer for the district composed of York, Sunbury, Queens and Charlotte, is to be based in headquarters for the district in Fredericton.

Many readers will remember Sergeant Knight, who was very active for a time here in recruiting, and who, up to the time he left this territory, had more than 2000 men signed on to his credit, including New Brunswick and Nova Scotia territory.

He left here and took an engagement in New York as salesman, but has since so far as is known, returned to Canada while in France, that he has now been passed and is again enlisted at Windsor (Ont.) with the Scottish Borders, under Colonel McGregor, and is now in his old regiment.

Capt. the Rev. G. A. Kahring in a letter from No. 8 Canadian Stationary Hospital, France, dated June 29, speaks of meeting Vincent Joyce the evening before. He is a son of Michael Joyce of Guilford, and was in the 115th Battalion. The latter does not say whether Joyce was wounded or was merely a member of the convoy that brought in wounded men.

Official word has since come to the soldier's father, reporting him suffering from contusions, and that he is in an English hospital.

Capt. Kahring pays a fine tribute to Capt. Roscoe, of the old C. M. R., who was in hospital and might have gone to England. "But," writes Capt. Kahring, "the call of duty was too strong, and he went back to the front again."

Word was received yesterday that Private E. J. McCarron, son of Mrs. E. J. McCarron of Hampton, had been seriously wounded in the face. Private McCarron enlisted in Winnipeg some months ago with a western battalion. He is well and favorably known in his home town, and was a trail dispatcher for the National Transcontinental at Newcastle (N. B.).

John Keefe received a telegram yesterday corroborating previous advice that his brother, Captain George Keefe, has been wounded, but not seriously.

NEWFOUNDLAND GIVES MONEY AND HER SONS.
St. John's, Nfld., July 18.—The latest casualties in the Newfoundland regiment are: Privates Michael Ross, Portugal Cove; Donald MacNeil, St. John's, dead of wounds; Maxwell Jones, Batters Hill, St. John's; William Morgan, St. John's, unofficially reported killed in action; Privates Samuel Learning, South St. John's; Donald MacNeil, St. John's, dead of wounds; Kenneth Carter, Greenspond; Richard Ryan, Melrose; William Hickey, Flower Hill, St. John's, wounded.

The mother promoted by Chief Justice Horwood for establishing twenty beds in English hospitals for Newfoundland soldiers at the cost of $200 for each bed for twelve months, has resulted in 120 beds being established during the past fortnight for almost one hundred beds, which total is expected to be reached by the end of the week.

FRENCH-CANADIAN UNIT 206TH IS DISBANDED.
Montreal, July 19.—Announcement is made that the 206th French-Canadian battalion, under command of Lieut. Col. Pagnoulet, has been disbanded and the men enrolled in it have been sent as drafts to other French-Canadian units. This action is taken in consequence of the fact that several French-Canadian battalions have been disbanded and unable to get their full quota of men.

A petition addressed to the provincial government, asking for the appointment of E. N. Stockford as chief inspector for the province under the new law prohibiting the sale of liquor, is being circulated.

WOUNDED CANADIAN "TOMMIES" SHOW GREAT SPIRIT OF OPTIMISM

Not a Man Complains; All Are Glad to Be Alive After Their Injuries

One New Brunswick Boy Forgets His Wounds in His Elation at Being Once More Permitted to Sleep Between White Sheets—Wounded Set Splendid Example.

Perhaps the most remarkable thing which has grown out of the present war is the splendid optimism shown by the Canadians who at present lie grievously wounded in hospitals in England.

One New Brunswick lad after describing his wounds, which are serious, adds, "but it's great to get between white, clean sheets again." The pleasure which he feels at once more getting into civilized conditions seems to have caused him to forget entirely his wounds.

It is almost uncanny the stoic manner in which these lads bear their wounds, many of whom will be disabled and disfigured for life. The letters of the wounded are even more cheery than those written by men in the full vigor of health on the firing line. Their example is indeed inspiring and gives the civilian some idea of the splendid morale of the Canadian boys at the front.

Cheerful Though Wounded.
The following letter is from one of the best known young men in Sackville, Harvard McAllister, who went overseas with the first contingent. The letter was written to his mother and reads as follows:

"Will you try and scribble you a few lines to let you know that I am getting along O.K. You will likely have received official notification of my mishap and also a card from Chaplain Baxter of No. 10 Casualty Clearing Hospital, the chaplain at No. 3 Canadian General Hospital at Boulogne said that he would write also. I am in England. I am coming along nicely now, but the first four or five days I suffered quite a lot and lost quite a bit of blood, but I guess it won't hurt me.

"I consider myself very lucky to get off wounded, we sure lost a lot of our lads in the fight.

"I was struck with a shrapnel shell, a piece in the left side of the neck, one in the back, and one tore away a piece of my right arm just below the shoulder, my clavical bone was also fractured, but everything will come around as well as ever in time, but I am not worrying as I will have a first class rest. It is fine to get between white sheets again. This is a first class hospital, and they treat us fine—like holds about 1400 patients. I suppose you have read in the papers about the scrap. We were to make our attack on the morning of June 3, but after doing a forced march of fourteen miles we were too much exhausted, so we dug ourselves in an oak ditch and lay there five days, in water, and went in again on the morning of the 12th, and took up our old position, and on the morning of the 18th, we went for the Hun, we got what we were after and held them until next morning, when we were relieved, and while coming out of the trenches I was struck.

"My chum Graham was struck in the chest with a rifle bullet, during the fight. I saw him at the dressing station the next morning, but I am not worrying with some German prisoners. I don't know if you will be able to make this out or not, as my arm is pretty stiff.

"I won't be able to write to any of the others, so give them my love. Do not worry the least bit, as I am doing fine, and am a good long way from the front."

The following letter was received by Lieut. Colonel John R. Tompkins, of Woodstock, from his son, J. Douglas Tompkins, who was wounded at the front in France and is at present in a military hospital in England.

"It is now nearly two weeks since I was wounded and I am coming along at all right. They held me ten days at the clearing station in Belgium because gas gangrene had developed. This, however, was cleared out and now I am fairly on the road to recovery. I arrived here two days ago; it is an all-British hospital; a New Zealander in the next bed is the only relieving element.

"I suppose you would be interested in hearing about how I got the wounds. Our battalion and the 16th Canadian Battalion were the attacking party which recovered the three lines of trenches near Ypres on the 18th of June. These positions were lost by the 8th Division in the enemy offensive commenced on June 2. Our front line of attack consisted of eight bombing squads; I was in No. 8. The attack was projected about 1300 yds. and we were to capture 1000 German prisoners and eight machine guns being taken. After several strenuous bombing engagements, the counter-attacks were repulsed and the position consolidated.

"I was wounded between the second and third lines just as I was securing a couple of Hunns to our reserve. I do not know if they got away or not, but do not think so, as our chaps were pretty well about them.

"The worst wound is from a piece of shrapnel that struck high in my back and perforated the top of the lung; the right shoulder blade is also smashed—hence this atrocious pain in the left knee and right ear. During the six hours I was in a very dirty shell hole before the stretcher-bearers found me, was a very dry time. I could not keep my mind off ice cream and soda. Will send a line as often as possible."

Balcons Brought Down.
Corporal J. W. Wilson Evans in a letter to his sister-in-law, Mrs. A. C. Evans, Rodney street, West St. John, speaks of his visit to England and meeting his brother, Gunner David Evans, formerly of the 59th Battalion, now of the Canadian Reserve Artillery. The letter in part is as follows:

June 27, 1916.
Dear sister—Received your welcome letter some time ago. Would have answered it sooner but I did not have my writing materials with me for a week, but I have got them now, so I will have to dig in and answer some letters. I have been to England since I wrote you last. I was down to Bramshott to see Dave, and I had one great time. I can tell you they have a great camp at Bram-

The matter of a bill of $11,000, of George L. Harris, of Ottawa, against the estate of his father, the late C. P. Harris, comes before a board of arbitration in Moncton on next Monday afternoon. The board is composed of M. G. Ford, K. C., St. John; for the C. P. Harris estate; W. Hazen Chapman, K. C., for George L. Harris, and Judge Cockburn, of St. Stephen, an arbitrator chosen by the other two.
